From Miss Arethusa Hall, Northampton, Mass.

As to your order of construction, I am not able to judge of it in comparison with other works of the kind, but I find it quite simple and clear.

From Prof. Joseph Hall, Principal of the Public High School, Hartford, Conn.

I have received a copy of the Hall Family Records and am very much pleased with it. It is much more interesting and valuable than I supposed it could be made.

From James E. Crane, New York.

The arrangement of your book is excellent, and is to be admired for its novelty as well as its conciseness. We think it reflects on you great credit as an author and compiler. One of your biographical sketches is really one of the finest specimens of English composition of the sort I have ever read.

The book is printed on good paper and is well bound.

From Gardner Hall, Sutton, Mass.

I have received a copy of your Hall Family Records, and here and now let me say, I am perfectly delighted with it. It is wonderful how you have been able to accumulate so many valuable facts of our race.

From Dr. Edwards Hall, New York.

Out of so many dry statistics, I must congratulate you for having made so readable a book, replete with quaint reminiscences.

You have made for yourself a durable monument and generously inscribed upon its capacious panels, not only the names of your own family but thousands who bear the Hall name. Future generations will hold you in grateful remembrance.

From Mrs. Caroline B. Eustis, Cambridge, Mass.

We fully appreciate your great labor. I had no idea of the magnitude of your work, and I am sure that you will receive the hearty thanks of every one whose name you have rescued from oblivion.

From N. E. Hist. Gen. Register, Boston.

The Halls are a numerous race. The author gives a list of 83 early emigrants of the name. He has shown commendable perseverance in collecting the memorials of these scattered families. The volume is well printed and well indexed. Numerous portraits, many of them steel, illustrate the work.

From John H. Hall, Portland, Conn.

As to the price of your book it is too low; mine could not be bought at any price, unless it could be replaced.

HALL FAMILY RECORDS.

This book, lately issued from the press of Joel Munsell's Albany, N. Y., is a volume of 800 large octavo pages, well 1 on good white paper, well bound in fine moroeco cloth, and trated by a Hall Coat of Arms, and 20 likenesses, several of are steel engraved.

It contains an explanation of the origin of the Hall name, long list of early Hall emigrants, and many interesting biograsketches.

It gives genealogies of many families more or less fully, ca prepared from reliable material.

The heads of families more fully compiled are as follo John of Middletown, the emigrant of 1633. William of Gu 1639. Francis of Fairfield, 1639, and John of Wallingford Conn. William of Portsmouth, 1636, R. I. John of Dove 1617, and Ralph of Exeter, born 1619, N. H. Richard of Bu 1673. John of Yarmouth, emigrant of 1630. John of M born 1626. Stephen of Concord and Stow. Edward of Re 1650, and George of Taunton, 1636, Mass.

Nearly one-half of this small edition of 500 copies are a disposed of, and a second edition will not be issued.

The price is $5 a copy, and 30 cents for wrapping and prif sent by mail.

Those who wish to secure copies will do well to forward orders without delay.

Money should be sent by draft, or in registered letters.

Address, REV. DAVID B. HALL,

Duanesburgh, 1

EXTRACTS FROMILETTERS RECEIVED.

From Rev. J. G. Hall, D.D., Cleveland, Ohio.

I hasten to acknowledge the receipt of your Hall Family Records, and my appreciation of your labor, patience, and courage in getting it up. It seems to me to be one of the best of the kind that I have ever seen.

From Capt. J. W. D. Hall, Taunton, Mass.

The book is a wonderful specimen of the result of genealogical labor, much greater than I anticipated, and you are entitled to the thanks of the Halls all over New England, for your persevering industry and patience in producing such a volume.

From Ex. Gov. Hiland Hall, N. Bennington, Vt.

You have been more successful in gathering the Genealogy of the Halls of New England than I expected, and it appears to have been done well. It contains a great mass of information about the various lines of the name.

From Rev. Anson H. Parmelee, Seneca Castle, N. Y.

Your book must have cost you years of pains-taking labor. I am much pleased withit. It far exceeds any other book of the kind that I have examined in natural and perspicuous arrangement.

From Dr. William R. Cutter, Librarian of Woburn, Mass.

I have examined with interest your Hall Family Records, a copy of which has been purchased for this library. You have succeeded admirably in presenting so complete a record of the Halls, embracing so complicated a subject as that family name.

From Stephen H. Cutter, Winchester, Mass.

My father is pleased with your book, and has given his copy to a nephew, and requested me to buy another for him.

PREFACE.

"It is a noble faculty of our nature," said Daniel Webster, "which enables us to connect our thoughts and sympathies with what is before and after us, and hold communion at once with our ancestors and our posterity. There is also a moral and philosophical respect for our ancestors which elevates and improves the heart. Next to a sense of religious duty and moral feeling, I hardly know what should bear with stronger obligation on a liberal and enlightened mind than a consciousness of an alliance with excellence which is departed, and a consciousness too that in its acts and conduct, and even in its sentiments and thoughts, it may be operating on the happiness of those that come after it."

We cannot know ourselves unless we know our ancestors. There is a distinctness of characteristics which adhere to families for many generations, and sometimes become national. The mental, moral, and physical character of the Jew of to-day may be easily traced in the family of Jacob, his great ancestor.

Each individual is a link in a very long chain. This chain which binds together human affinities has marvelous combinations and variations, each one of which it is needful to understand in order to arrive at accurate conclusions.

Some links in this chain are of iron, some of silver, and others of gold, but there is still a similarity as well as a connection, and the precious links reflect their excellence upon all the others.

And, as family connections cannot be severed, let each portion cherish the other, especially let children reverence their parents and ancestors, even as they may wish in their turn to be held in affectionate remembrance and honor by those who may come after them.

Most people know but little of their ancestors beyond those with whom they have had a personal acquaintance, and do not possess even a laudable curiosity which would lead them to make inquiries after them. It arises probably more from carelessness or the pressure of business engagements than from any want of reverence or affection, so that when their attention is called to the subject and the means of knowing is presented, they become interested and are eager to be informed.

Hence the importance that some should engage in compiling tamily genealogies, that the hearts of the children may be turned to their fathers.

It is generally a work of love on the part of the compiler, for there is no work so perplexing and wearing to the mind, none that requires more patience and perseverance, and none that receives less praise or pecuniary remuneration.

HISTORY OF THE WORK.

At an early age I was eager to know more of my ancestors, and in 1846 I found it convenient to visit the places where they had lived. I then examined the records, and noted all that I found of value concerning them. I had then no thought of printing a genealogy. It did not seriously engage my attention until, in the process of time, by reason of advanced age, I had become relieved from the more laborious duties of my profession. But all along I had frequent opportunities of receiving as well as of imparting information by an extensive correspondence.

My first intention was to compile only my own line, the Halls of Medford, but afterwards I concluded to embrace in the work all the records that I could find. And I have found much more than I then supposed was in existence, and still the work is far from containing all that might be obtained.

I was urged to engage in the business by several motives, I had leisure, I wished to keep my mind employed, I was interested in the work, and above all I considered it a sacred duty which I owed to all concerned, ancestors and posterity, the living and the dead, the past, the present and the future.

The work has involved much more labor than I anticipated, as well as several years more of time.

Many of those who have given me encouragement and information have passed away, but I do not forget them, or others who have also sympathized with me in my labors, and have procured the record of their ancestors and near of kin for this work, I shall ever regard them with affection and gratitude. They will also receive the thankful remembrance of those whose record they have rescued from oblivion and placed in permanent form, for all time.

The early Hall emigrants were very numerous; but little is known of many of them; the posterity of some are traced only to a very limited extent; while others have a fair representation.

By the time this small edition is disposed of, there will probably be a call for a supplement to it. It should therefore be known where materials can be sent and preserved for such a use.

Whether it will be possible for me to compile such a supplement or not I cannot say at present, but I am willing to receive such records as may be sent to me, and will hold them in readiness for use at the proper time, I would also request any who may discover errors in this work, to send the corrections to me that they may be inserted in the supplement.

ORDER OF CONSTRUCTION.

It is essential to good order in all lengthy genealogies either to number the individuals or the families, I have adopted the latter method as being more concise and convenient, saving much space and labor.

NAMES WHICH WILL REAPPEAR.

Much perplexity arises in most genealogies for want of an index placed at the end of such names as will reappear as heads of families. To obviate such perplexity and to indicate which names will reappear and to enable the reader to turn at once directly to such a family I have given the word family in full with its number as an index to such names as will thus reappear. They will generally be be found in the next generation. But as the Halls of Medford are divided into eleven parts the names of heads of all the parts except the first are carried forward from the first to the other parts. For instance, take the name of Willis Hall in the family of Percival Hall (page 300), the index is (Family 17, Part 10), the reader is to look along on the top of the right hand pages until Part 10 is found on page 452, where he will find (Family 17) Willis Hall<sup>3</sup>. In a similar manner the heads of the other Parts may be traced.

STYLE.

It was my design to adopt the line style of construction but out of economical considerations I was obliged to adopt the solid form, thus being able to comprise in one volume the records which in the line style would have been spread over the pages of two volumes. However by repeated importunities I have made an exception in favor of the Halls of Taunton.

PEDIGREES.

To obviate the necessity of searching for pedigrees as in many genealogies, I have adopted the method of giving a full pedigree to every head of a family or brotherhood of families.

ABBREVIATIONS.

The usual abbreviations are employed in this work as b. for born, bapt. for baptized, m. for married, d. for died or dead, and others which are easily understood.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME HALL.

The Surname Hall is derived from at least three sources.

1. The Norwegian word for flint is hallr, its final letter is silent, and only indicates the nominative case. The word also signified a hero, and on this account the Norwegians often gave it as a name to their children, and it finally became a surname. The old Norse hallr, hals and the Anglo-Saxon haele, haletta, signify the same, a hero.

The surname Hawes has the same derivation as Hall.

Hallett and Henry are diminutives of the same.

Hallse means the son of Henry.

The Norwegians settled quite extensively in Scotland, and hence the Scotch Halls.

2. The English Manor House is another source of the name of Hall.

In Medieval documents the Manor House is called "Alle, "Halle, "De Aula and "Del Hall."

The principal apartment was the hall, which was used as a petty court of justice, as well as the scene of entertainment, hence the tenant or chief servitor acquired the surname De Aula or Del Hall which was retained by his eldest son.

3. The word in Welsh for salt is hall, and a worker in salt is haller, and a dwelling near salt works or on low marshy ground near the sea is halham, halla or halle, hence the origin of the name of the ancient Castle Halla, now City Halle, in Saxony, as extensive salt works are known to have been located there. Or the castle may have taken its name from its chief, who of course was haele, hero.

The great mass of English Halls undoubtedly are the posterity of the men of Halle who came in the successive Saxon invasions of England. They were called De la Halle, which became a surname, and is now simply Hall.

William of Normandy, who conquered England, and his followers, "insulted dreadfully over the ancient Saxon nobility and spoiled their estates," whose descendants four hundred years later, still groaning under oppression, glad to embrace so good an opportunity for enjoying their ancient rights and love of liberty, emigrated in great numbers to America.

Is is said that the Halls of Great Britain exceed in number any other name except those of Smith, Jones, Brown and Robinson.

Also, Albert Wells, late of New York, informed me that he had in his possession 106 various specimens of Hall coat of arms.

- 83. William Hall, of Salisbury, Mass., of whose family in 1653, Joseph Fletcher was the main stay (see Fletcher Genealogy 1st Ed., page 6, 2d Ed., page 508).

For other early settlers of Conn., see pages 666, 667.

For the early Halls of Virginia and Barbadoes, see pages 679, 680.

Note.—The names of some early emigrant Halls who came with their parents have been omitted in the list, and probably several others.

Also some names in the list have probably been repeated, and names of persons born in this country, may have been added to the list.

COAT OF ARMS.

Much inquiry has been made for arms preserved in the Hall families in New England, and although several have been found, no one of them is satisfactory in every respect, yet most of them point to the Halls of Warwickshire, Eng., as their origin. Therefore I have chosen that as a representative illustration. The late Albert Welles, president of the New York College of Heraldry, prepared the copy, and the Heliotype Company of Boston, printed them. The probability is that the Chevron should have been cross marked to signify its being sable.

HALLS OF MIDDLETOWN, CONN.

FIRST GENERATION.

(Family 1.) Mr. John Hall, the emigrant ancestor of the Halls of Middletown, was born in the county of Kent, Eng., 1584. His will was dated May 14, 1673, in which he stated that he was then nearly 89 years old and that it was the 40th year of his living in New England. He died in Middletown, Conn., May 26, 1673, in the 89th year of his age.

He married Esther—. It is probable that she died before the family emigrated.

John Hall came from the west of England to Boston in 1633, settled first in Cambridge and soon after removed to Roxbury where the prefix of respect Mr. was accorded to him on the records of Mr. Elliot's church. In those days the prefix of Mr. was given to only a very few persons; and generally indicated that such persons were entitled to a coat of arms.

John Hall's name is found in a rate bill on the records of Roxbury for 1634, in which his family is recorded as consisting of four persons.

Sept. 4, 1633, John Hall, John Oldham and two other men started for the Connecticut river, where they were reported to be in October. They returned to the Bay towns on the 20th of January, 1634. It was their tavorable report of the rich bottom lands on the Connecticut, which led to the migrations from Dorchester to Wethersfield and Windsor, and from Cambridge to Hartford in 1635-6.

Mr. Hall was made freeman in Boston, 1635. He probably joined . Hooker and Stone colony and went to Hartford soon after, but did not remove his family until 1639.

He was a carpenter by trade and was no doubt an efficient aid in constructing the first buildings in Hartford.

Mr. Hall drew the home lot No. 77 of six acres on the brow of Lord's hill, in 1639. He also bought lands the same year of Wm. Hooker: ad Wm. Bloomfield.

The Hall lot No. 77 is the same as the Sigourney place, and since occupied by Gov. Catlin.

John Hall was a surveyor of highways in Hartford, in 1640.

In 1650, having sold his house and home lot to Wm. Spencer, he removed with his family to Middletown, then called Matabesick, which had been lately purchased of the great Sachem or Sequin Saweheag, being one of the original proprietors.

This home lot containing five acres was located on the north-east corner of Main street and Washington street of Middletown, running to the "Great River" and adjoined the home lot of his son-in-law,

Thomas Wetmore on the north.

He was appointed March 19, 1659, by General Court held at Hartford "for the entry and recording such goods as are subject to customs for Middletown." Before as well as after this time Mr. Hall held divers offices of honor and trust, indeed he seemed to be the patriarch and leader of the new settlement.

Mr. Hall was born duringt he reign of Queen Elizabeth, 1584, and lived through a most eventful period of English History.

And he no doubt rejoiced in his old age to see his children settled in a broad and fertile land, and destined to be henceforth in their generations free from the grinding oppression of those upper and lower millstones—the nobility and the hierarchy.

His posterity are very numerous and respectable, but we have been able to collect only a small portion of their names in this genealogy.

The names of his children were:

- 1. Јони, b. in England, 1619 (Family 2).
- 2. RICHARD, b. in England, 1620 (Family 3).
- 3. SARAH, b. in England, 1622 (Family 4).
- 4. SAMUEL, b. in England, 1626 (Family 5).

Mr. Hall was a carpenter and carried on that business with his father in Middletown. His house was on his father's home lot of which he occupied four acres. He was chosen deacon of the church of Middletown, March 11, 1670. He was town clerk and recorder from 1665 to the end of his life. He also represented the town in General Court during the May session, 1652.

and at other times. Dea. Hall made his will May 23, 1691, in which he gave most of his estate, valued at £345 to his wife Mary, with legacies to his step-son Ebenezer Hubbard and to the sons and grandsons of his brothers Richard and Samuel.

The following pathetic if not poetic epitaph upon his grave stone, now standing in the old Middletown cemetery, gives evidence of his many virtues.

"Here lyes our Deacon Hall who studied peace with all, Was upright in his life, void of malignant strife Gone to his rest — left us in sorrow Doubtless his good works will him follow."

(Family 3.) RICHARD HALL<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in England in 1620; d. in Middletown, March 27, 1691. In his will, made Jan. 11, 1691, he said he was then 71 years old; m. (Family 32.) NATHANIEL HALL<sup>6</sup>, pedigree as last given: b. in Roxbury, Conn., March 4, 1763; d. at North Bennington, Vt., March 4, 1849, æ. 86 years to a day; m. at Norfolk, Conn., by Rev. Ammi Robbins, Oct. 12, 1794, Abigail, dau. of Elijah Hubbard, she was born at Middletown, Conn., Oct. 18, 1767, and died at North Bennington, March 24, 1846. The emigrant ancestor of Abigail Hubbard was George Hubbard (born in Wakefield, England, in 1594, and came to Hartford from Boston 1636), was an early settler of Middletown, and near neighbor to John Hall, her husband's emigrant ancestor. They were both settled about the meeting house yard at the northern end of Main street, and both were prominent inhabitants, as may be seen by the Middletown Address of the Rev. David D. Field, pages 40, 146 and 149. Their descendants became strangers to each other. The lineal descent of Abigail from George Hubbard was through the following ancestors, all born at Middletown, viz.: Nathaniel, b. Dec. 10, 1652; Ebenezer, b. Oct. 2, 1690; Elijah, b. Jan. 16, 1737. She could also claim her descent from the Rev. Samuel Stow, the first minister of Middletown, her grandmother, wife of Ebenezer Hubbard, having been his granddaughter. (See Field's Address, 48, 55, and Wetmore Memorial, 32-34, 502.) Nathaniel Hall came to Bennington with his father in 1779, where he continued to reside through life. Mr. Hall and his wife both united with the Baptist church about 1800, of which he became a deacon and was the leader in devotional singing. was a quiet, unobtrusive man of exemplary, moral and religious character, and was respected and beloved by his neighbors and acquaintances. Rev. Mr. Jennings says, in his Bennington Memorial, "Dea. Hall was spoken of as 'an Israelite indeed, in whom was no guile." He was an industrious and successful farmer. wife a worthy "helpmete." Children were born in Bennington:

1. Hiland, b. July 20, 1795 (Family 44). 2. Phebe, b. March 24, 1797 (Family 45). 3. Abigail, b. March 13, 1799 (Family 46). 4. Nathaniel, b. March 11, 1801 (Family 47). 5. Anna, b. Dec. 10, 1802; d. (Family 44.) HILAND HALL<sup>7</sup>, Nathaniel<sup>6</sup>, Thomas<sup>5</sup>, Hiland<sup>4</sup>, Thomas<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Bennington, Vt., July 20, 1795; m., Oct. 27, 1818, at Rockingham, Vt., Dolly Tuttle, dau. of Henry and Mary (Tuttle) Davis, b. March 2, 1792, at Rockingham, and d. at Bennington, Jan. 8, 1879. Her early education, though somewhat limited, was such that she became a successful teacher. She was remarkable for strength of mind and character, and was possessed of uncommon personal beauty. In company she always drew attention for her queenly appearance and high social qualifications. She had a retentive memory which was especially shown in her later years, by the repeating of much she had learned when quite young, and in many cases whole pages of prose or verse which had particularly

She enjoyed the confidence and esteem of her, neighbors and friends, and richly deserved the approbation she received for her successful efforts in the management and rearing of so large a family, mostly boys, her husband, during the formation period of their lives, being so much absent upon public official business. She never grew old in her feelings but ever entered into the sports of her children with a zest which carried them with her, in the object for which she considered such pastimes should be indulged in, though a dignity was always maintained in the most familiar recreations, which tended to elevate. The wants of the needy received her kindly attention, and by her benevolence and uniform efforts she did much to enhance the comfort and happiness of others. For nearly fifty years she was an exemplary member of the Congregational church in Bennington, and died confidently trusting in the Christian's hope. Henry Davis was b. at Groton, Mass., Oct. 17, 1758; m, at Littleton, Feb. 12, 1782, and d. Feb. 9, 1842. He was a farmer and settled at Rockingham and d. at Grafton. At the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, when under seventeen years of age, he enlisted in Col. Reed's N. H. regiment, and was in the battle of Bunker Hill under Col. Stark at the line of rail fence from which the enemy were repeatedly repulsed with great loss. He served in the army over three years, and was at West Point at the time of Arnold's treasonable attempts to surrender it to the enemy. His wife, Mary Tuttle, was b. at Littleton, Mass., Aug. 24, 1755; m., Feb. 12, 1782, and d. in Grafton, Vt., April 12, 1849, in the 94th year of her age. The boyhood and youth of Hiland Hall was spent on his father's farm in Bennington His early education was principally obtained in the common schools of his neighborhood. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1819, and established himself in practice in his native town, which he represented in State Assembly in 1827. In 1828 he was clerk of the Supreme and County Courts for Bennington County, and the year following was elected State Attorney for the county, and re-elected the two succeeding years. In 1833 he was elected to Congress for the Southern district of Ver mont, and represented the district for ten years, receiving five different elections, his congressional service ending March, 1843, he having declined being a candidate for another term. He was a working rather than a talking member, though several of his speeches were published and circulated by his political associates. He was noted for his active work in committees, for his thorough examination of claims on the government, and while chairman of the committee of revolutionary claims he acquired special distinction by his successful exposure of the unfounded and fraudulent character of claims for several millions of dollars from the State of Virginia, thereby putting an end to their further allowance. After his retirement from Congress he was for three years State Bank Commissioner, and four years judge of the Supreme Court. In 1850 he was appointed second comptroller of the U. S. Treasury, and in 1851, went to California, by appointment of the President as commissioner to adjust land claims in that newly acquired territory under the provisions of the treaty with Mexico, and remained in California till the spring of 1854. While in Congress he acted with the Whig party, and he was one of the delegates from Vermont to the Philadelphia convention of 1856, which made the republican party national, by nominating a candidate for the presidency. In 1858 he was elected governor of Vermont, and re-elected the succeeding year, when he retired from public life; serving only afterwards as a delegate to the abortive "Peace Congress", assembled at Washington in the winter of 1861 by request of the State of Virginia. Gov. Hall has always taken a deep interest in American history and especially that connected with his State. He was for several years president of the Vermont Historical Society; has been active in preparing its collections for publication and in otherwise promoting its usefulness. He has read several historical papers at the meetings of the society which have been published, and has been a contributor to the Vermont and also to the New York Historical Magazines, to the Philadelphia Historical Record and to the N. E. Historical Genealogical Register. In 1860 he read before the New York Historical Society, a paper showing "why the early inhabitants of Vermont disclaimed the jurisdiction of New York and established a separate government." He is the author of the early history of Vermont, a work of 500 pages published in 1868, by J. Munsell, Albany, in which the controversy of its inhabitants with the colonial and State governments of New York, and their valuable revolutionary services are very fully treated. The honorary degree of L.L. D. has been conferred on him by the University of Vermont. He is a member and vice-president of the N. E. Historical Genealogical Society, honorary member of the Buffalo, and corresponding member of the New York Historical Societies. His residence, when not in public life, has always been in Bennington. Gov. Hall bas furnished most of the materials for this genealogy of the Halls of Middletown, and otherwise very much encouraged its compiler. Children were all born in Bennington.

March 4, 1789; d. at Bennington, July 10, 1871. Cynthia d. Sept. 1, 1871. Trenor W. Park practiced law successfully at Bennington and afterwards at San Francisco, Cal. He is a banker at North Bennington and had a winter residence at Brooklyn, N. Y., and a business office in New York. He is president of the Panama railroad. Mrs. Laura V. S. Park died at Brooklyn, June 21, 1875, after a severe sickness of a few weeks, greatly deplored. She was a woman of active and vigorous intellect, of a cheerful temperament, and an estimable and endearing character. Her kindness of heart and her ability to confer happiness on others, were shown in her devotion to her family; in the pleasant discharge of her duties as a wife and mother; as a child and hostess, in the care of her children; in the kindest ministries to her aged parents who had with her their home; in dispensing with her husband the elegant hospitalities of their house, and in administering relief and comfort to the needy and suffering, any where, by her personal attentions and her unnumbered and unobtrusive charities. Her kindness and unselfishness were indeed such that she seemed to live rather to promote the enjoyment of others than her own. And yet her efforts for others cheered and solaced her own soul. In his discourse at her funeral, Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, to whom she was well known, spoke highly and eloquently in her praise. Among other things he said, "Her character had been written 3000 years ago, from which he would not detract a single sentence or word" and then recited from memory the following verses of the last chapter of the Book of Proverbs, viz., 10, 11, 12, 20, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 31st. Her memory is deeply cherished by her relations and intimate friends, and scarcely less so by the very many whose wants and sufferings have been relieved by her liberal hand, or who in trial or difficulty have been cheered and directed by her purse and wise counsels to higher and nobler lives. Her remains were interred in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn. Children were:

1. Eliza Hall, b. Nov. 17, 1848 (Family 71). 2. Laura Hall, b. Sept. 8, 1858 (Family 72). 3. Trenor Luther, b. at San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 6, 1861.

Have revised and added much to the glatte of Fairfield.

HALLS OF FAIRFIELD, CONN.

The emigrant ancestor was (Family 1.) Francis Hall. He was the son of Gilbert Hall, who lived in the county of Kent, in the south-east part of England; some claim that he lived in the town of Rolvendue, but the records of that place have been searched without finding the name of either father or son.

Francis Hall and his brother William came from Milford, county of Surrey, in the ship with Rev. Henry Whitefield and his party of emigrants from Kent and Surrey.

William and many others signed a plantation covenant during their passage, and located at Guilford, Conn. (See the Halls of Guilford.) The party arrived at what is now New Haven in time to participate in the meeting of colonists held in Newman's barn on the 4th of June, 1639. In 1640 Francis Hall joined Mr. Ludlow in the enterprize of planting a settlement at the head of a small inlet of Long Island Sound, which they named Fairfield. Mr. Hall was at this period thirty-two years of age, and had a wife Elizabeth, and two sons, Isaac and Samuel, who were born in England. His wife died in 1662, probably in Fairfield; and he married, Oct. 30, 1665, Dorothy, the widow of John Blakeman, and the daughter of Rev. Henry Smith, of Stratford, Conn., who survived him. Mr. Hall seems to have been a man of some property, as he brought over with him a small stock of hardware, and carpenter's tools, and farming im-Mr. Hall like Mr. Whitefield and many other plements for trade. emigrants, was a member of the church of England, but on his arrival in this country, as was usual, he adopted the Congregational method of worship.

He may have lived in New London for a short time, as appears from the following record: "It is ordered May 7, 1663, that Francis Hall shall have two poles of land in New London, by the water side, if it be there." In 1669 he held the office of constable in Stratford; and was a "Deputa" from Stratford to the General Court held in Hartford, May 11, 1676. It is also recorded of him as follows: "May 11, 1671, this court grants Francis Hall a release for the cattle forfeited to the county by judgment of the County Court of Fayrefield, Nov., 1670, save only 30s. he hath paid on that account." It appears that he had a large landed property in Fairfield and also in Stratford, where he died in 1690, æ. 82 years. His wife Dorothy survived him, and also the following named children:

1. Isaac, b. in England (Family 2). 2. Samuel, b. in England (Family 3). 3. Elizabeth. 4. Hannah, m., July 14, 1675, Joseph Blakeman of Stratford. 5. Mary. 6. Rebeccah.

SECOND GENERATION.

(Family 2.) Isaac Hall, Francist: b. about 1629, in the county of Kent, and came from Milford, county of Surrey, Eng., with his father, and d. in Fairfield, Conn., 1714, in the 85th year of his age; m., about 1660, Lydia —, who survived him. It is believed that he obtained his majority in New Haven, probably while there at school. He studied medicine, and settled in Fairfield where he became an eminent surgeon and physician. He rendered service as surgeon in the Colonial Militia during the Indian wars, for which he received a grant of land in the township of Fairfield by the General Court. He had previously received in 1660, a large estate from his father in Fairfield. He took the oath of fidelity to the Colonial Government in 1659. He was probably a proprietor of Wallingford in 1670. His children which survived him were:

1. Isaac, b. Sept., 1665 (Family 4). 2. Francis. 3. John; and several dauthers whose names are not known.

(Family 3.) SAMUEL HALL<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>: b. in England about 1635; d. in Fairfield, 1694, in the 59th year of his age. He settled in Fairfield on land conveyed to him by his father. Two sons survived him:

1. Samuel. 2. David.

THIRD GENERATION.

(Family 4.) ISAAC HALL<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>2</sup>: b. at the family mansion in the village of Fairfield, Conn., Sept. 1665; m., 1st——, about 1685, she d. 1694, s. p.; m., 2d, 1701, Wid. Sarah Ann——. He became a physician and was a partner, in 1680, with his father, in practice. He died in Reading, Conn., Aug., 1767, perhaps 1757, in the 92d year of his age. Children were:

1. Joshua (Family 5). 2. Seth. 3. Sarah. 4. Esther. 5. Jane. 6. Rebecca.

FOURTH GENERATION.

(Family 5.) Joshua<sup>4</sup>, Isaac<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>: b. in Fairfield, Sept., 1703; d. Oct., 1789, æ. 86; m., 1738, Sarah Burgess. Removed to Reading, Conn., where he died, greatly lamented. He had been a selectman of the town for many years, was a captain of militia, and a member of county board of safety and protection, in 1775 and '76. During the revolutionary war he furnished transportation, and forage for the eastern division of the American army, and was very much honored as a patriotic citizen. He was distinguished for his very large statue. His children which survived him were:

Joshua. 4. Thomas. 5. Sarah. 6. Jane. 7 8 Clive M. Thomas. 13. Clive M. Thomas. 14. Clive M. Thomas. 14. Clive M. Thomas. 14. Clive M. Thomas. 14. Clive M. Thomas. 15. Clive M.

(Family 6.) WILLIAM HALL<sup>5</sup>, Joshua<sup>4</sup>, Isaac<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>: b. in Fairfield, Nov. 4, 1741; d. 1824, æ. 83; m., 1763, Sarah Peck, d. 1831, in Hartford, N. Y. In his youth he was a clothier, draper and tailor, afterwards he became a farmer. He was an ensign in his father's company April 26, 1777, when the British destroyed the military stores at Danbury, and he bore the body of Gen. Wooster from the field. In 1808 he removed to Hartford, Washington Co., N. Y., where he died. Children were:

1. Enoch, m. — Reymond; 2. Andrew, m. — Heath; they both removed with their families in the early part of the century to New York State and left descendants in Watertown and Remsen.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

was from Durham, Conn., and afterwards of Newton. Asbury Hall removed with his father, in 1808, from Newton to Whitehall, Washington Co., N. Y., where he purchased a farm near the village. In 1813, he raised a company of "Minute Men" for the defence of the northern frontier. In 1814, he went as captain of a company of artillery to resist the British at Plattsburgh. In 1846, he removed to Verona, Oneida Co., N. Y., and in 1848, to Aurelius, Cayuga Co., N. Y., where he died. While in infancy Asbury was baptized by Bishop Seabury at his mother's request, who was a devout church woman, and she instructed him in the commandments, and catechism, the creed, and the general principles, and doctrines of the Christian religion. His mind being thus imbued in early youth, he retained an unfaltering faith in them to the end of his life; and he was always regarded by his acquaintances as an honest and upright man. He obtained a very good English education in the common schools previous to the age of sixteen. In 1815, he united with his neighors in establishing an Union Library Association which furnished substantial reading matter to occupy their attention during leisure hours. In after years he considered the part he took in establishing this library as one of the most useful acts of his life. Mr. Hall was often chosen to town offices, but he was never ambitious in that way. The sorrow occasioned by the death of his wife, added to the infirmities of old age, made him often express the wish to be relieved from bodily suffering and join her in the other world. He died with an unfaltering hope of a happy immortality. His remains were interred beside those of his wife in the Fort Hill cemetery, at Auburn, where they await the resurrection of the dead. Children were:

1. Benjamin Franklin, b. July 25, 1814 (Family 16). 2. Henry Clay, b. July 11, 1820 (Family 17). 3. James Asbury, b. Jan. 12,

EIGHTH GENERATION.

wards he was licensed to practice in the highest courts of the State, and in 1840, in the United States Court. Not long afterwards he formed a partnership with John P. Hurlbert, of Auburn. In the division of professional labor between the partners, Mr. Hall took upon himself the equity branch of it, from choice, and made it a specialty, and was distinguished for his industry. In 1844, he represented his county in the Legislature, where he introduced a bill and ably advocated it, to submit to the people the question of appointing a Constitutional Convention which he deemed very essential to effect a modification of the courts and to disolve the Court of Chancery. To carry this measure was his chief motive for permiting himself to become a member of Legislature. His object was achieved in the convention of 1846. Mr. Hall wrote and published several treatises of merit on the inherited and statutory titles to lands. In 1850, he was appointed by Pres. Taylor, through Maj. Bliss' influence (who was Mr. Hall's old school mate in Whitehall), to supersede Gen. Lewis Cass, as Resident Minister at Rome. And the papers were made in readiness, when the president died, and they were not delivered to Mr. Hall, by his successor. But President Filmore appointed him to a more ardurous if not more honorable labor. It was that of collecting and compiling in volumes with proper indices the official decisions of the several attorney generals of the United States from its foundation. This work Mr. Hall performed to the satisfaction of all concerned, and produced the results in six large volumes. Attorney General Crittenden reports to the president his opinion of the labor of Mr. Hall as follows, "Sir: I have carefully examined the six vols. prepared for the press by your direction, by my assistant, Mr. Hall, of New York. As many of the decisions rescued by him from the ravages of time and moths. and put into form were only brief endorsements by their authors. Mr. Hall has been obliged many times in the course of his labors to put his pen into dead men's hands in order to indict traditions worth preserving. He found it necessary not only to supply language when it was wanting, but to frame the decisions of Randolph, Bradford, Lee, Lincoln, and Breckenridge, almost, if not entirely anew. He has made the text of all the decisions intelligible and clear, and prefaced each with a valuable synopsis, which not only required care and attention, but also thought and a thorough understanding of the points decided. I have only to add that in my opinion the work has been executed remarkably well. No one but a lawyer and scholar accustomed to digest in his mind the details of administrative history, and of public questions and cases could have executed it at all." Mr. Seward also said in the Senate, "In the entire range of my personal acquaintance I know of no other man who could have performed that service for government as he has performed it. He has wrought a marvel. He has revived men and made them speak. He has reduced the misty traditions of administration to comprehensible words. He deserves the gratitude of the officials in charge of every department of the government." After Mr. Hall's return to Auburn he was elected its mayor; became a director of the Southern Central Railroad Co.; vestryman in St. Peter's church, Auburn; trustee of a beautiful rural cemetery projected by himself on the site of the noted cabin of the famous Indian Sachem Logan, on an eminence in the suburbs of Auburn called Fort Hill. He wrote a law book on the Land Laws of the Western States, and another on the Jurisprudence of Insanity; and two histories, one, the History of the Colonization of British America, and the other, the History of the Republican Party in the United States, which completed the number of twelve books, of which he was the author. He was also the editor of the Daily Republicau Journal, in Auburn, styled "The Union" during two years preceding the election of President Lincoln. The next and most prominent incident in Mr. Hall's life was his appointment by President Lincoln in the spring of 1861 to the office of chief justice of the Supreme Court of Colorado. Colorado had been erected into a territory during the winter of 1861, through the influence of Stephen A. Douglass, to prevent it from falling into the hands of the confederacy, in case of civil war, which was expected. Col. William Gilpin of the army was appointed governor of the new territory, and was requested to proceed with Judge Hall to the place assigned them without delay; they went in April; the United States Fort Garland was under the command of Maj. Sibley, afterwards Gen. Sibley of the rebel army, and as soon as Gov. Gilpin came into the territory, Maj. Sibley passed out of it into Texas, with as many officers and soldiers as he could persuade to go with him. He recruited in Texas and was in command of an army of about 800 men. He sent recruiting officers also into Colorado, who secretly, mostly in the night, obtained many enlistments. Gov. Gilpin being aware of their movements ordered his marshal in Denver to construct a strong prison in that city, and then obtain a posse of loyal men and imprison the recruiting officer and as many of his men as he could find in arms. The marshal succeeded in capturing and imprisoning one of the recruiting officers, Capt. Joel McKee and fifty of his men in one night. This raised a great commotion among the secession sympathizing population which were very numerous in the city and in the territory. And they formed a plan to apply to Judge Hall who was holding a court in the city for a habeas corpus, not doubting that it must be granted since Congress had not yet suspended that right of the citizens, and as soon as the prison door was open to bring any one of the men before the court the outside friends would avail themselves of this opportunity to rush upon the sheriff and release all the prisoners. But Judge Hall was adequate to the occasion; and decided that as the history of the "Habeas corpus act" showed that it was intended to leave its suspension to the judiciary, as in the application for any other suit at law, in case the judge should deem it necessary, as in the case of rebellion or invasion, he therefore declined to grant a writ of habeas corpus for Joel McKee, this was Oct. 14, 1861. This position which Judge Hall took was a surprise to both friend and foe, but it saved the territory of Colorado to the Union, and the city of Denver from destruction. This position of Judge Hall was vindicated at the time in a book written for that purpose by Horace Binney of Philadelphia. The day Judge Hall retired from the bench the lawyers held a meeting in his court room, and framed an address of thanks, containing the following passages, and had it recorded in the minutes of the court. "The results of your administration of the law here for nearly four years fully vindicate your policy and judgment. It devolved upon you when you came here to lay the foundation of a future civilization and to erect upon it the edifice of a systematic and enlightened judiciary. That you have succeeded in this to a remarkable extent, the records of this court attest. You leave behind you the evidence of unusual foresight, untiring industry, great legal ability, purity of intention and of an inflexible purpose to be faithful to your trust." And the Denver Commonwealth said: "Chief Justice Hall carries with him the best wishes of the best portion of this community to his new field of labor. A few of the lawyers and speculators complained of some of his early decisions before they understood his judicial policy. But ever since they comprehended his ideas in respect to our lands they have approved it. We think we are warranted in stating that at no period of his administration here has there been a single voice lifted up against his legal ability, patience, patriotism and purity. He has been an industrious, patient, politic, able and upright judge. By those whose ante-territorial ranche and mining titles have been upheld and confirmed by his decisions as against the rapacity of jumpers and speculators he will long be regarded as a public benefactor. In the early part of the year 1864, Judge Hall was appointed by President Lincoln, consul to Valparaiso, when he resigned his office of chief justice in the expectation of going there. But before he was able to find a vessel or steamer which was going down to that distant Pacific port in the face of the pirates then sweeping the southern seas, President Lincoln was assassinated and Secretary Seward and his son Frederick, his assistant, nearly killed, and instead of going to that post of duty at all, he, at the request of the wounded sesretary, went into the State department a while to superintend the bureau having charge of our commercial relations. Since 1868, Judge Hall has been a private citizen of Auburn, enjoying his books and his family. Judge Hall has very kindly furnished nearly all of the material for this line of Halls, and other valuable materials for other portions of this book. His children were born in Auburn:

Elnathan Hall with Jonathan, Joshua, Joshua, Jr., Eliakim, Isaac, and Seth Hall, were proprietors and claimants of sundry townships in Vermont, granted by Gov. Wentworth, and they petitioned the king for confirmation of the same. John B. Hall, of Fairfield, Conn., owned a mill in 1792, in Winchester, and lived there several years.

Addition to the Halls of Fairfield.

[From Geo. E. Hall, of Cleveland, Ohio.]

It appears from the Genealogical Dictionary of the Pioneers of New England, that Francis Hall, the emigrant, and his son Samuel took the oath of fidelity in New Haven in 1657, and that his son Isaac took the same oath there in 1659. He lived both before and afterwards in Stratford, and how much time he lived in New Haven is uncertain, perhaps it is not certain that he ever lived in Fairfield, although he had large estates in that town.

His son Dr. Isaac Hall received, in 1697, a grant of 150 acres of land, to be located in Fairfield, on account of services in the war; this grant was located by his sons after his decease, at a place called Chestnut ridge, near the upper end of Fairfield township, and near the road to Danbury. Isaac settled upon his share where he died. Francis and John sold out to Moses Knapp, in 1722, who settled upon it.

Children of Dr. Isaac, to whom he gives by will in 1714, were:

1. Francis. 2. Isaac. 3. John. 4. Jonathan.

SAMUEL HALL<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>, was probably older than his brother Isaac. He resided in Stratford, where his name is on the property record from 1674 to 1687; he probably lived also for some time in Fairfield; he died 1694, and gave by will to his widow ——, and sons Samuel and Isaac.

SAMUEL<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>, was of Stratford in 1755, and of Fairfield 1764, where he died; gave by will to his widow Rebecca, and children Nathaniel, David, Sarah, Mabel, Rebecca, Ebenezer, and Abbott. David of Fairfield deeded to his brother Abbott of Stratford in 1752; had a daughter baptized 1760, Maritia. Ebenezer son of Samuel, died Jan., 1799, gave to children Seth, Esthety Daniel, Esther, and Mary m. Isaac Silliman, ancestor of Prof. Silliman of Yale College.

JONATHAN3, Isaac2, Francis1, of Stratford, estate distributed 1723, to Ichabod and Jonathan; in 1793, Ichabod wills to son William.

JABEZ HALL<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>, was church collector of New Fairfield, in 1775, and was a deacon in the church in 1762. Children of Jabez Hall:

1. Ezra, Capt., Feb. 14, 1762. 2. Abigail, bapt. May 13, 1764. Other baptisms in New Fairfield:

Martha, dau. of David Hall, Dec. 28, 1760.

Martha Lewis, dau. of Seth Hall, June 18, 1769.

Elisha Dibble, son of Seth Hall, June 28, 1772. Thomas Brush, son of Lewis Hall, Dec. 3, 1770.

ELNATHAN HALL<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>: His name is on Stratford records often from 1736 to 1748; he was established ensign of the South company of New Fairfield, in May, 1752, and became a captain; he m. Hannah Bishop, b. Jan. 10, 1718, who in 1779, was Hannah Benedict, and died Feb. 10, 1809, æ. 91. Children were:

1. Hannah, b. Oct. 17, 1749; d. May 24, 1754. 2. Martha, b. Sept. 13, 1751; d. April 2, 1839. 3. Talmage, b. Jan. 24, 1754. 4. Hannah, b. Nov. 8, 1756; d. Dec. 5, 1822. 5. Mary, b. Feb. 15, 1759, bapt. in New Fairfield, Feb. 18, 1759; d. Oct. 11, 1813. 6. John Bishop, b. May 19, 1761; bapt. in New Fairfield, June 14, 1761. 7 Terza, bapt. Dec. 3, 1769.

Sarah late wife of John Hopkins, and former wife of Elnathan Lewis Hall, died Nov. 7, 1826, æ. 87. Mr. Hall was grandfather to Mrs. Isaac Knapp.

John Bishop Hall<sup>5</sup>, Elnathan<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, Isaac<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>: b. May 19, 1761, and lived in New Fairfield, Conn. Removed to Durham, Green Co., N. Y., about 1794, wheh he was received by letter into the church of Christ in Durham. He removed again in 1810 to Homer, Cortland Co., N. Y., and received his letters of dismission from the church in April, 1810. He died Dec. 20, 1834, æ. 73. His wife was Hannah Brush. He was a soldier in the revolutionary war. Children were:

1. Martha; 2. James, both bapt. at New Fairfield, June 25, 1787. 3. Talmage, bapt. May 16, 1790. 4. Levi, bapt. April 10, 1791, at New Fairfield, Conn. 5. Lavina. 6. Hannah, bap. at Durham, N. # HALLS OF WALLINGFORD, CONN.

[Are mostly compiled from the History of Wallingford.]

The emigrant was

(Family 1.) JOHN HALL': b. about 1605; d. in the early part of 1676, æ. 71 years; he made an oral will; m. Jean or Jane Woolen. She had lived with William Wilkes in Boston, and probably came over with him, as he paid her fare and gave her £3 a year for her services in his family for five years, also promised her £10 as a gift when she should marry; but this he did not do, and Mr. Hall obtained it from his estate by litigation, an account of which is found on the records of New Haven, in which she is called good wife Hall. Mr. Wilkes was in Boston in 1633, and removed with his family to New Haven with the first settlers in 1639. John Hall may also have come from Boston. His autograph signature is found on the Colonial Records of New Haven (page 4) in 1639. His name appears often on those records, mostly in reference to several pieces of land. He was freed from training in 1665, being then in his 60th year of age. Three or four of his sons joined a company and settled Wallingford in 1670. And the father went with them at that time or soon after. He was selectman in 1675. families have been more respectable than the descendants of John and Jean (Woolen) Hall. Her connections in England have a coat of arms. The names of their children were:

1. John, baptised August 9, 1646 (Family 2). 2. Sarah, baptised August 9, 1646; m., December, 1664, Wingle Johnson.
3. Richard, b. July 11, 1645 (Family 3). 4. Samuel, b. May 21, 1646 (Family 4). 5. Daniel, b. about 1647 or 8 (Family 5). 6. Thomas, b. March 25, 1649 (Family 6). 7. Jonathan, b. April 5, 1651 (Family 7). 8. David, b. March 17, 1852 (Family 8).

Among the original proprietors of Wallingford were John Hall, David Hall and Doctor Hall. This Doctor Hall was probably Isaac the son of Francis Hall, of Fairfield, who resided some time in New Haven, but did not settle in Wallingford.

Among those who signed the covenant of the first planters, Nov.

31, 1669, and then proceeded to locate a place for the village, were Thomas Hall, Samuel Hall and John Hall.

After the village was settled certain wood and meadow lands were assigned to each of the 36 families, among whom were those of Samuel Hall, John Hall and Thomas Hall.

At a meeting held Feb. 15; 1675, a committee was appointed to secure the organization of a church. Among the names were John Hall, Sen., and John Hall, Jr.

The town of Wallingford appointed, April 4, 1689, a committee of five to make out a call upon Rev. Mr. Whittelsey to come and settle as pastor, among the names were John Hall, Sen., Samuel Hall and John Hall. The committee offer to purchase an acre and a half of Deac. John Hall's home lot for Mr Whittelsey to build upon.

In 1689 the head of the plain, now Meriden, was laid out for a village 80 rods long, and building lots staked out; these lots were drawn by raffle, one by each planter in Wallingford; among the names were those of Thomas Hall, Samuel Hall, John Hall, Sen., and David Hall.

In 1679 the town of Wallingford granted to David Hall, Thomas Hall and others, three acres each, lying on the east side of the meadow and swamp, called Dog's Misery. In 1707 the town chose David Hall and two others a committee to see that the misery highway was not pinched of the 20 rods in any place, from the town to misery.

In 1696, a protest was signed disapproving of making expense for the town in settling a dispute between Yale and Royce about a watering place, among the signors were John Hall, Jr., David Hall, Thomas Hall, Sen.; but lieutenant, Samuel Hall, dissented.

REFLECTIONS.

at the house of Isaac Hall in Wallingford, Vt., from which he took the following outline. Text, 21: iv:

<sup>1.</sup> There shall be no pain in heaven arising from uneasy reflections, as remorse of con science, or from any of those things which tease the mind in this life.

<sup>5.</sup> There will be no cause of pain, as there will be no sin, and no curse.

<sup>6.</sup> There will be no need of pain to embitter sin, to mortify remaining corruption; to brighten graces; to convince of the vanity of earthly pleasures, and enjoyments; to remind of mortality; and to reconcile us to death.

<sup>4.</sup> The subject teaches to moderate our grief at the loss of Christian friends; and make it our concern to be ready to follow them.

April 1, 1707; d. March 25, 1767; m., May 22, 1734, Hannah Avery, of Groton, Mass. LYMAN HALL<sup>5</sup>, John<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Wallingford, Conn., April 12, 1724; d. in Georgia, Oct. 19, 1790, æ. 66; married and had children, none of which survived him. His widow wrote his very pathetic epitaph, as found on the original tablet covering his grave. He graduated at Yale 1747; studied medicine; and in 1752 located himself at Midway or Saulisbury, Georgia. Having earnestly and zealously espoused the cause of his country in the struggle with the mother country during the Revolution, his efforts contributed much to induce the people of Georgia to join the confederacy. In May, 1775, and at four succeeding annual elections, Dr. Hall was chosen as Representative to Congress from Georgia. He was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, which was passed by Congress and signed by its members July 4, 1776. When the British had possession of Georgia they confiscated all of Dr. Hall's property; and after their expulsion he was elected Governor of the State in 1783. The following is the inscription engraved upon the white marble slab placed over the grave of Lyman Hall:

"Beneath this stone rests the remains of the Hon. Lyman Hall,

Formerly Governor of this State, who departed this life the 19th of October, 1790, in the 67th year of his age.

In the cause of America he was uniformly a patriot.

In the incumbent duties of a husband and a father he acquitted himself with affection and tenderness.

But, reader, above all, know, from this inscription, that he left this probationary scene as a true christian and an honest man.

To those so mourned in death, so loved in life, The childless parent, and the widowed wife, With tears inscribes this monumental stone, That holds his ashes and expects her own."

This original tablet was transferred from Georgia to Wallingford, Conn., and the immense gathering of the people from the neighboring towns, July 5, 1858, at the ceremonies at its reception, showed the deep interest which was felt in the occasion.

Mr. Yeatman, of New Haven, the orator of the day, whose discourse was compact and brilliant, took occasion to give some details of the life and character of Mr. Hall, and of his service to his country at a period when the possibility of her national independence was surrounded with doubts and difficulties which required unwearying effort and perseverance to overcome.

Gov. Holley also gave an address in the grave-yard; in the center of which had been prepared a reception to place the tablet upon, described as follows:

Upon a mound of earth, handsomely turfed, is a large, flat freestone, which is nearly nine feet long, by six feet wide; upon this rests a very large block of freestone, nearly three feet high, with. rounded corners and handsome mouldings, on the fourth side of which is this inscription:

"The State of Georgia having removed to Augusta the remains of Lyman Hall, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and there erected a monument to his memory, the tablet originally covering his grave was in 1857, presented by Wm. D'Antignac to this State, by whose order it is deposited in his native town."

Nov. 28, 1793, dau. of Andrew Hall, (Family 124) and widow of Merrick Cook. Almer Hall engaged for several years in the business of peddling tin ware and Yankee notions in Penn., Va. and Tenn.; afterwards he opened a store in Wallingford, selling dry goods and groceries; and in 1827 commenced the manufacture of britannia spoons. In 1834 he went into partnership with Walter Martin for the purpose of manufacturing wooden screws, and lost $9,000, all he had. This disheartened him for some time, when a friend in New York gave him seven pounds of German silver and told him to begin life again, which he did in 1857, forming a partnership with William Elton. They were the first successful manufacturers of German silver ware in this country. He was one of the original members of the Baptist church in Wallingford, 1817, and soon after was chosen one of its deacons, and was an earnest and gifted man in this office, and a chief pillar in the church, and a man universally respected. He was quiet and unassuming, and was inclined to put the best construction upon the acts of others, and lost by it in business. There is a good likeness and a biographical sketch of him in the History of Wallingford. He had seven children, of whom two were living in 1870, viz.: Almer I. and Jane A., wife of D. W. Fields, of Wallingford.

her advice and assistance he pursued the study of the higher mathemathics. At the age of 25 he became assistant of the Harvard Observatory, Mass., and in 1816 was appointed assistant in the Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C. In 1863 he was promoted to a professorship in the same observatory, which he still holds (1881). On the night of Aug. 11, 1877, he discovered one of the satelites of Mars, and on the night of the 17th he discovered the other—the inner one. This happy discovery will connect the name of Prof. Asaph Hall with the moons of Mars as long as the science of astronomy exists. In 1879 he received the honorary degree of A. M. from Harvard University, and that of LL.D. from Yale College and from Cambridge University, England.

(Family 181.) NATHAN KELSEY HALL?, Ira<sup>6</sup>, Jonathan<sup>5</sup>, Isaac<sup>4</sup>: D. in Skeneatelas, N. Y., March 28, 1810; d. in Buffalo, N. Y., of heart disease; m., Nov. 16, 1832, Emily Payne, b. Aug. 5, 1811. She survived her husband. He was a law partner of Fillmore in an office at Buffalo, N. Y.; when Fillmore succeeded to the presidency in —, he appointed his partner, Nathan K. Hall, to the office of post master general; when Fillmore was about to retire from his office knowing the fitness of Mr. Hall for the judicial office he nominated him for District Judge of the United States Court in Western New York, which the Senate confirmed. In this office Mr. Hall performed an immense amount of labor satisfactorily until his death. The size of the district has since been greatly diminished; he was one of the most able and amiable of men, which with a manly presence rendered him evidently one of nature's noblemen. Children were:

1. Nathan K., b. Oct. 13, 1833; d. Oct. 22, 1835. 2. Frederick Augustus, b. Jan. 10, 1836; d. at Andover, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1852. 3. Emily A., b. Oct. 9, 1838; m. George Gorham, of Canandaigua, N. Y., resides in Buffalo. 4. Frank, b. Jan. 7, 1845; d. at Washington, D. C., May 23, 1848. 5. Grace, b. May 16, 1850.

(Family 182.) Andrew Hall was b. in Cheshire, Conn., March 21, 1806; m., May 9, 1836, Laura Andrews, of New Haven, and removed to Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where he d. April 26, 1881, æ. 75. He was a carpenter by trade, and planned and built or helped build a large number of houses in that place. In 1842, he became a member of the 1st Presbyterian church of Saratoga Springs; and was a man of undoubted piety; he was also a man of even temperament, and very genial in his manners; he was greatly respected, and few would have been more missed from the church and community; his wife survived him. Children were:

1. Alice Elida, b. Dec. 3, 1843; m., Aug. 12, 1868, Harrison Hickock, and had three children; residence Rochester, N. Y. 2. Andrew Newton, b. July 12, 1846. 3. Albert Newton, b. Dec. 13, 1848. 4. Franklin Andrews, b. June, 1851.

[The following notes are taken from the History of Wallingford.]

Dec. 1766, a committee was appointed by the First Society of Wallingford, consisting of Benjamin Hall, 2d, Elihu Hall, Peter Hall, and others, to confer with the Wells Society, and try to settle the controversy.

In 1758, on a committee of the minority in the Dana controversy were John Hall, 2d, Eleakim Hall, Street Hall, and others.

In 1758, it was voted that Major Elihu Hall, Capt. Samuel Hall, Esq., and others, be a committee to invite a candidate to preach in Wallingford.

In 1686, the town chose Col. Street Hall as agent to remonstrate against the petition of Meriden village to be set off as a separate town by General Assembly.

In 1794, the parish of Meriden petioned the town of Wallingford to be set off as a distinct town, and appointed a committee of five to transact the business, of which Brenton Hall was one.

In 1793, Col. Street Hall was appointed a committee, with two others, to settle the boundary between Wallingford and Berlin at the Belcher farm.

In 1803, a committee from the parish of Meriden, consisting of Eliakim Hall, Brenton Hall, and others, was appointed to confer with a committee from Wallingford, consisting of Aaron Hall, Hezekiah Hall, and others, on the subject of Meriden as a separate town.

The town of Meriden was incorporated in 1806.

Daniel Hall<sup>2</sup> (Family 5), on page 89, should have probably been placed under the Halls of Guilford instead of the Halls of Wallingford. His name was David, not Daniel, and his two children were named David, and not Daniel, and two of his children.

HALLS OF PORTSMOUTH, R. I.

The emigrant ancestor was

(Family 1.) WILLIAM HALLI. On the 8th day of the 8th month in 1638, the name of William Hall was one of a list of 59 persons admitted inhabitants of an island on the coast of Rhode Island, now called Aqueedunk. In 1620 William Hall was an inhabitant of Newport, R. I. And on the 27th day of the 5th month, in 1644, a parcel of land in Portsmouth, R. I., was granted to William Hall by the town. His name was on the list of freemen of Portsmouth in 1655. William Hall sold, on the 6th day af the 7th month, 1654, to Richard Sisson, of Portsmouth, 1-300 of an island called Canonocut and 1-300 of Dutch Island. William Hall was commissioner to General Court from Portsmouth in 1654, 56, 60 and 63. And he was Deputy from Portsmouth to General Assembly in 1665, 66, 67, 68, 72 and 73. In 1673 he was appointed on a committee for the purpose of treating with the Indians about drunkenness, and to seriously council them, and agree of some way to prevent extreme excess of Indian drunkenness. Five chiefs are named, among whom is the name of the famous Philip of Mount Hope, called King Philip, with whom the committee should treat.

There may be same foundation for the following statement by the late James Usher, genealogist of 9 Murray street, New York. He says, "We have the transatlantic trace of William Hall, clergyman. He is believed to be the same William Hall who was a writer in London, and continued the 'Fab you Chronical' began by Sir Thomas More. And there is reason to believe a connection existed between William Hall and the Lord Chancelor's family. (See an article in an early number of Harper's Magazine, by Mrs. Hall, of Chelsea Church, England.) William Hall, of London, went out of record there in 1638, the same year that William Hall began record in Portsmouth. Thomas Clement, a connection of the Mores, was an original founder of Portsmouth, R. I., and was a neighbor of William Hall, and the administrator of his estate,"

Mr. Usher emblazoned a coat of arms which he knew or supposed to belong to William Hall, for Theo. C. Hall, of 174 Lexington avenue, New York, who is a descendant of William Hall, of Portsmouth. It consists of three Talbot's heads, Chivron in black ground, and the crest a Griffin's head, az.

Mrs. Mary Clapp, of East Greenwich, R. I., a lady of over 80 years of age, and a descendant of William Hall, informs me of a tradition in the family that "William Hall was one of five brothers who came over, one of whom settled at Exter, R. I."

William Hall made his will on the 20th day of the 11th month, 1673, which was probated on the 19th day of the 2d month in 1676. No mention is made in it of Thomas Clement. But he says "I do ordain, substitute and appoint my truly and well beloved friend and yoke fellow, Mary, my wife, to be my whole and sole executrix, into whose hands and possession I do give and bequeath my whole estate during her life, and, considering the weakness of my said wife, I do appoint my two younger sons, viz.: William and Benjamin, to be assistants to their mother in the managing of whatever business she shall have need of during her life; and after her decease, I do hereby give power to my above named two sons to see my will performed as following, that is to say: after the decease of the last of us, either me or my wife, my will is that my son Zurill Hall shall have and enjoy that twenty acres of land whereon his dwelling house now stands. Next, my mind and will is that my son Benjamin Hall shall have my new dwelling house and land thereto adjoining; and, further, my will is that my three sons, Zurill, William and Benjamin, shall have all my land in the Narragansett which I purchased of Thomas Lawton, to be equally divided between them. And, further, I do give and bequeath unto my son Benjamin my cart horse, with my cart and plow, and the tackling thereto belonging; and as for the remainder of my estate, together with that which I have lent to my son William, shall be divided into four equal parts, viz.: one-fourth thereof to my son William; one-fourth part to my daughter Elizabeth; one-fourth part to my daughter Rebeecka, and the other fourth part to my daughter Deliverance." Thus we gather the names af the children of William Hall:

1. Zurill (Family 2). 2. William (Family 3). 3. Benjamin (Family 4). 4. Elizabeth. 5. Rebecka. 6. Deliverance.

(Family 2.) ZURILL HALL<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>: was freeman of Portsmouth, 1677, and d. 1691; m., Elizabeth, and had Mary, m., 1686, September 16, Robert Fish. Zurill Hall probably had a son Zurill,

William Hall was appointed a justice of the peace in Portsmouth May'5, 1703, and May 3, 1705, and was deputy to General Assembly Oct., 1705 and 1716.

(Family 4.) Benjamin Hall<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>: m., July 27, 1676, Frances, dau. of George Parker of Portsmouth, R. I. Mr. Hall was admitted freeman of Portsmouth, April 30, 1678; was appointed justice May 3, 1704, and 1709; was deputy to General Assembly May 6, 1701, and May 3, 1704, Feb. 25, 1706-7, May, 1713, and 1714. Capt. George Thomas Hall is known in the schools of Albany. He is a civil engineer. Residence Whitehall, Washington Co., N. Y. He has been engaged in the construction of the Brooklyn and New York bridge. He m., Dec. 29, 1868, Minnie, dau. of I. W. Post, b. Dec. 29, 1848, of Brooklyn. They were m. in Dr. Buddington's church by the pastor. He has furnished me with his line of pedigree back to the 3d William Hall. He has also very kindly sent me the post office address of the following persons, who are mostly his relations, as I suppose.

The following are of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.: Oscar Hall, Myron Hall, Andrew Hall, John R. Hall, John Hall, Adna Hall, Alonzo

Hall, Mrs. Chauncey Williams, John and George Cline.

The following are of Ballston Spa, N. Y.: Andrew Hall, John B. Hall, John Hall, Rensselaer Hall, railroad contractor, Joseph Hall, Mrs. Titus Allen, Seneca Phillips, Joseph Phillips, Sen., Joseph Phillips, Jr., Chester Newton.

Of Lansingburgh, N. Y.: Mrs. Lucius Hall and Mrs. Harry Dater.

Of New York: Harrison Hall, pres. Savings Bank, W. S. Hall and Theodore S. Hall.

George Milton, supt. of Insane Asylum, Utica, N. Y.

Rensselaer Hall, Newark, N. J.

The following are probably of this line of Halls: Jeremiah Hall removed from Providence, R. I., to Exter, R. I., and had an only son James, b. May 17, 1764; m. about 1791, Susanna Hovey, and removed in 1793, to Pownal, Vt., where he d. Jan. 20, 1838. He had a son Wanton, who had two sons: I. Thomas H., of Albany, in 1878. 2. Parker L., b. July 20, 1840. He entered the army in the war for the Union, Oct. 7, 1861, as a duty. He was active in enlisting the regiment of which he became a corporal, and afterwards promoted to the office of sergeant. He served three years and was in 30 or 40 battles and many skirmishes; he was taken prisoner once, was wounded at least twice, once in the neck by a sabre; he was a brave soldier, and finally died of disease, camp ail, Nov. 17, 1864. His funeral services were observed in Pownal, his native place, and was attended by multitudes of sympathizing admirers, the funeral sermon was published by Weed & Parsons of Albany.

The following were probably of kin to the Halls of Portsmouth: Henry Halls, Sen., and Richard Knight bought, Jan. 19, 1664, of Coginaquots about two square miles of land which they called Westerly Manor.

Henry Halls, Sen., weaver, and Henry Halls, Jr., took the oath of fidelity Sept. 17, 1679, and also James Hall was a free inhabitant of Westerly, 1680.

The children of Henry Halls were: Henry, James, John, Edward, Elizabeth, m. Edward Larkin, the freeman of 1655, a dau. who m. Thomas Stevens, and Honor, m. James Adams. The property of Henry Halls, Sen., was valued at £204, 4s. 2d. His will was made 1705.

Henry Halls and four others, purchased, May 2, 1710, 3200 acres of land north of Pawtucket river and west by Wood river. Among the grantees of land near the last purchase in 1710-11, were John Hall, Edward Hall, Henry Hall, Joseph Hall, and John Hall, were there in 1709.

Henry Hall, Jr., m. Constant. He made his will Nov. 1, 1716, in which he mentioned sons William, Elisha, Henry, James, John, Edward, and daughters Susanna, Lydia, Elizabeth Butler, Cherry

Cottrel and Mary and Martha not of age.

James Hall m. Sarah, dau. of Job Babcock, and had Sarah, b. Dec. 15, 1693; Jane, b. Aug. 29, 1695; Honor. b. Aug. 14, 1697; Elijah, b. Aug. 23, 1699; James, b. Sept. 17, 1701; Joseph, b. Feb. 8, 1703; Mary, b. Nov. 10, 1705; Benjamin, b. Nov. 19, 1707; Anne, b. Sept. 29, 1709; Jonathan, b. Nov. 18, 1711. (See N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., vol. 15).

HALLS OF DOVER, N. H.

[Compiled mostly from newspaper articles furnished by Rev. Dr. Quint.]

The emigrant ancestor was

(Family 1.) JOHN HALLI: b. in England, 1617. Tradition says he was brother to Ralph Hall, of Exter, and that another brother lived near Boston. John Hall and his wife, Elizabeth, appear first on the church records of Charlestown, Mass., at the baptism of their son John in 1645, and he and his family have been mistaken for that John Hall and his family who removed from Charlestown to Barnstable in 1640. This John Hall removed from Charlestown to Dover, N. H., in 1648 or 9, as his name appears on the tax list of Dover dated March 18, 1648-9, and was continued until 1677, after which the lists were destroyed. His name appears on the records often as buying or receiving grants of land. In 1677 Deacon Hall received a lot of 20 acres on the west side of Back river, the same which was laid out to George Webb in 1642, as his successor, John Hall, was the earliest deacon of the first church of Dover, as early as 1655. He was a deacon, perhaps, in the days of good Parson Maud. Certainly through the ministries of Reyner and into that of Parson Pike. He was lot layer as early as 1657 and as late as 1674. He was occasionally "commissioner to end small causes," and was selectman in 1660. He was grand juror in 1663, 6 and 8. He was one of a committee of three to call the selectmen to account, 1657 and 1666. In 1658, 9 he was one of three to lay out the town bounds between Lamprey and Newichawannock Rivers, and to run the northern boundary. In 1663 he and Lieut. Ralph Hall were to lay out a highway from Lamprey River to the water side. He was for a series of years "clerk of ye writs" for the court. His signatures as such is found in 1663, 68, 69 and 71. He was chosen town clerk 1670. His signature appears as such in 1675 and 1679. He had the town records in custody in 1665, 6. The date of his birth or death is not given. A deposition makes him born about 1617. In Feb. 1, 1685, 6, being in perfect bealth but aged, he gives to his son Ralph half of his house and land, &c., the other half also to go to Ralph after his death. This paper was proved May 4, 1692, and recorded Feb. 1694, 5. It would appear that he died before these dates, that is before May 4, 1692, or at least before Feb. 16, 1694, 5. John Hall lived on Dover Neck in 1652, next to the meeting house lot on the south-westerly side. This lot appears to have reached the river and embraced a large spring, still flowing, called "Hall's spring," and on the higher land near it was found, in 1852, the relics of an ancient cellar. He may have been called John Hall, Jr., as there were two others living in the town by the same name. Children were:

1. John, bapt., 1645, in Charlestown, Mass. (Family 2). 2. Elizabeth, bapt., 1647, Charlestown; d. in infancy. 3. Elizabeth, bapt., 1648, Charlestown; d. in infancy. 4. Nathaniel, taxed 1680 (Family 3). 5. Ralph (Family 4). 6. Grace, b. May 16, 1663, 4; this is all we know of her.

(Family 2.) JOHN HALL2, John 1: b. in Charlestown, 1645. Received bounty money with his father and thirteen others for killing a wolf in 1663. John Hall, Jr., was a witness, Feb. 8, 1664, 5, to a deed from Thomas Beard to Parson John Reyner. In 1675 he bought land of the town committee. He was on tax list of the Province in 1680. He lived on Dover Neck, Dec. 6, 1693; he gave bonds as tavern keeper; his sureties being Job Clements and Kingsley Hall. He probably had land of his father, and received several other grants of land from the town, and from his wife's father. John Hall was Representative of Dover in the New Hampshire Legislature, and was sworn in Nov. 1, 1694, May 15, 1695, and Sept. 16, 1696. He died while a member. Parson Pike's Journal says, April 28, 1697, "John Hall, Sen., was drowned coming up the river in a little float, near Green-point." His estate was returned by Ralph Hall and John Tuttle at £104 18s, od, Feb. 1, 1700. His sons Thomas and Joseph were appointed administrators Dec. 3, 1700; their mother, Abigail Downs, having declined the trust. The administrators, with their mother Abigail, conveyed to Samuel Emerson, Dec. 18, 1700, for £25, the thirty acres granted their father by the town in 1693, 4, west of Back river. John Hall married, Nov. 8, 1671, Abigail, dau. of John and Abigail (Nutter) Roberts. John Roberts was son of the emigrant Thomas Roberts, and Abigail was daughter of Elder Hatevil Nutter. John Hall's widow m., Oct. 24, 1698, Thomas Downs, of Cochecho, who was killed by the Indians in 1711. Children of John and Abigail Hall were:

1. John, b. June 37, 1673 (Family 5). 2. Thomas, b. June 19, 1675 (Family 6). 3. Joseph. b. Feb. 24, 1679, 80. 4. Hatevil, (Family 7). 5. Sarah, she conveyed land Jan. 9, 1718, 19, (which had been conveyed to her father in 1693, 4) to Richard Rook, or Rookes, of Dover, for £100; she m. Richard Goodwin and had children baptised in Dover as follows: i. Elizabeth, bapt. Oct. 15, 1721; ii. Richard, bapt. April 19, 1724; iii. Hannah, bapt. Aug. 7·1726. 6. Mary, m. —— Sanders of the island of Nantucket. It is barely possible that the above named Mary and Sarah were daughters of John Hall<sup>3</sup>, and were granddaughters of John Hall<sup>2</sup>, the tavern keeper. They both made quit claim to land in Dover in 1730.

(Family 3.) NATHANIEL HALL<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: his name appears on the Province tax lists of 1680 and 81, also on a list of petitioners for military defence, Feb. 20, 1589, 90. He had a grant of ten acres at the head of his 20 acre lot west of Back river, and it would seem that the deacon's Back river property went to him. Nathaniel and his wife, Hannah, of Dover, conveyed, Nov. 16, 1696, for £36, to Nathaniel Meader, of Oyster Bay, 30 acres of land "granted my deceased father, Deacon John Hall," and ten acres on Back river. This is all we know of Nathaniel Hall.

(Family 4.) RALPH HALL2, John1: Deacon John Hall deeded or conveyed to his son Ralph Hall, Feb. 1, 1685, 6, one-half of his Dover Neck homestead, the other half to be his on the decease of the deacon. July 11, 1694, he had a grant of 20 acres. on Fresh Creek. This land was lost with numbers of other grants there in a law suit with Richard Waldron, who claimed by prior grant. town gave lands elsewhere to all the sufferers or their heirs. received £10 for quit claim of Richard and Elizabeth (wife) Pinkham of a lot of 31 acres once the "house lot of our grandfather Thomas Leighton." Ralph Hall was auditor in 1702 and constable in 1705. Pike's Journal says, Nov. 13, 1706: "Ralph Hall, Sen., of Dover, deceased, after six days illness with grevious pain in his side together with the fever." He must have married twice. The name of his first wife is not ascertained. He married, 2d, May 26, 1701, Mary, dau. of Philip Chesley; in 1713 she, with her sister Esther, wife of John Hall, gave quit claim deed of their father's home plantation at Oyster river for £45. married again and as wife of John Foy, Feb. 26, 1717, 18, quit claimed to John Hall, evidently son of Ralph Hall by a former wife, all her "right in lands that my former husband, Ralph Hall, left me." Sons of Ralph Hall, John and James, were appointed administrators March 4, 1706; 7. The estate was divided between seven sons, a double portion being given to the eldest, and £15 reserved for Jona than, who was a weak and sick child. Names of sons were:

1. John (Family 9). 2. James. (Family 10). 3 Jonathan, sickly and weak child. 4. Isaac, said by tradition to have moved to Massachuetts. And by second wife: 5. Benjamin, b. June, 1702. (Family 11). 6. Ralph (Family 12). 7. Joseph, b. March 26, 1706 (Family 13).

THIRD GENERATION.

(Family 5.) John Hall<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. June 27, 1673; residence Dover, in the part called Oyster river; m. Elizabeth. John Hall, "eldest son and heir" of John Hall, deceased, with Elizabeth his wife and his mother Abigail, conveyed, Aug. 3, 1698, to John Tuttle ten acres of land (then in possession of said Tuttle), formerly belonging to grandfather, Deacon Hall, being west of the road to Cochecho, the purchase of June 8, 1675. Dec. 10, 1700, his younger brothers Thomas and Joseph were appointed to administer on thir father's estate, and no allusion to him is made; nor in any subsequent transaction on record. Probably he was dead at this time.

It is possible that Sarah Hall who married a Meader, and Mary Hall who married a Sanders, mentioned in account of his father, were his children. "Widow Elizabeth Hall, of Dover," married Sept. 7, 1705, Benjamin Pierce from Watertown, Mass., and had: i. Ben jamin Pierce, b. 1707; ii. Joseph Pierce, b. 1709. She d. and Benjamin Pierce m., 2d, 1714, Hannah Ash and had seven more children, all on the Dover records.

One child of John and Elizabeth Hall is recorded viz: Sarah, b. July 25, 1696.

There was a John Hall (whose pedigree we cannot trace) who had a wife Sarah and lived at Oyster river about this time, and had: John, b. Dec. 17, 1720 And a Sarah was bapt. March 6, 1720.

(Family 6.) Thomas Hall<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. June 19, 1675; d. in or before 1732; residence Oyster river, Dover. He was administrator with brother Joseph on estate of their father, Dec. 10, 10, 1700. He and brother Joseph owned the privilege of the second falls on the Cochecho. These two also took quit claim May 11, 1730, from Richard and Sarah (Hall) Goodwin, and also apparently from Mary (Hall) Sanders, Jan. 1, 1727. They also conveyed to John Horn, March 20, 1726, 7, for £ 54, one-half of 100 acres near Reyner's brook, "granted our father John Hall;" and the other half June 29, 1728, for £ 54, to the same. It was granted by the town April 2, 1694. Thomas Hall conveyed, Dec. 29, 1726, to John Horn of Dover one third of a right in Rochester, having a good title of "inheritance." His son James of Dover, conveyed to John Hall of Dover, April 20, 1722, all his interest in 20 acres which had belonged to his fafher Thomas. And Joseph, son of Thomas, conveyed to the same his interest in the same land April 22, 1728, specifying it as "granted to my father Thomas Hall, being 20 acres of land at ye Brook above ye head of Jonathan Woodman's land," both these deeds were recorded in 1735." James the eldest son of Thomas refused to administer on his fathers estate, Sept. 2, 1732 (his mother Mary had previously refused), and desired that his brother Thomas be appointed. Children were:

1. James (Family 14). 2. Thomas (Family 15). 3. Joseph

(Family 16).

(Family 7.) Joseph Hall<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>: m., Nov. 3, 1707, Esther Beard. He was associated with his brother Thomas in settling his fathers estate. And he conveyed, Dec. 8, 1721, to Joseph Austin one-half of ten acres granted to Dea. Hall west of the road to Cochecho and north of Joseph Beard's land. Children were:

1. Abigail, b. in Dover, July 5, 1708, and perhaps others ascribed to his nephew Joseph Hall.

(Family 8.) HATEVIL HALL<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: residence Dover, lived on the west side of Back river; m., March 14, 1706, 7, Mercy Cromwell. The tradition among his descendants is that he was drowned in early manhood and left but one son.

1. Hatevil (Family 17).

(Family 9.) John Hall, Ralph, John: b. as early as 1685; residence Dover, lived first on Dover Neck, but as early as 1730 he was of Somersworth, where he had land which evidently came to him from his father's estate and originally from his grandfather Dea. Hall; m., Aug. 9, 1705, Hester or Esther, dau. of Philip Chesley and sister of his father's 2d wife. John Hall and his wife Hester and her sister Mary, widow of Ralph Hall, quit claimed to Philip Chesley, a nephew, Dec. 23, 1713, as only daughters of Philip Chesley. Hester jumped from the upper story of her father's house with a babe in her arms at Durham Falls, when most of the other members were killed by the Indians in 1694. There are records of many conveyances of land by John Hall, among which are the following, viz.: Of the Dover Neck property, he with wife Esther conveyed to Thomas Kenny, of Dover, June 26, 1716, rights in calves pasture, granted to grandfather John Hall. Feb. 21, 1721, 2, he conveyed to Nicholas Hosford for £8 10s land lying on the west side of Dover Neck, between Hilton's Point and Redding's Point, inheritance in fee simple. Dec. 23, 1722, he and wife Esther conveyed to Joseph Beard land on Dover Neck running down to Back Cove slip, joining land of Pomfrett Dam (formerly William Pomfrett's). 1723, he conveyed to Thomas Millett, of Dover, marriner, for £45, two pieces: one butting on Back river west, and on John Dam's lot on the north, and on John Dam's lot on the east, and on the lane to the Back Cove on the south, being the home lot given by Capt. Wiggin to Thomas Leighton; the other piece was at the place commonly called and known by the name of Hilton's Point, on Dover Neck aforesaid, it being one twenty-fifth part or share in the ox pasture, it having formerly been the right of Thomas Canney, Sen., deceased. He conveyed to Thomas Alden, of Dover, March 5, 1725, 6, for £20, ten acres. John Hall conveyed to Gersham Downs, Sept. 20, for £11, the 6 acres in Cochecho marsh originally granted to John Hall, Sen. Jan. 23, 1720, 1, he had rebounded the 100 acres in Rollingsford which had been granted to his grandfather in 1656. It was the third lot on the tract of land between St. Alban's Cove and Quampegan. It was said, in 1720, 21, to begin at a tree by the water side, at a "poynt comonly called Curriell Poynt." And there he lived. He conveyed to Rev. James Pike, of Somerworth, Dec. 12, 1729, 30, for £18, one-third of a share in Rochester, being 20 acres "given unto me, the said John Hall, by his excellency, the Governor." He conveyed, Jan. 4, 1733, 4, to Benjamin Ham, of Dover, one share in Dover common lands; and Aug. 19, 1734, half of a right in commons to John Ham, of Dover. Either he or his son John couveyed to John Pray, of Dover, for £60, ten acres, bounded south by said Pray's land, north by Benjamin Weymouth, east by the Newichawannock, west by highway leading to Somersworth. There are deeds on record from him to his sons of the land in Rollingsford. To son Samuel, July 4, 1732; to son John, Nov. 28, 1732; to son James, March 25, 1735, of which the father reserves the life use. There is also a deed on record from John Hall to James Hall (perhaps this John was a brother of James) for £500, the homestead place in Somersworth of 50 acres, bounded easterly on the highway or road that leads from St. Albans to Quamphegon, northerly on road which runs betwixt this land and Benjamin Weymouth's land, westerly on Samuel Hall's land, southerly on the land of Daniel Paul. John Hall and wife, Esther, conveyed to William Tombly, May 25, 1734, land given by town in place of Fresh Creek, lost in the Waldron law suit, a grant of 1693, 4, "to my father Ralph Hall." He conveyed a similar piece to Joseph Hanson, June 7, 1734, and added a deed of the same, Dec. 7, 1734, as administrator of his father's estate. Children were:

1. John, b. 1706 (Family 18). 2. Samuel (Family 19). 3. James (Family 20). 4. Keziah. 5. Esther. 6. Betsey. One of these daughters married an Evans.

(Family 10.) James Hall, Ralph², John¹: died before 1735, when the final settlement of his father's estate was made. Nov. 21, 1735, the sons of Ralph², Benjamin³, Ralph³, Joseph³ and heirs of James³, by attorney Uncle Joseph³, made a conveyance. Previously, July, 1734, Rowland Green, tailor, and wife Elizabeth, of Portsmouth, and Mary Hall., spinster, of Rye, make our trusty and well beloved uncle, Joseph Hall, Jun., of Dover, our attorney to convey. These are all the children on record:

I. Elizabeth, m. Rowland Green. 2. Mary, unmarried in 1734. (Family 11.) Benjamin Hall<sup>3</sup>, Ralph<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. June, 1702, in Dover; d. in Barrington, 1779, æ. 80; m. Frances Willey, of Lee. He was apprenticed to William Dam, weaver, July 16, 1709. Rev. Dr. Quint has the indenture in his possession. Nov. 9, 1726, Benedictus (and Leah) Tarr sold to Benjamin and Ralph Hall, of Dover, 20 acres on the westerly side of the Mast way that leads to the hook. Benjamin Hall lived in Madbury until about 1755, when he removed to Barrington. He was one of the petitioners for the incorporation of Madbury in 1743. Parson Cushing baptized, Dec. 30, 1741, Benjamin Hall and Frances, his wife, and five of their children. In the spring of 1772 his house burned. Children were:

1. Benjamin, b. Dec. 12, 1730 (Family 21). 2. Isaac (Family 22). 3. Joseph was baptized 1741; d. young. 4. John, b. Jan. 18, 1739 (Family 23). 5. Abigail, b. 1741; bapt. 1741; d. young. 6. Samuel, b. lived at Strafford Ridge.

Benedictus Tarr, Nov. 9, 1726, was quit claimed by Benjamin to Ralph, Nov. 21, 1749; also 3 3-4 acres near where Ralph's "house stands." May 5, 1786, he conveyed to son Ralph' land in Barrington, on the road from Madbury to Barnstead. In the latter part of his life he went to live with his son Joseph' on the farm now owned by his great-great-grandson, John Hall, on the Crown Point road in Strafford, just below the Blue Hill. There he died, and the graves of himself and wife are there in the old orchard. Children were:

1. Elizabeth, m. Joseph Daniels, of Barrington, and had Joseph and others. 2. Frances, m. Samuel Foss, of Barrington, son of Samuel and Mary (Dowse) Foss, and had five children, whose descendants are plentiful. 3. Solomon (Family 24). 4. Ralph, m. a Davis, and moved to Jackson, N. H. 5. Lois, d. young. 6. Joseph, b. Dec. 11, 1741 (Family 25). 7. Deborah, b. May 1, 1744; m. John, son of Benjamin Hall. 8. Abigail, m. Samuel Berry, of Barrington, and had a large family, of whom five grew up; her son John Berry was the father of the late Samuel G. Berry, of the Governor's council, and of William Berry, formerly State Treasurer; her son Jonathan was ancestor of the Berrys of Felker mills in Barrington. 9. Sobriety, m., June 19, 1777, Nicholas Brock, of Barrington, and had six children, from whom are the Brocks of Strafford.

(Family 13.) JOSEPH HALL<sup>3</sup>, Ralph<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Dover, March 26, 1706; residence in Dover, where he d. Nov. 14, 1782; m., Dec. 19, 1734, Peniel Bean. Children were:

1. Anna, bapt. July 29, 1735; m., 1st, Reuben Daniels, of Wolfsborough, by whom she had three children; m., second, Philip Kelley, of Wakefield, by whom she had four children. 2. Mary, bap. May 23, 1736; m. Paul Hessey and had four children. 3. Joseph, bapt. Nov. 5, 1738 (Family 26). 4. Daniel, bapt. Aug. 22, 1742; residence Wakefield; m., wid. Patience Taylor, of Sanbornton, and had Hannah, who m. John Sanborn of Wakefield. 5. Abigail, bapt. Oct. 7, 1744; m. a Hawkins. 6. Samuel, bapt. March 19, 1747 (Family 27). 7. Hannah, bapt. April 2, 1749; m. Reuben Long of Wakefield, and had two children. 8. John, b. Nov. 1752 (Family 28). 9. Peniel, m., March 19, 1775, John Scribner, of Wakefield, and had six children.

FOURTH GENERATION.

(Family 14.) James Hall, Thomas<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Dover about 1700; residence Durham; m. Tabitha——. He signed a deed for £6, to John Hall, April 20, 1722, of all interest in grant "to my father Thomas Hall of Dover at ye Brook above ye head of Jonathan Woodmans." He with wife Tabitha conveyed, April 2, 1735, then called "senior" to Joseph Atkinson of Durham, for £25, all the right in his common or undivided lands in Durham. They also conveyed for £8, June 24, 1736, to Timothy Emerson of Durham, tanner, 20 acres bounded west by Lt. Woodman's, with dwelling house thereon. This is all we know of James or his family.

(Family 15.) THOMAS HALL4, Thomas3, John2, John1: residence Durham; m. Elizabeth ----- His elder brother desired Sept, 1732, that Thomas be appointed to administer on the estate of their father and he was so appointed. Thomas Hall, husbandman, conveyed to Richard Plumer, July 21, 1733, for £ 25, one share in Dover common lands. Thomas and Joseph Hall conveyed Dec. 12, 1741, to Otis Pinkham, of Dover, 20 acres on the west side of Back river, adjoining the river near the Back cove. Thomas of Durham with wife Elizabeth conveyed to John Knight of Newington, gentleman, March 30, 1747, for £ 10, 12 acres in Durham "granted to ye estate of John Hall, late of Durham, husbandman, deceased, Thomas being executor. It is not certain what John Hall this was. Thomas Hall, husbandman, and wife Elizabeth, Oct. 21, 1747 for £12 10s, conveyed to Samuel Smith, five acres in Durham, beginning at the north corner of Timothy Emerson's land formerly Samuel Chesley's. This is all we know of Thomas Hall or his family.

(Family 16.) Joseph Hall, Thomas<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>: b. in Dover, April 13, 1707; probably he had a family. Joseph Hall, of Dover, conveyed to John Hall, April 22, 1728, for £5 all interest in a certain grant to "my father Thomas Hall, of Dover, being 20 acres at ye Brook above ye head of Joseph Woodman's." He was probably the Joseph, Jun., who conveyed to Samuel Twombly, April 27, 1731, 60 acres in Rochester, and the Joseph who conveyed to Nicholas Tuttle, of Dover, July 16, 1735, for £60, his right to the first division of Dover common lands; and the same to whom Thomas Hall, of Dover, husbandman, quit claimes, Dec. 12, 1741, to "my brother Joseph Hall, husbandman, of Dover," a tract of land where Joseph now lives, containing all his homestead land in Dover on the westerly side of Dover Neck, adjoining to Back river, bounded southerly on land of Capt. Thomas Tibbetts, westerly on Back river, northerly on land commonly called Calves' pasture, easterly on the highway which leads from said Hall's house to Capt. Thomas Tibbetts, including dwelling house. Children may have been, and probably were:

1. Joseph, marriner. 2. Mehitable, m. Joseph Dam, but, possibly, Joseph and Mehitable may have been the children of Joseph<sup>3</sup> son of John<sup>2</sup>. Dec. 11, 1752, Joseph Hall, of Dover, marriner, for £50, conveyed to Joseph Dam, of Durham, all right in estate of father Joseph, late of Dover, yeoman, deceased, it being two-fifths part of said estate. A Mehitable Hall (who owned the covenant and was baptized March 3, 1734) married Joseph Dam, baptized Sept. 26, 1719.

(Family 17.) HATEVIL HALL<sup>4</sup>, Hatevil<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Dover, Feb. 15, 1707, 8; d. Nov. 28, 1797; m., April 1, 1733, Sarah Furbish, of Kittery; removed from Dover to Falls River; removed from Dover to Falls River; removed from Dover to Fallmouth, Me., about 1753, 4; he belonged to the Society of Friends. Nov. 17, 1733, he sold to John Ham all the right of his father Hatevil had to 100 acres of land formerly in the possession of his grandfather, John Hall; April 20, 1734, Daniel (and Sarah) Field conveyed, to Hatevil Hall, chair maker, 10 acres west of Back river, on the southward of the country road from Dover to Durham; May 6, 1738, he sold to William Hussey, of Dover, for £20, ten acres of commons; March 20, 1752, John Twombly conveyed to Hatevil Hall 23 1 2 acres on the east side of Salmon Falls river. The list of his posterity, a few years ago, was published in a newspaper, which I have not been able to obtain. They numbered then about 1,000. His children were:

1. Dorothy, b. Aug. 23, 1733 (Family 29). 2. Daniel, b. March 23, 1735 (Family 30). 3. Hatevil, b. March 24, 1736 (Family 31). 4. Marcy, b. Oct. 6, 1738 (Family 32). 5. Abigail, b. Feb. 12, 1740; d. (Family 19.) SAMUEL HALL<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, Ralph<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: he received, July 4, 1732, his father's lands in Rollinsford; he resided in Somersworth. Samuel and Lydia Hall, of Somersworth, conveyed land in Somersworth, Nov. 12, 1736, 16 acres, for £135 4s, to Ensign Jeremiah Rollins and Ebenezer Roberts, reserving wood for the use of John Hall, his father. There was a road lying between said land and Weymouth's. Probably the same Samuel Hall sold, May 20, 1734, one-third share in common lands of Dover, to David Daniel, of Dover. Samuel Hall removed from Somersworth in 1750 to New Castle, Me, with his family, consisting of eight sons and two daughters. Four of the sons died young; two died in the army, one by poison, it is supposed, and the other by camp fever. They were under Gen. Wolf at the surrender of Quebec. The other two sons lived to be old men.

1. Ebenezer, b. June 16, 1743 (Family 42). 2. Isaac (Family 43).

(Family 50.) SARAH HALL<sup>6</sup>, Joseph<sup>5</sup>, Joseph<sup>4</sup>, Ralph<sup>3</sup>, Ralph<sup>2</sup>, John': she m. George Quint, Esq.; he was of Spanish descent and came to Dover from one of the West India Islands; he was a good man, full of Christian hope, genial, affectionate, and upright; he was a deacon in the Congregational church of Dover, N. H., and was universally esteemed and loved. Dea. Quint died Oct., 1878, of heart disease very suddenly while sitting in his easy chair, in the evening after attending to his business all day as usual and apparently as well as usual; his wife Sarah died four years previously; they had an only child, Alonzo Hall, who with his wife and five children was living with his father in Dover at the time of his father's death. Alonzo H. Quint<sup>7</sup> studied theology at Andover Theological Seminary, and was a resident graduate in that seminary, 1852, when he commenced a correspondence with me on the subject of my line of Halls, the Halls of Medford, inquiring for information which I had obtained from the original records of Medford, Cambridge and Concord; he afterwards contributed information on the subject to Rev. Mr. Brooks the author of the History of Medford. He became extensively known as a genealogist, and consequently has been troubled with too many letters of inquiry for information. Quint published some twenty years ago four generations of the descendants of Dea. John Hall of Dover, and also of Ralph Hall, of Exeter, and subsequently reviewed those of Dea. John Hall and published the result in one of the Dover papers; and these publications which he very kindly sent me have constituted the greater portion of what is presented of these two lines of Halls in this genealogy. Rev. Dr. Quint was a chaplin in the war for the Union; he has been settled as pastor of several churches in Massachusetts which he has served with great acceptance. And he is acknowledged to be one of the ripest scholars in theology, and one of the most distinguished leaders in the Congregational denomination. Several years ago he suffered from a bronchial hemorrhage, and retired to the old homestead in Dover for rest.

(Family 56.) MICAJAH OTIS HALL<sup>7</sup>, Ralph<sup>6</sup>, Samuel<sup>5</sup>, Joseph<sup>4</sup>, Ralph<sup>3</sup>, Ralph<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Greenland, N. H., 1822; m. Rebecca Odell. He is in the custom house, Boston, Mass., and has sent me, very kindly, considerable information; he says that Sergeant John Hall, an early settler of Dover, exchanged farms with somebody at Bloody Point, or Greenland, then a part of Dover on the border of Portsmouth and joining the great bay; the Packers and Pierces of Portsmouth are descendants of Sergeant John Hall and the Hall farm became connected with the Pierbe or Packer farm. On the Hall farm near the bay was a small graveyard and Mark Pierce ordered Ralph Hall, who was at work for him, to cart small stone from a certain lot and dump them upon those graves, and although Mr. Hall felt bad about it, it was done. (For the family of Sargeant John Hall, see appendix.) The children of Micajah Otis Hall were:

HALLS OF EXETER, N. H.

[Compiled almost entirely from newspaper articles furnished by Rev. Dr. A. H. Quint, of Dover, N. H.]

The emigrant ancestor was

(Family 1.) RALPH HALL', b. in England in 1619, and was living in 1690; the records of Exeter show that he was there from 1639 to 1645, and again permanently after 1664. He was in Dover, from 1650 to 1664, and was probably in Charlestown, Mass., from 1645 to 1650; records of sales of land in Charlestown, by Ralph Hall and his wife Mary, are as follows: mortgaged land on the "Mystic side" to Thomas Gardiner, of Roxbury, which he had purchased of Thomas Burton; sold twenty acres on Mystic side July 15, 1648, 9; he conveyed sixty acres of land in Charlestown, Feb. 2, 1649, to Richard Cook, of that place. Ralph Hall and Mary his wife, sold land on the Mystic side, Jan. 25, 1648, 9, which did "anciently" belong to John Hall and Richard Kittle. John Hall of Charlestown had lot No. 48 on the Mystic side in 1633. What John Hall was this? While Ralph Hall lived in Dover, he was honored with the rank of lieutenant and became commissioner of small causes; selectman, etc. His premises on Dover Neck he sold Oct. 19, 1664, to John Reyner, "sometime teacher at Dover;" he was delegate from Exeter to the first New Hampshire assembly which met 1680, and which consisted of eleven men. it is the tradition that he was a brother of Dea. John Hall of Dover, and that another brother settled near Boston. Children were:

1. Mary, b. Jan. 15, 1647; d. July, 1648. 2. Huldah, b. April 16, 1649. 3. Mary, probably m., Jan. 13, 1668-9; Edward Smith at Exeter. 4. Ralph, d. June 6, 1671. 5. Samuel, d. 1690. 6. Joseph (Family 2). 7. Kingsley, b. 1652 (Family 3). 8. Sarah, d. July 16, 1662.

SECOND GENERATION.

(Family 2.) Joseph Hall<sup>2</sup>, Ralph<sup>1</sup>: b. in Dover, during his father's residence there, and removed with his father to Exeter, in 1664, and died there; m. Mary, dau. of the second Edward Hilton, by his wife Ann, dau. of Rev. Samuel Dudley, and granddaughter of Governors Winthrop and Dudley. Children were:

- 1. Joseph (Family 4). 2. Edward (Family 5), and perhaps others. (Family 3.) Kingsley Hall, Ralph: b. 1652, in Dover; d. about 1736; m., Sept. 25, 1674, Elizabeth, dau. of Rev. Samuel Dudley of Exeter; m., 2d, Woodhury, of Beverly, who d. Jan. 24, 1728-9, æ. 64; resided at Exeter most of his life, but we find him a resident of Beverly, Mass., in 1718; he was appointed councelor in 1698, and not far from that time became judge of small causes. Children were:
- 1. Josiah, (Family 6). 2. Paul, b. 1689 (Family 7). 3. Elizabeth (Family 8). 4. Mary, who d. before her father, having m. John Harris, leaving one child, Mary<sup>4</sup>, b. Of these John, b. 1740, was the most noted. He entered early upon a sea-faring life, but was driven from it by the revolutionary troubles, when he immediately took decidedly American grounds. In Dec. 13, 1774, he was engaged in the removal of stores from the fort at Newcastle. In 1775 and 1776, he was a delegate to the general congress; he took command of an independent company of cadets and was present at Burgoin's surrender. He served in Rhode Island with a detachment of his company, and was present when Gen. Sullivan brought off the American troops. He was member and speaker of the N. H. House of Representatives in 1776 and '77; was judge of Court of Commou Pleas in 1776, but resigned the next year; in 1778, was agent under Congress for building ships of war, and was continental agent for New Hampshire. In 1779, he was president of N. H. convention for regulating the currency; and from 1777 to 1782 was speaker of the N. H. House of Representatives. In 1780, he was a commissioner to raise men and procure provisions for the army; in June 13, 1783, he was again elected delegate to Congress; in 1784 and 5, he was member of N. H. Senate, and in the later year its president; In 1788, he was delegate to the convention which framed the constitution of the United States. March, 1788, he was elected representative in N. H. Legislature and speaker of the house; but took the office of governor to which he was simultaneously chosen; in Nov., 1788, he was elected a member of the senate of the United States, and became the first presiding officer of that body. He was re elected senator in 1794; later in life he was nominated for vice-president of the United States; but declined on account of advanced age; from 1801 to 1805, he was representative in N. H. Legislature; in 1804 and 5, was speaker; and from 1805 to 1810, and 1810 to 1811, was governor of New Hampshire; the degree of LL.D., was given him by Dartmouth College in 1805. He died at Portsmouth, Sept. 18, 1819. Of his patriotism the following speaks emphatically: "In one of the darkest periods of the revolution, when our means were small, the Provincial legislature was in session in Exeter, the resources of the country were at the lowest ebb, despair was on every mind when John Langdon arose in that assembly and made this remarkable speech: 'I have two thousand dollars in specie, I will pledge my plate for as much more, I have eighty hogsheads of Tobago rum which will be sold for the service of the State. The country shall have it all, if we succeed in establishing our liberty I shall be repaid; if not property is of no value,' such a proposition reanimated every one; called hope back to all, and and the governor said: 'We can now raise a New Hampshire regiment, and my friend John Stark can command it.' The regiment was raised and fought the battle of Bennington. This success was the turning point which resulted in gaining our liberty."

m., 1st, March 17, 1816, Mary, dau. of Capt. Nathan Howe, of Shrewsbury, Mass., having born him six children, d. in 1825; leaving behind her the cherished remembrances which hallow the name of faithful wife and good mother; m., 2d, 1827, Eliza, dau. of William Parkman, Esq., of Camden, Me., who survived him. Mr. Hall was brought up behind the counter, except the enjoyment of a few months at school at Andover. He went to Camden, Me, in 1809; was early interested in military affairs, became colonel and in the war of 1812, had the command of a detachment of 30 men. The parapets upon Eaton's and Jacobs Point were erected under his supervision; was deputy sheriff of Lincoln and Hancock counties, and first sheriff of Waldo county, which he organized in 1827. In 1830, was post master at Camden; in 1833, was elected to Congress, and again in 1835; in 1827, was again post master at Camden; from 1838 to 1846 was measurer in the custom house, Boston; when unsolicited, his friend and former associate in Congress, President Polk, conferred upon him the office of navy agent for the post of Boston; in 1849, being removed by President Taylor on political grounds, he received the entire vote of his party for mayor of Boston. Failing of being elected, he retired to his farm in Camden; where in the bosom of his family he enjoyed a quiet rest, and extended its graceful hospitalities to his numerous friends. But in 1857, upon the election of Buchannan, he was again appointed weigher, guager and measurer in the Boston custom house, which position he retained until removed by the hand of death. Col. Hall, was a democrat of the old school, and cherished an ardent love for the union of the States; endowed by nature with great physical power, and possessing a vigorous and well balanced intellect he evinced an ability commensurate to all the stations which he was called to fill; hence all of his official acts, and particularly his course while in the Federal Congress, were marked by that good sense and judgment which never failed him, his course was especially commended by President Jackson. His private life was almost without reproach. His reputation for honesty was proverbial, hence though rich in the possession of a good conscience he was comparatively poor in worldly goods. But he lived not for himself alone, the generous sympathy of his great heart embraced the world, and his bestowment of favors was limited only by his means. His last brief and painful illness he bore with patience and fortitude. He died like a Christian with unwavering faith in Him who doeth all things well; contented, unrepining and resigned, he bid a cheerful adieu to all the attachments of life and calmly, and trustingly, prepared himself for his last repose; humbly and hopefully trusting in the unfailing mercy of God. His remains were conveyed to Camden, the place he loved so well, and deposited in the tamily burying ground by the side of the loved and lost who had gone before him. The above was substantially published in the Boston Post of Jan. 5, 1860. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity to which he was much attached. Children were born in Camden:

Vols. In 1864 he was detailed from his regiment as assistant superintendent of schools under the Freedman's Bureau in Louisania. His wife joined him in New Orleans and became an efficient teacher of the young freedmen for two years. On their way home in 1866 by way of Chicago, she was very active by pen and voice in removing the obsticles in the way of a just and permanent reconstruction of the south. Removing with her husband to Boston, Mass., where he became Judge of Municipal Courts for South precincts of the city, she bravely shared the vicisitudes of his lot. Being a woman of great force of character, a fine scholar, and of rare taste, her influence for good was made efficient in Boston; she was a member of several benevolent societies, and the secretary or at least one of them; but her life of usefulness was cut off by a protracted and very painful sickness which terminated in death March 22, 1880. A biographical sketch of her may be found in the 45 No. of the South Boston Inquirer, March 27, 1880. She was born in Columbia, Herkimer, Co., N. Y., July 24, 1830; was a daughter of Rev. # HALLS OF YARMOUTH, MASS.

The emigrant ancestor was

He came from Coventry, Warwick-(Family I.) JOHN HALL'. shire, England, in 1630, to Charlestown, Mass., probably in the fleet with Gov. Winthrop. Coventry is about 95 miles north-west from London. It is not known whether he had a family then or not. He was then probably about 21 years of age. His name is No. 19 on the list of church members of the first church of Charlestown at it its organization, July 30, 1630. There was then no church in Boston; but in 1632, a majority of its members being on that side of Charles river, they caused its removal, and it became the first church of Boston. The remembers remaining organized a church in Charlestown, Nov. 2, 1632, consisting of 16 men and their wives and three unmarried men. Among this number were John Hall and his wife Bethia. John Hall had lot No. 48 in 1633. He was made freeman May 14, 1634. There is but little doubt that he resided in Barnstable in 1640; he was recorded as able to bear arms in 1643 and Mr. Paine, the historian of Harwich, Mass., said that John Hall was an inhabitant of Barnstable after 1647, and that he was a resident of Yarmouth in 1653. Barnstable and Yarmouth joined each other and were both incorporated as towns in 1639. That part of Yarmouth where John Hall lived was set off as a separate town in 1793, and named Dennis.

Josiah S. Hall, one of the descendants of John Hall now (1880) owns and lives upon the eld homestead in Dennis, and says he thinks that John Hall moved on to it in 1641. Perhaps it might have been at that time claimed as a part of Barnstable. Josiah S. Hall, who has furnished me with a good deal of information, also says, "The Halls have occupied a position as good citizens, and I have never heard of any of them being guilty of a crime that would make any one who bore the name to blush. The emigrant ancestor was a man of character, though not much in office."

The probability is that several of John Hall's kindred came to this country from Warwickshire, England. It is the tradition in Sutton that a brother, with his family, came with him in the same ship, and that this brother was the grandfather of Deacon Percival Hall, of Suton, who appears by the history of Sutton to have been the chief means of procuring the settlement of one of John Hall's descendants as the pastor of the church of Sutton, viz: the Rev. Dr. David Hall, from Yarmouth.

The relationship between the Halls of Yarmouth and the Halls of Medford is claimed also by their descendants who settled in Granville, N. Y.

There are two marriages recorded in the N. E. H. G. Reg., which may have reference to this line of Halls. The first is in vol. 2, p. "John Hall of Warwickshire, Eng., married the youngest daughter of John Farmer, of Ansley, Warwickshire. John Farmer died 1669." The other is in vol. 1, p. 26. "--- Pease married John Hall, of Warwickshire."

As to the number of children had by John Hall, of Yarmouth, it is believed that he had twelve sons, although we have the names of only ten. But Rev. Dr. David Hall said that he had twelve sons, of whom he had seen seven.

Arunah Hall, of New Lebanon, N. H., when he was 85 years old, in 1864, said that he had often heard his father say that his emigrant ancestor had twelve sons and no daughters.

Five of these sons were very probably the children of his wife Bethia, but we find a record of only two. They are among the taptisms in Charlestown. John, son of John and Bethia Hall, 13, 3, 1638; Shebar, son of John and Bethia Hall, 9, 12, 1639. The children baptized in Yarmouth, beginning with Joseph, were the sons of John and Elizabeth Hall Clizabeth Lane

John Hall made his will July 15, 1694, in which he mentions eight sons. His will was probated Aug. 29, 1696; he died July 23, 1696, and was buried on his farm. The names of his children were:

1. Samuel, the date of his birth is not known, but probably it was before the birth of John, and there might have been two others born before 1637, of whom no mention is made. Samuel m. Eliza-Dre heubesh Pollard, of Barnstable; after his death she m., 2d; April 27, 1699, Nathaniel Jones. Samuel Hall made his will Oct. 7, 1693, and died Jan. 20, 1694, he had no children, but willed his property to his widow and his seven brothers, viz: John, Joseph, Nathaniel, Gershom, William, Benjamin and Elisha. 2. [The following items are taken from Freeman's History of Cape Cod.]

John Hall, Sen., Nathaniel Hall and Samuel Hall owned pews in the meeting-house of Yarmouth before 1672. Joseph Hall chosen in 1703 to seat the meeting-house. Ensign Elisha Hall and Deacon Joseph Hall were on a committee, 1716, with four others, to attend the gentlemen expected from Yarmouth, to hear and determine the matter about our getting another meeting-house.

Among the selectmen of Yarmouth were: 1685, John Hall held the office one year; 1693, Joseph Hall, Sen., held the office two years; 1701, Joseph Hall held the office 28 years; 1728, Eben Hall held the office 13 years; 1757, Daniel Hall held the office 29 years; 1772, Edward Hall for one year; 1776, John Hall for one year; 1782, Josiah Hall for one year; 1786, Atherton Hall for one year. 1710 Gershom Hall was selectman of Harwich, and held the office three years.

Among the representatives of Yarmouth were: 1703, Elisha Hall held the office five years; 1715, Joseph Hall held the office two years; 1735, Daniel Hall held the office four years; 1751, Joseph Hall held the office three years; 1788, Atherton Hall held the office three years. 1751 and 52, Thomas Hall represented Dennis; he was also selectman ten years from 1845. Enoch Hall was selectman of Dennis for twelve years from 1805.

In a rate bill in Yarmouth, 1676, for the amount of £297, Gersham Hall was rated £1 135. 9d., Samuel Hall £4 85. 9d, John Hall, Sen., £3 105. 2d, Joseph Hall £3, William Hall £1 25, John Hall, Jr., £2 155., Nathaniel Hall £1 155.

Among the soldiers that went from Falmouth to Mt. Hope against the Indians, June, 1675, were Joseph Hall, Nathaniel Hall, corporal, Samuel Hall, corporal.

And in the second Narraganset expedition were Benjamin Hall, Nathaniel Hall, sergeant. And in the third Samuel Hall.

The names of Joseph Hall, Jr., Samuel Hall and Thomas Hall, Sen., were among the names of freemen of Yarmouth on record at the meeting, 1678; and Samuel Hall and Samuel Hall, Jr., 1679.

This Thomas Hall, Sen., may have been taken for Thomas Hull? In 1677 Gershom Hull was grand juryman. In 1725 Gershom Hall, Jonathan Hall, Samuel Hall and Edward Hall were heads of families, with children at school in Harwich.

(Family 2.) John Hall, John: b. in Charlestown, Mass., 1637; d. in Yarmouth, Mass., Oct. 14, 1710, æ. 73 years (see his grave stone in Dennis); m. Prescilla Bearse, b. March 10, 1643; d. Joseph Hall was the first one of the brothers to go to Mansfield; the land there was laid out in 1694, and incorporated as a separate town in 1703; the charter was given to 14 persons, and the three brothers, Joseph Hall, Benjamin Hall and William Hall, were respectively No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 on the list. In 1710 the three brothers, and Isaac, son of Benjamin, were four of the ten who constituted the church of Mansfield; it was the first church in Tolland county, and was established by Rev. Eleazer Williams, son of Rev. John Williams, who was killed by the Indians in Deerfield; Joseph Hall was chosen deacon, but this disignation is not put on his grave stone in Dennis; (there is no grave stone in Mansfield earlier than 1749); he was the first town clerk of Mansfield, and continued in office until his death; the place which he owned and lived upon in Mansfield Centre, probably fell into the

(Family 26.) DAVID HALL4, Joseph3, John2, John1: b. in Yarmouth, Mass., Aug. 6, 1704; d. in Sutton, Mass., May 8, 1789; m., June 24, 1731, Elizabeth, dau. of Dr. Jonathan and Rebecca (Bulkley) Prescott, of Concord, Mass. Mr. Hall graduated at Harvard college, 1724, and received the honorary degree of D.D. from Dartmouth college, 1777; he was invited to preach in Sutton, Mass., 1728. Oct. 14, 1728, the town of Sutton voted that "Dea. Percival Hall (and others named) should go and get ministers to preach for three months; voted, Nov. 26, to raise £69 for the support of the gospel in Sutton; voted that Mr. David Hall should continue to preach until March next; Feb. 10, voted that Mr. Hall should continue to preach in the pulpit until the middle of May next, with a view to his settlement with us;" such settlement was agreed upon and he was ordained as pastor of Sutton Oct. 15, 1729, and continued in office until his death, nearly sixty years; he "was venerated in life and lamented in death;" there has been a monument erected to his memory by the people of his charge in Sutton; Rev. Dr. David Hall was a man of noble bearing, intellectual vigor and fervent piety; he was several times called to settle over other more prominent places, but he preferred to remain in Sutton, where the people loved and honored him, and to whom he was strongly attached; he was an intimate friend and admirer of Rev. Dr. Jonathan Edwards, and they were united in opposing those who rejected the revivals of that period, and also in opposing those whose extravagances brought those revivals into disrepute. Dr. David Hall was one of the candidates for the presidency of Princeton college, N. J., at the time Dr. Jonathan Edwards was elected to that office. Dr. Hall's ministry was a useful as well as a long one; the people were well united and were built up; the number added during his minstry was 459; his salary was to be £100, "at the present value of paper money;" this led to continual trouble; it was often difficult to ascertain how much was his due; the town also gave him a deed in fee simple of 130 acres of land and materials for building his house. The likenesses of Dr. and Mrs. Hall are both in the history of Sutton.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall died Aug. 7, 1803, æ. 90. Her Bulkley pedigree is as follows:

1. Robert, lord of Bulkeley Manor, Cheshire county, England. He was one of the old English barons under King John who died 1216. 2. William de Bulkeley. 3. Edward, John and Elizabeth, who m. Rev. Joseph Emerson of Mendon, and Concord, Mass. Peter Bulkeley, lived nine years a widower, and then m., 2d, Grace, dau. of Sir Richard Chitwood by whom he had Gershom, b. in New London, Conn., soon afterlanding, coming from England, and afterwards Peter and a daughter. He was a very distinguished non-conformist minister, and had preached 21 years in England, and was when he emigrated about 52 years of age. The Indians called him "the man of big prayer." 14. Peter Bulkeley Esq., of Concord. 15. Rebeckah or Rebecca, the mother of Mrs. Elizabeth (Prescott) Hall.

NOTE. The Prescott pedigree is traced back nearly perfect, by Mrs. Mary E. Hall, of Brookline, Mass. to 1192, when they were witnesses to deeds of land conveyed to Whalley Abby.

James Prescott, who was living in 1574, married Elizabeth Standish, and they were ancestors of John Prescott, of Lancaster, Mass., and of James Prescott, of Hampton, Mass. (See also part 1st, Prescott Memorial.)

She was then an orphan of only 15 years of age. She d. Feb. 21, 1843, æ. 72 years. Mr. Hall received a good early education. the month of May, 1776, he procured enlisting orders from Lt. E. F. Payne, of the Randolph, of Charlestown, S. C., a protection ship of 20 guns. Payne had promised Hall a lieutenancy in the marine department if he would enlist 15 men for the sea service at Charleston. Mr. Hall soon succeeded in enlisting in Barnstable Co., 29 men and a boy. After suitable preparations had been made he set sail in the Eagle a ship of 20 guns, from Stonington harbor in the month of June. They met with success at first capturing three prizes, two of which were conveyed by Payne to Boston, but the paisoners on board the other overpowered the crew, and sailed to Glasgow, Scotland, where Lt. Hall was imprisoned, on being released April, 1777, he made his way home through Ireland, Barbadoes and Virginia, to Philadelphia, and to Yarmouth with a very sad experience, Feb. 22, 1778. Mr. Hall soon after commenced the study of law at Barnstable, in the office of Mr. Shearjashub Bourne, In 1782, he removed to Vermont, and settled in Westminister, where he was secretary pro. tem., of the State Council that year. He was chosen in 1789, 1791, 1792, 1808, to represent the town in the general assembly. With Paul Brigham, Samuel Hitchcock and Lemuel Chipman, he was appointed a presidential elector by the general assembly in 1792, and with his colleagues cast the vote of the State for George Washington and John Adams. By an act of general assembly, passed on the 1st of Nov., 1800, incorporating Middlebury College, he was constituted a fellow of that institution and served in that capacity until his death. In 1799, he was a member of the council of censors; from 1794 to 1801, he was a judge of the Supreme Court of the State. He discharged the duties of this office with great fidelity and credit; a charge which he delivered to the grand jury of Windham county in 1798, was considered at the time "as replete with sound principles and honorable to its author as a politician, as a scholar, and as an ardent federalist," Dr. John A. Graham observed of Mr. Hall in 1797, "he fills the office of Supreme Judge in such a manner as to reflect honor even on a more important station;" while on the bench his opinions were prepared with deliberation, and his decisions were ever based on justice and right. His legal abilities were of a high order, and were well suited ' to the times and people among whom he lived. His memory was so wonderfully tenacious as to make him master of every subject he heard or read and enabled him to recapitulate them without the slightest hesitation, and illustrate whatever topic he might have under consideration. This remarkable faculty, combined with an extensive experience of men and things, and an affible disposition rendered his conversation both agreeable and instructive. As a friend, Mr. Hall was constant, confiding and generous; as a citizen, patriotic, public spirited, and liberal; as a husband, obliging, affectionate, and gentle; he was ever ready to assist the poor in their misery, and the afflicted in their suffering; nothing aroused more fully his resentment than the oppression of the weak by the strong; his life was an active one, and his influence was extensively felt; while attending general assembly at Montpelier in the autumn of 1808, he was seized with a violent catarrhal affection which assumed an incurable form and caused his death in the middle of the next May. (See B. H. Hall's Eastern Vermont). Children were:

Charles Hall was a close student; he commenced the study of medicine with Dr. Badger, of Westminster, Vt., in 1809; graduated at the medical department of Dartmouth College, 1811. Dr. Hall spent much of his time while a student in the office of his cousin Dr. Nathan Smith, professor of surgery at the time in Dartmouth College. He commenced the practice of medicine at Swanton Falls, Vt., in 1812; removed to St. Albans in 1820; and to Burlington in 1842. was very enthusiastic in the pursuit of his professional labors; had a peculiar aptitude in devising means to meet emergencies. As a surgeon he was unusually successful. Dr. Hall wrote a good deal on medical and other topics, but through diffidence only a few of his articles were published; among such might be mentioned his essay on "Epidemic Erysipelas," and a long and able article on "Fevers of the Champlain Valley," from the former of these works published about the year 1843, and critically reviewed by the American Journal of the medical sciences, our standard authors upon the subject of erysipelas have liberally quoted both in this country and Great Britain, evincing their appreciation of his skill as an observer as well as his truthfulness as a theoretical writer. Such an honorable mention of his "Word Spoken in Season" was not surmised in the slightest degree by Dr. Hall while living; for such was his extreme diffidence in appearing before the public as a medical writer, that it was with great difficulty he could be prevailed upon to publish the work from which these quotations were made, and which has done such honor to his memory as a medical observer. He was a member of the Franklin Co and State Medical Societies of Vermont, the former of which he joined in 1813; he was also an honored member of the masonic fraternity. The doctor was considered a healthy man and strictly temperate in his habits. During his residence in St. Albans and Burlington, he wielded the pen unflinchingly in the cause of temperance. He also delivered many lectures upon temperance, some of which were published in the local papers of the two places. Dr. Hall was a dignified though very genial man, erect in figure and very muscular, full six feet in height, of florid complexion, and possessing an energy in the pursuit of his professional duties seldom met with. At the time of his death he was a member of the Protestant Episcopal church. The commencement of Dr. Hall's last sickness was Nov. 25, 1847, and he died Dec. 3, 1847 at Burlington, and was buried at St. Albans. In 1826, the late Prof. Dr. Edwin Hall of Auburn, while a member of Middlebury College taught an academy at St. Albans and boarded with Dr. Charles Hall but they were both ignorant of any family connection between them. (Family 132.) Lucy Hall<sup>6</sup>, pedigree as above: b. Oct., 1797; d. Sept., 1850; m., Sept., 1820, her cousin Dr. David S. C. H. Smith; residence Sutton (see Family 120); I was at his house in 1846; he was a tall, erect, broad shouldered man, brown hair, gray-blue eyes and florid complexion, intelligent and benevolent; his wife was a small slim woman of a darkish complexion; their daughters were splendid specimens of the brunette and the blond; the elder was teaching school and looked very learned and wise as well as good, she gave me, at my request her Hall pedigree, with the names of the children of each family in the direct line; the other was very much like her father, little did I then think that they would pass away so soon. He was especially fond of Maria, and her loss and the loss of his whole family aggravated his deep dejection which, formerly came upon him occasionally, and in his sadness he found no consolation in the blessed doctrine of a glorious immortality; accustomed to investigate the things which are seen, he could not believe in the unseen. To mitigate his grief in part, he married again, and again she was taken from him by death; a third time he took a companion, and she died; and last of all he too passed away. Children were:

1. Sarah Chase, b. July 17, 1822; m., Aug. 29, 1847, David N. Hall, Esq., of St. Louis, Mo., where she d. Jan. 13, 1849, and he d. Y., 1816; m., Dec. 17, 1706 hi 1795, Rebecca, dau. of Peter Parker, from Torrington, Conn., and sister of John C. Parker, Esq., of North Granville, N. Y., and of Judge Nathaniel Parker, of Whitehall, and sister of the first wife of Judge Nathaniel Hall, of Whitehall, N. Y. She was a remarkable woman, tall and graceful in her manners, with a countenance which expressed force of character, tempered with intelligence and benignity, she was dignified and self possessed; and performed the duties and bore the labors of her busy life with fortitude, diligence, order, and patience; she survived her husband, and enjoyed a comfortable, serene, and beautiful old age Ira Hall graduated at Dartmouth College, 1793, and settled at Middle Granville, N. Y.; he was a physician of eminence in his profession, and was especially skilled in the treatment of fevers; he was a man of great force of character, too much so to allow of his being very conciliatory, and was very profane in his language, when excited, agreeably or disagreeably; but he was a man of deep thought and held the good of the community of high importance; he was a life long friend to the minister, Rev. Nathaniel Hall, who was a distant kinsman and a college friend; and they worked together in establishing and sustaining a higher grade of school in their village; Dr. Hall established himself in Granville, previous to the coming of Rev. Mr. Hall, and probably had a good deal to do in securing his settlement, as pastor of the church in that place; they lived about one mile from each other, Dr. Hall lived at the south part and Rev. Mr. Hall at the north part of the village and both lived upon farms, which they improved. Dr. Hall lived on what is called the Deliverance Rogers farm, and when he sold it to Mr. Rogers he reserved a lot for a burying ground; he afterwards lived on and owned the farm where his grandson Silas Hall now lives, and there he died. Children were:

1. Dan, b. Nov. 11, 1796; d. in infancy. 2. Ira, b. March 14, 1798 (Family 198). 3. Silas, b. March 19, 1800; d. about 1862; m. "His was a busy and eventful life, and largely identified with the cotton manufacturing interest, and its progress for the last half century. His father removed from Mansfield with his large family to Willimantic in April, 1825, when Gardner commenced work in the Windham Manufacturing Company's mill, where he remained several years. He then went to Newport where he started and run the spinning department, at the Perry mill; remaining two or three years, after which he returned to his former employment at Willimantic, thence to the old Duck mill, run by Dea. Samuel Hill, and after about eight years he assumed the position of superintendent of the mill at Stafford Hollow, of which he was part owner, but after a few years he sold out and assumed the duties of agent of the stone mill at Rockville, from thence he removed to South Willington, where he built, and equipped a factory for manufacturing cotton wadding, which was afterwards changed into a thread factory, having two partners; afterwards he removed to Willimantic and became superintendent of the new thread mill, which he conducted with such success, that the firm built another mill, the largest and best in the country, and tenement houses, all out of the profits of the previous seven years. Mr. Hall then went again to South Willington and formed a business partnership with his son Gardner Hall, Ir., and his son-in-law, John Champlin, for the manufacture of cotton thread, and the firm succeeded in building up a large and successful business. During Mr. Hall's residence in Willington he has represented the town in the Legislature, and served a term as county commissioner; and also held other offices of honor and trust. He was a man of fine abilities, strict integrity, a kind neighbor, and withal very benevolent. His remains were brought to Willimantic for interment. He left a wife and five children.

(Family 199.) EDWIN HALL<sup>7</sup>, Ira<sup>6</sup>, Nathaniel<sup>5</sup>, Nathaniel<sup>4</sup>, Theophilas<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Granville, N. Y., 1802; d. at Auburn, N. Y., 1877; m., Sept. 2, 1828, Fanny, dau. Isaac Hollister, of Granville, N. Y.; who was a son of Joseph Hollister of Colchester, Conn., Isaac, was b. Jan. 6, 1766, and lived to a great age. Edwin Hall was early taught the Westminster Catechism, which formed the basis of his theological views and Christian teaching in his official life; in 1811, he began the study of Latin in company with his brother Silas and life long friend Willis Hall; they had the privilege of a select school in their own district, winters, generally taught by a college graduate, and during the summer of ----, Edwin and Willis walked two miles five days in a week to recite Latin to Henry Slade, a law student, at Granville corners; they commenced the study of Virgil in 1813, but during that year Edwin's father was taken ill of a disease which proved fatal in three years; during this period Edwin acted as office clerk waiting upon him and his patients; in this office warmed by a stove he slept upon a buffalo skin studying the most part of every night, all winter; he thus read the whole of Virgil's Æneid, and as a very natural consequence was sick all next summer. His father had designed to send him to Dartmouth College, but on his death, plans were of necessity changed, therefore Edwin abandoned study and went to work on the farm, left by his father, which was to be his own; in 1818, he taught school in a back district of his native town at eight dollars a month; the next year he applied for a school in another back district at nine dollars a month, but was refused as being too young; he immediately started for the west district of the next town on the west, Hartford, and made an engagement to teach there at eleven dollars a month, half money and half corn; in those districts school teachers boarded gratuitously at the houses of the children; this district was the native place of Hosea Ballou, for a long time during the first half of this century the great champion and oracle of Universalism in New England; here young Hall was constantly assailed with the doctrine in the families where he boarded; this led him to search the Bible for the purpose of defending himself from such assaults; for he was then, as ever afterwards ready to contend earnestly for the faith in which he had early been instructed.

The next winter he taught school in Whitehall, twelve miles from home, where he had two uncles; there he had one hundred and twenty-three scholars. After serving out his term of six months he returned home and to work on the farm; soon after which a revival of religion commenced, of which he was a subject; he was at once active and zealous in persuading others to come to Christ; but his purpose of making farming his life work was not unchanged, until Willis Hall returned from his first year's study in Middlebury College and found his friend Edwin over the hill, a mile from the house, with a voke of cattle drawing stone for a wall fence; here he laid it on Edwin's conscience with earnest and convincing words that it was his duty to enter at once upon a course of study in preparation for the ministry. Here was an unconverted man preaching duty most eloquently and successfully to a christian; and, although it cost that christian a great sacrifice, he yielded to the dictates of duty; and in three weeks they both set out together for Castleton Academy; Willis to prepare to enter as sophomore at Yale, and Edwin as freshman at Middlebury. They boarded and slept together; here they were under the tuition of Mr. Howe, previously a tutor in Middlebury College, an accomplished teacher, who had some twenty students preparing for college; of these eight took the valedictory or highest honor at different colleges; four at Middlebury, two of whom were Edwin Hall and his cousin John M. Parker, afterward Judge of the Supreme Court of New York; two at Yale, Willis Hall and Rev. Dr. Henry A. Boardman, of Philadelphia; one at Williams, and one at the University of Vermont. Rev. Dr. Conant, the famous Bible translator, was also one of Mr. Howe's students at this time. At the close of the school year Edwin Hall passed the best examination, and out of all the brilliant galaxy of his associate students was honored with the valedictory oration. During the year he had worked two months at home in harvest, and in the remaining ten months he had read the whole of. Virgil, thirteen orations of Cicero, the Graca Minora, the whole of the Greek testament and two books of Homer, and was ready at examination to recite any part of it as fluently as his spelling book. This is beyond the power of any to do except prodigies of genius. In 1822, at the age of 20 years, he entered Middlebury College. The same zeal and amazing capacity for successful study followed him there. He not only mastered the studies in the college course, but also studied French, German, Spanish, Hebrew and extra mathematics. His linguistic genius displayed itself in reading a book in Italian without grammar or dictionary. But his zeal consumed him. He suffered a profuse bleeding of the lungs; he then gave up whatever he did not regard as essential to the work of the ministry. Half of his freshman year he spent at Castleton in assisting Mr. Howe in the academy, at the same time studying more than his college course required. His extra studies during the freshman year were Curtin's

History of Alexander in Greek, Herodotus; Longinus, Lucretius' de Natura Puram, Ovid's Metamorphoses, and Blair's Rhetoric. During his sophomore year he carried off the honors awarded to that class. Towards the close of his junior year he accepted an invitation to teach the academy at Norwalk, Conn., at a salary of $450 a year. Willis Hall had recommended his friend Edwin to be his successor as "the only scholar he could never beat, but who always beat him." At this academy, besides teaching successfully the studies preparatory to entering college, he also taught studies entirely new to him, which he of course had first to study up for himself. He also fully kept up his college studies. It is not strange that at the end of the second quarter he found his strength failing and sought to be released by the trustees. To this they reluctantly consented. He immediately returned to college, where his health suffered severely during the remainder of the academic year. At the close of his college course he received the highest honor of his class, some of whom became eminent men, and one of them president of the Senate of the United States. He prepared his valedictory oration and it was accepted by the faculty. Being thus free for the vacation allowed his class immediately preceding their graduation, and being much in need of funds, he engaged to work on a farm at $14 a But almost immediately he was seized, at Whitehall, with hemorrhage of the lungs, brought very low, and on commencement day was not expected to live. His oration was read by a classmate. The older physicians pronounced his case hopeless, when we find that he fell into the hands of a young physician, who bled him in both arms till he fainted, and then nearly starved him. This, with many like occurrences in his life, show his great stock of inherent vitality. His bleeding continued by turns for nearly three months. All hope of his being ever able to preach was abandoned by himself and his friends; but finding it necessary to do something to get bread, he took the academy at St. Albans, Vt.; he was still unable to read so much as one verse in the Bible aloud. His school, though at first small, grew to be a large one. Before the end of the year, however, he was appointed a tutor in Middlebury College, which he accepted, and gave the entire instruction to the freshman class, hearing three recitations daily. During the year he spent at Middlebury College as tutor, he pursued a course of theological studies according to the sylabus of Dr. Leonard Woods, Prof. of Theology at Andover, also considerable Hebrew. And being examined by Drs. Beman and Tucker, of Troy, was licensed to preach the gospel by the Presbytery of Trov.

He then engaged the Middlebury Academy for two years, during which time he preached almost every Sabbath mostly in destitute churches for which he scarcely received twenty dollars. And he received calls to several important pulpits in Vermont which he declined to accept. He purposed to go west, but before he was ready, he accepted an invitation to preach as stated supply at Glens Falls and Sandy Hill, N. Y., on the Hudson. His short ministry was much blessed and attended with a revival, in which he was assisted by young ministers from among his former associates. He and another started on a missionary tour to Chester, thirty miles off, in what was then a lumber region near the head of Lake George. On their way they stopped at Caldwell, at the head of the lake, and county seat of Warren county, where there was not a praying man nor any stated public worship, the Methodists having been even stoned away. Mr. Hall preached in the Court House which was filled with people, a revival began and a church was organized. Mr. Hall afterwards often visited and preached for this people, and when once going to the place he was thrown from his horse and dragged with his foot in the stirrup expecting every moment to be killed, but no man is immortal until his work is done, he was rescued very providentially, but no longer able to preach. Just then he accepted an invitation from the Presbytery of Newark to teach their academy at Bloomfield. his health improved and he often preached in New York and also in the neighboring towns. Among his pupils in this school were Chief Justice Whelpley, of New Jersey and Rev. Dr. M. W. Jacobus, professor in Alleghany Theological Seminary and the author of notes on the New Testament, and the last moderator of the Old School General Assembly previous to its union with the New School. But when Mr. Hall's time of service was ended and he wished to seek for a pastorate and he was about to start for the west, he received an invitation from his old friend Hon. Clark Bissell of Norwalk to come there and preach as a candidate. He left Bloomfield for this purpose March, 1832. The result was that he was soon unanimously called to be the pastor of that ancient and important congregation and was duly settled July 18, 1832. The old church and congregation of Norwalk planted as far back as 1650 was one of the very oldest largest and most respectable in the county and state. It had enjoyed a succession of eminent pastors. This "Prime Antient Society" (by which appellation it was known on its own records) had been wont to have among its leaders, men, who were leaders elsewhere, as statesman and jurists. At the time Dr. Hall was pastor, there were several such, one of whom was Judge Bissell of the Supreme Court, governor of the State and professor of law in Yale College. He joined the church in May, 1837. Another was Thaddeus Betts second only to Roger M. Sherman at that bar, if indeed he was second; he was elected to the senate of the United States in 1839 and had become a communicant in Mr. Hall's church Nov., 1837. Another was Thomas B. Butler afterwards chief justice of the State. He was a friend to Mr. Hall and never failed to testify to the profit he gained from his pastors preaching enforced by his life. He joined the church later in life. Still another gifted man the Hon. O. S. Ferry who sat ten years under Mr. Hall's preaching and became a communicant, while yet in his early prime he was sent to the United States senate, and died there during his second term. All these men honored Mr. Hall and never hesitated to avow the satisfaction and profit they derived from his ministrations. But if Mr. Hall had such men at the summit as his parishioners he had also all gradations and varieties to all of whom he made his ministrations, both profitable and acceptable. His sermons were scriptural, instructive, fresh, plain, clear, earnest, pointed and pithy, convincing and persuasive, and thus made their way to the popular heart. In prayer he was simple, fervent, devout and importunate. His forte was especially the opening out of the scriptures in their endless relations and applications for the guidance and conversion of perishing men, and the edification of believers in Christian knowledge and holiness. He devoted special attention to the thorough instruction of the young especially Sabbath school teachers, in the Bible and to indoctrinate them in the shorter catechism. In this work he was very successful, as a result he enjoyed special outpourings of the Holy Spirit every third year of his ministry which usually began in his classes of young people thus instructed. In performing pastoral duties he neglected no house or person on account of disagreeable circumstances ever adapting himself to the humble and ignorant. He was tender and sympathizing with the afflicted and disconsolate.

He left more than a thousand written sermons, besides a large number of plans and skeletons, as monuments of his diligence, to which must be added a vastly greater number of unwritten discourses and addresses whose only record is in the hearts and lives of those who felt their power. He delivered many powerful discourses and addresses, some of which were among the stirring printed tracts of the time, and made himself powerfully felt in behalf of temperance and education. It was a great ministry; and great were its fruits; and many were its seals; he united a large congregation when he came, he left it still larger and no less united. No man can stay in such a congregation twenty-three years with such results who is not high above the average of his profession. He was generally calm in his manner of speaking in the later period of his pastorate, owing to the restraint which he felt necessary to impose upon himself in order to avoid overtasking his lungs; his voice was loud and clear, but not disagreeable to the ear; his calmness of utterance was not owing to any want of impassioned temperament, sometimes he would seem to forget his self restraint and burst forth upon an audience in a torrent, nay cataract of "thoughts that breathe and words that burn." On one occasion in the general association of Connecticut, he became thoroughly roused in view of indifference on the part of some to what he and others deemed assaults on the very fundamentals of the gospel, Rev. Dr. Hewit, himself, when at his best a prince among orators, said, he had heard the greatest of the orators in the English parliament and our own congress, and he had never heard any higher eloquence than in this speech of Dr. Hall's. While at Norwalk, Dr. Hall wrote and published three books; one was a history of the town with genealogies of families. Another was an exposition of the law of baptism as respects mode and subjects, it was written as a defense against the attacks of a baptist minister in a neighboring congregation. The other was a defense against "efforts made to proselyte his young people into other folds, on the ground that the religious body to which they belonged was not a true church and had no valid ministry, sacraments, or Christian rites," the book is "The Puritans and their Principles." These books became very popular and gave their author a high reputation as a distinguished theologian and an expert and powerful controvertiona-He also distinguished himself in the trial concerning Dr. Bushnell's book entitled "God in Christ." He stood high in his ecclesiastical connection among his brethren, not as the result of place, seeking or self-seeking, but it was the result of those qualities which are sure to press their possessor to the front; his great ability, wisdom, judgment, candor, consecration to his Masters cause.

quickly lifted him up to a place among the leaders to whom the people and churches by a sort of instinct look up, and on whom they lean as pillars.

Dr. Hall was pastor of the First Congregational church, Norwalk, Conn., from 1832 to 1855, when he removed to Auburn, N. Y., in obedience to an earnest call from the board of commissioners of Auburn Theological Seminary, and was inaugurated to the chair of Christian Theology, June 20, 1855. He applied himself to his work with characteristic thoroughness and fidelity. His classes were taught to state the doctrines of revelation in the words of the church symbols, and were drilled with unwearied patience in the citation of scripture proofs. His annual examinations as well as the trials of his students for licensure and ordination proved in these respects peculiarly satisfactory to the presbyteries. Within a few years after entering on his work, Prof. Hall prepared and printed for the use of his classes his "Digest of Studies and Lectures in Theology," an admirable and extended sylabus, setting forth with great simplicity and precision the connected truths of Divine revelation. work has been translated into the Chinese tongue as the ground work for theological instruction in China and Japan. In addition to his digest Prof. Hall left in readiness for the press a controversional treatise on metaphysics and outlines in natural theology. In the class room he was punctual, strict and somewhat impatient of dulness or frivilous opposition, quick and sharp in reply, but genial, familiar and always ready to encourage a manly independence in his pupils. Towards the students, in their various difficulties and wants, he displayed the warmest interest; he taxed his ingenuity and influence to provide for their comfort. He had friends of large pecuniary ability, on whom he did not hesitate to call for aid in their behalf, and such was the confidence reposed in his wisdom and integrity that he never called in vain. Prof. Hall kept his own mind fresh by constant study, and was abreast of the progress of philosophical and theological science throughout the world. His piety, the crowning grace of his character, was deep, tender and reverential; his religious addresses to the students were models of affectionate simplicity. Rev. Dr. Atwater, Prof. of Princeton Theological Seminary, and an intimate friend of Prof. Hall, says of him: His great ability as a thinker, scholar and theologian, his eminent fidelity, judgment, tact and success as a pastor, preacher, teacher and professor; his inflexible adherence to truth; his firm conscientiousness and loyalty to his convictions, with catholic charity for those in dissent from him, his exemplary purity of life and manners, coupled with humble and serene hope in Christ, brightened to the last his pathway to the grave, where death itself dies; these, and other traits, which I need not specify, bound him fast in the friendship of the truest men and servants of Christ, and made him a valient, trusted and influential leader in the church. Prof. Hall served the seminary with such strict fidelity that at the end of twenty years he had not failed to meet his classes at every lesson. In November, 1875, he was affected with a slight paralytic shock, from which he so far recovered as to continue giving instruction to his classes till the close of the seminary year, May, 1876, after which he retired from the active duties of the seminary, receiving the title of Emeritus Professor in May, 1876. The only landed property he owned at his death was a lot in the cemetery. On the 7th of September, 1877, he rode to the cemetery and other places, with the two daughters of Dr. Edwards Hall, to the eldest of whom he had committed just before, the youthful and more mature correspondence of his life long friend Willis Hall. That evening he retired to rest as usual, but awoke at 10 o'clock with an oppression of the lungs. He was conscious that the time of his end on earth had come, and rejoicing rather than fearing, he gradually subsided into the repose of death. He ceased to breath at 3 o'clock in the morning. It is remarkable that the death of his friend Willis Hall was very similar to his own in its cause and suddenness; the time of their last hours being from 10 P. M to 3 A. M. They both died in hope of everlasting life in Jesus Christ. They both rest from their labors, and their works do follow them. Children were:

(Family 202.) ALBERT GALLATIN HALL<sup>7</sup>, pedigree as above: b. April 19, 1804; d. Sept. 10, 1871; m., Sept. 26, 1826, Emily Walker, of Whiting, Vt., cousin to Lucy. Mr. Hall went to Rochester in 1828, and became associated with Samuel Chipman in the publication of a religious paper; the next year he became connected with the Third Presbyterian church, and was one of the earliest members; the record of the Sunday school showing that he was an active and earnest worker; he was the first secretary and treasurer, and once or twice chosen superintendent. While engaged in printing he pursued theological studies, and fitted himself for the avocation of a preacher, and in 1835 was ordained and became pastor of the Presbyterian church of Penfield. In February, 1840, he succeeded Rev. Mr. Mack as pastor of the Third church of Rochester, and continued to hold that position, and a high place in the affections of his congregation, and the respect of all christian people, until the time of his death. The church had suffered many vicissitudes and many pastoral changes up to the period when he was installed, but has steadily prospered from that time. No one was more respected and esteemed as a man and a minister; he was recognized as a large-hearted and liberal minded pastor, and his discourses were characterized by great vigor of thought and the thoroughness of their logic. Dr. Hall was very prominent in the labors which led to the re-union of the two branches of the Presbyterian church; in the consumation of which he greatly rejoiced. His circle of acquaintances outside his own church and congregation was very large, and all who knew him will mourn his loss as a wise and good man. The funeral ceremonies were conducted by ministers of several denominations of christians on Tuesday afternoon. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. John C. Lord, of Buffalo, from II Timothy, iv., 7, "I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith." The following are a few extracts from it: "Your late lamented pastor possessed, in an eminent degree, that courage which enabled him to lead rather than to follow public opinion, which led him to embrace and defend a position independent of its popularity. Many a time in this city has he stood almost, if not altogether, alone in opposition to men and measures, with rare courage, resisting even the prevalent feeling in his own congregation, while the event has ordinarily proved his sagacity and increased his influence." Mr. Lord here probably refers more particularly to Mr. Hall's opposition to Rev. Charles G. Finney and his measures. Mr. Finney had held a protracted meeting in this church previous to Mr. Hall's settlement, the effect of which was very great. And Mr. Hall's power, as well as courage, is fully demonstrated by his success in opposing Mr. Finney's measures in the very center of such influence. "Dr. Hall was abhorrent of cant and pretentious claims to superior sanctity; his flashing eye and stern rebuke have often put to silence the ignorance of foolish men. A man of full statue himself, he loved manliness in others, and always respected an opponent who met him with a constancy and courage like his own. With an ardent temperament, and liable to be greatly heated in debate, he cherished no resentments was placable, compassionate, a lover of good men, and a friend of all. With the appearance at times of sternness, he had a most genial nature; he was a companionable and generous man, a fast friend, and a heart and hand open as the day to melting charity." Dr. Hall was a man who never shunned any conflict where truth and righteousness were involved; he did not stop to enquire as to the ability of his adversary or to the probable results of his antagonism.

He held firmly to the old Presbyterian maxim—"duties are ours, events are God's." He was no dumb dog that could not bark; he was no careless watcher on the walls of Zion; he blew the trumpet of warning with no uncertain sound; and when he heard the inquiry of the watchman, "What of the night?" he ever replied with cheerful confidence, "The morning cometh." If any man in western New York has steadily kept the faith without wavering, without fear, without discomfiture, that man was Dr. Hall. He was, as a debator, always influential, sometimes stormy, often eloquent; in the pulpit stern and logical, joining together his premises and his conclusions by an iron chain which could not be broken."

[Extracts from the remarks of Rev. D. McLaran, of Caladonia, who knew Mr. Hall long and well.]

"One of the admirable elements in Dr. Hall's character was his sincerity; he hated pretence. In all he did, all he promised, all he thought, he was sincere. He was a plain, unpretending, upright, true-hearted man. As a man, as a christian, as a minister of Christ, as a sound theologian, as an able defender and expounder of the truth, as a faithful preacher of the everlasting gospel, as a judicious, sympathizing pastor, Dr. Hall was entitled to the confidence and love of our race. Intellectually he was no ordinary man; quick in perception, and penetrating in discernment, he saw at a glance the state of the question, and seldom failed to decide, with readiness and correctness, on which side the truth lay. He was ingenious in the detection of error, and successful in its refutation; bold in proclaiming the truth and fearless in its defence. If he did not always have his harness on, he had it always at hand, and could don it at will; what, though like Saul's armor, it was large and heavy, he fitted it well, and handled it with ease, and never better nor to more effect than when his cause was most surrounded with difficulties, and his opponent most strongly intrenched; it was the truth for which he fought and not the defeat of an opponent; it was the exposure of error and the confounding of iniquity, and not the illumining of his own name; he loved the old truths and order and ways of the church; he loved them for their own sake and their Master's sake, and wholly irrespective of popular suffrage; he cared little for popular favor whenever it placed itself in competition to truth and righteousness. Allow me to say, that after a quarter of a century acquaintance with the subject of these remarks, and a long and extensive acquaintance with the cultivated minds of eastern and western New York, I am fully persuaded of the opinion that Albert G. Hall possessed one of the finest intellects and kindest, truest spirits of our Empire State."

[Extracts from the Presbyterian of Sept. 27, 1871.]

His mind was logical, his style terse and concise, with little rhetoric, he was clear and definite in his statements, apt in illustration and forcible in his appeals. During his earlier ministry the clearness and the strength of his own convictions, with surrounding circumstances, forced him into the arena of religious contest, though his position was negative rather than positive; of defence rather than of attack. He was decidedly but intelligently conservative, firm as adamant in adhering to his views of truth, and stood a rocky rampart, almost alone, between his church and what he deemed dangerous errors. And after the storms of feeling were over, the churches of this region testified to his wisdom by returning to the truths and the methods, to which he always had anchored. He once told me "threats and bribes never moved me, but it was hard to bear the entreaties, and the upbraidings of Christians whom I loved." No ordinary mind could have withstood such a pressure.

[Extracts from the Tribute of a Friend, signed J. D. H.]

Dr. Hall was no ordinary man; he was an intellectual giant, with such mental integrity that logical deduction seemed of spontaneous growth; his vigorous virtue begat peculiarity of thought and inflexibility of purpose, modest to a degree, he was nevertheless, a positive character; all truly great men are peculiar. No threats, nor storms, nor blandishments could induce him to yeild an iota of principle; he was firm to the borders of self-sacrifice, in support of his religious views and doctrines. His sermons were models of clear thought, logical deductions, instructive theology and practical wisdom, enforced by genuine pathos, many of them were bold and original in conception and design, and always self-sustained. When recently he visited San Francisco the stern and honest orthodoxy of this Christian minister in its simple purity drew crowds of eager auditors from that heterogeneous population; he said of himself, "I have always tried to preach the gospel of Jesus, pure and simple, and nothing else." He was always a genial and delightful companion; and a truer, safer friend never trod the earth, save only his Divine Lord. It must not be imagined that he ever lacked the most generous impulses of the soul, indeed his sympathies were so great, and easily touched, that he had a peculiar dread of exhibiting emotion lest he might be overcome and appear unmanly. At times apparent indifference was the result of real deep seated tenderness pent up at the fountain; his large symetrical form contained a heart from which streams of love flowed far beyond its boundaries; his was a heart in which children and childrens' children have often disported themselves in childhoods own joyousness. A biography of his home life would disclose elements of lovliness of character, depth of devotion, instances of discerning delicacy, that would surround his name with golden beauty; in his home life he shone with a luster of which the world knew but little; he was the most watchful, tender, self-sacrificing, and far sighted parent, and grand parent. (Family 227.) THEODORE FRANCIS HALL8, Albert G.7, Nathaniel6, Nathaniel<sup>5</sup>, Nathaniel<sup>4</sup>, Theophilus<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>4</sup>: b. Oct. 20, 1827; d. March 9, 1869; residence Rochester; m., May 17, 1854, Sarah Ray, of Rochester, and had one daughter, Sarah Louisa, b. Feb. 6, 1856, she lives with her mother in Lyons, Wayne Co., N. Y. Mr. Hall was a skillful and beloved physician of Rochester. The peculiar characteristics of his boyhood were filial love, benevolence and gratitude, and these traits grew and ripened with his growth, until in manhood, they drew around him very many devoted friends. He made a profession of his faith, and was admitted to his father's church at the age of sixteen years. He possessed an unusually bright and active mind, and spent his youth in the acquisition of those full stores of knowledge which so eminently qualified him for future usefulness. He graduated at Union College in 1850 and immediately applied himself to the study of medicine, and received the degree of M.D. at the New York Medical College, in 1854, and in the spring of the same year opened an office for the practice of his profession in Rochester and obtained full employment. He was highly esteemed by the public, as well as by his professional brethren as a learned and honorable physician. To his patients he was peculiarly endeared as well by the tender sympathy he manifested, as by the confidence which his skill inspired. He served nine months in the war for the Union as surgeon of the 140th Reg. N. Y. Vols., and was present doing duty at the Battle of Fredericksburgh. On the 25th of Feb., 1869, he was obliged to remain at home on account of an attack of rheumatism, which was supposed to be slight; the disease however developed an inflammatory type, and from day to day increased in severity until he died, in a little over one week. He died in the fulness of his usefulness, and his loss was deeply felt.

He has sent me the record of his grandfather's posterity, and a printed copy of a Hall coat of arms obtained by his father in Liverpool, Eng.; there is no evidence that it belongs to his branch of the Hall family. He has one child:

1. Mary L., b. Aug. 11, 1874.

(Family 234.) CHARLES HALL<sup>9</sup>, pedigree as above: b. Jan. 24, 1845; m., Nov. 28, 1865, Lydia Howes, of East Dennis; he followed the sea, and afterward engaged in manufacturing. Children were:

Joshua Brenard, b. Oct. 4, 1866.
 Blanch E., b. July 7, 1872.
 Susan Howes, b. Feb. 25, 1875.

(Family 235.) CHRISTOPHER W. HALL<sup>9</sup>, pedigree as above: b. Feb. 23, 1847; m., June 1, 1869, Deborah B. Howes, of East Dennis, Mass. Children were:

Christopher, b. Dec. 6, 1870.
 Marion L., b. April 3, 1873.
 Walter L., b. Feb. 21, 1878.

THE POSTERITY OF W'D MARY HALL,

OF CAMBRIDGE AND CONCORD, MASS.

WIDOW MARY HALL, is first mentioned by William Wilcox of Cambridge, in his will made 1653; in which he bequeaths her 20 shillings, and to her son William and daughter Susan 10 shillings each.

She was a member in full communion of the church of Cambridge when William Wilcox made his will, as he calls her "Sister Widow Hall. And Rev. Mr. Mitchell in his new roll of members after the church records were burned in 1658, makes mention of Widow Mary Hall, as a member in full communion, and adds that her children being of adult years when she was admitted, were not baptized, of whom two, John and Susanna have since been admitted to the church of Concord.

In 1662 Widow Mary Hall received a grant of land from the town of Cambridge.

Her son William having died in 1667, she petitioned the court to order a division of his property for her benefit. It appears from the papers found in the probate office at Cambridge, that she had assigned her property to her son William in consideration of her support during her life, and that she lived with him in Concord at the time of his death.

The paper was found on an upper shelf, filed with several others "No. 11-1688, 10-5, petition of Mary Hall of Concord, mother of William, deceased." The 1688 might have been intended for 1668. The paper seems to have been made by an attorney, but signed by her own hand very plainly without any ornamentation, and giving evidence that she was accustomed to use her pen.

It is not known who her husband was, but tradition asserts that he came with his family in the same ship with his brother John, to Charlestown, Mass., in 1630, descendants of the two families, settled in Sutton, Mass., and in Granville, N. Y., have claimed a relationship to each other. There is no name of Hall, on any of the early records of Massachusetts which gives any probability of being his, except that of "Mr. Nathaniel Hall" to whom the town of Dorchester assigned Sept. 1, 1634, a lot of three acres which had been previously assigned to Capt. Lovell. This is the only time that the name of "Mr. Nathaniel Hall" is mentioned in any of the records. The honorable prefix of Mr. (which was accorded to only a very few) shows that he held a very respectable rank in society.

The names of the children of Widow Mary Hall appear to have been as follows: I. John, b. about 1626 or 7 (See Halls of Medford). 2. Susanna, member of the church of Concord. 3. William who lived in Concord in 1653, and m. there Oct. 14, 1758, Sarah Merriam and d. March 10, 1667, leaving no children. 4. Stephen, who lived in Concord; m., Dec. 3, 1663, and removed to Stow (See Halls of Stow); and it is somewhat probable that Isabel Hall who m. Francis Whitmore, of Cambridge, b. 1625, was the dau. of Widow Mary Hall. Francis Whitmore was a kinsman to Thomas Whitmore or Wetmore who m. Sarah, dau. of John Hall of Middletown, Conn.

It is to be hoped that something more may be found in the records of Massachusetts, concerning Widow Mary Hall and Mr. Nathaniel Hall. Perhaps something satisfactory might be found in the records of Coventry, Warwickshire, England.

If any doubt should arise on examining the records of Coventry concerning Widow Mary Hall or Mr. Nathaniel Hall having lived there, the records of St. Edmuns Berry where William Wilcox came from, and where Bishop Joseph Hall lived, might be examined with a possibility of success.

The Hall family of Warwickshire is not as old a family as that of Kent.

HALLS OF MEDFORD.

(PART FIRST.)

The emigrant ancestor was

(Family 1.) John Hall, son of Widow Mary Hall, of Cambridge. He was born in England, 1627; died in Medford, Mass., Oct. 18, 1701, æ. 74 years; m., April 2, 1656, Elizabeth, dau. of Percival and Ellen Green, of Cambridge. John Hall took the oath of fidelity in Middlesex Co., 1652, and in the same year the town of Cambridge apportioned to him 20 acres of church land in Billerica. He resided in Concord, Mass., several years previous to 1667 when he returned to Cambridge, and in 1675 removed to Medford, about eight miles from Boston, where he purchased a farm of Caleb Hobert, June 27, 1675, and gave a mortgage on it the same day for £260, and which he paid May 2, 1681.

The records of Medford begin in 1674, but very little is written before 1677, when John Hall was chosen constable and selectman, which at that time were the most important offices of the town.

Dea. Thomas Willis and John Hall were chosen selectmen, March 12, 1690. In 1699 John Hall made his will, dividing his large landed estate between his sons, who were to pay his daughter's portions in money, and his widow Elizabeth had rights reserved for her during her life, and had the use of a portion of the house and cellar; Stephen and Thomas had the house and land near it; the house was situated a few rods east of the railroad depot in West Medford, and was demolished many years ago, and the old cellar filled up in 1876; Daniel A. Gleason who married a descendant of John Hall, owns a house and lot in Medford near where the old house stood.

In the old burying ground in Medford, is a thick slate gravestone about as wide as it is high, and arched at the top, in the arch is a death's head, under which stands an hour glass, flanked by two winged figures; at one of the upper corners is written "Memento Mori," at the other "Fugit hora," and on the body of the stone is engraved as follows: "Here lies the body of John Hall, aged 74 years,
Died the 18th of Oct., 1701.

The memory of the Just is blessed."

By the side of this stone is another on which is engraved "In memory of Elizabeth, wife of John Hall, who died Feb. 4, 1713, in the 74th year of her age."

And on the other side of the first mentioned stone is a smaller one "In memory of William Hall aged 19 years who died Jan. 4, 1683."

For these descriptions and others in Medford grave yard, we are indebted to Miss Lydia R. Stone, of Medford.

Children of John and Elizabeth Hall were: Ass. 12 Tokens.

1. Elizabeth, b. July 18, 1658; m., John Oldham. 2. John, b. Dec. 13, 1660 (Family 2). 3. William, b. about 1664; d. Jan. 4, 1683, æ. 19 years. 4. Nathaniel, b. May 7, 1666 (Family 3).

Susanna, b. Aug., 1696. 4. Sarah, b. Sept. 8, 1698. 5. Tabitha, b. Nov. 9, 1699; m, Sept. 16, 1723, William Branford. 6. William, b. Jan. 4, 1704; in his will probated Oct. 21, 1784, he gave one-half of his property to William Hall Blanchard, and the other half to John Bishop and John Bishop, Jr.

(Family 4.) STEPHEN HALL<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. 1670; d. Sept. 3, 1755, æ. 85; m., 1st, Elizabeth —; d. May 14, 1716, æ. 42; m., 2d, Elizabeth, dau. of Timothy and Elizabeth Fowle, b. Sept. 28, 1681; d. Feb. 3, 1764; she had been m., March 2, 1699, to Timothy Walker, of Woburn; b. June 16, 1672; d. June 19, 1706; they were the parents of Elizabeth, m., Capt. John Hall, and of Abigail, m. Andrew Hall; Stephen Hall resided on the homestead in Medford, was a lieutenant; he made his will July 26, 1750, in which he gave all of his property to his wife during her life, after her decease it was to go to his son Stephen, except £46, 135. 4d., which was to go to his daughter Mary and her heirs, the executors of his will were his son Stephen and Stephen Hall, Jr., probably the son of John Hall, Jr. Children were:

1. Mary, b. April 17, 1719. 2. Stephen, b. Aug., 1721 (Family 11) (Part fifth). 3. Sarah, b. Oct. 14, 1724; d. Aug. 20, 1725. 4. Elizabeth, b. Dec. 19, 1728; d. Sept. 9, 1749.

(Family 5.) Percival Hall, John: b. in Cambridge, Feb. 11, 1672; d. in Sutton, Mass., Dec. 25, 1752, æ. 80 years; m., in Woburn, Oct. 18, 1697, Jane, dau. of Thomas and Grace (Tay) Willis, b. Oct., 1677, d. Oct. 28, 1757, æ. 80 years (see Note on Willis family). Percival Hall, of Medford, owned the covenant of the church of Cambridge in order to have his children baptized; and son Percival was baptized Nov. 20, 1608; he and his wife were admitted to full communion Dec. 31, 1699; he was one of the founders of the church of Medford, Feb. 11, 1713, and was chosen deacon in place of his father-in-law Thomas Willis, who resigned on account of old age, March 9, 1720. He was proprietor of Sutton in 1720, and removed to that place in the fall of 1720, or in the following spring; was dismissed from the church of Medford, Dec. 3, 1721, and with his wife was admitted to the church of Sutton, the same month, and not long after was chosen the 2d deacon of that church; he became a very prominent and efficient man in both church and town affairs. He appeared to be the chief means of the settlement of his kinsman Rev. David Hall, from Yarmouth, over the church of Sutton; he was a very large landed proprietor, and represented the town in General Court (see History of Sutton). His grandson Jonathan Hall, of Windsor, Vt, said "that he was a short, thick man, and a great worker." His grave is near that of his son Willis in the burying ground near the meeting house in Sutton Center, but there is no grave stone erected to his memory. Those of his posterity who feel an interest in having a suitable monument set up at his grave will do well to write to Gardner Hall, of Sutton, on the subject. His children were:

NOTE. THE WILLIS FAMILY. The name is written on the records of Cambridge, Willow, Willows, and Willoes, the name should be spelled Willow, and is quite another name than Wyllys, which is generally spelled Willis. But his descendants prefer to be called Willis rather than Willow. George Willow (Willis) the emigrant ancestor was born in England about 1602, and came to Cambridge about 1628, although the formation of the town was not until 1630. In 1688 he stated that he was 86 years old and had lived in Cambridge 60 years. He m., 1st., Widow Jane Palphry, the mother of John Palphry, some of whose descendants have been men of distinction; m., 2d, Sarah ----, who survived him. (Family 48.) EDWARD BROOKS HALL<sup>6</sup>, pedigree as above: b. in Medford, Sept. 2, 1800; d. in Providence, R. I., March 3, 1866; m., 1st., Harriet, dau. of Rev. Henry Ware, Prof. in Harvard University; m., 2d, 1840, Louisa Jane, dau. of Dr. John Park, b. in Newburyport, Mass., Feb. 7, 1802; her father opened a school for young ladies in Boston in 1811, in which she received a thorough education; she contributed poetry to the newspapers in 1822; she afterwards published books of poetry, one of which is Joanna of Naples; her father removed to Worcester in 1831.

The following sketch of Rev. Edward B. Hall's life is selected from his biography, published in a small volume of his sermons:

"Edward Brooks Hall was born in Medford, Sept. 2, 1800; and was named from his maternal grandfather Rev. Edward Brooks, of North Yarmouth. He was a lineal descendant of Rev. John Cotton, who was the second minister of the first church in Boston. As a boy his whole heart was given to play; but in Nov., 1815, he found his mother very desirous that he should go to college, and accordingly made an immediate and entire change in his habits. Although his father's house stood on the square, where the voices of his companions could assail him with frequent temptation, he shut himself up with a determination to fit himself for Harvard in nine months. His teacher, Mr. Convers Francis, told him it was almost impossible; but he accomplished it, and entered college honorably in the following August; so passed out of boyhood with the conscientious perseverance which marked his whole after life. Reserved in his habits, because compelled to study closely for all that he gained, he formed few intimacies; but Rev. Dr. Furness, Rev. Dr. Gannott and Rev. Calvin Lincoln were classmates, for whom his attachment only increased with years. While in college he found his affections strongly drawn toward the study of divinity, but he was induced to become a teacher for a year, in a place called Garrison Forest, about ten miles from Baltimore, "a happy year" he always called it. We find this entry in his private note book: "I am now at Cambridge, studying divinity—the study of all others most important, the solemnity and awful responsibility of which I fear I have not sufficiently felt. I tremble to think I may bring to the altar of God unfit bonds and earthly affections." And throughout his private notes we find continual utterances of the deepest humility, with supplications for divine help.

On being approved for the ministry he writes " How is it that I can summon courage to engage in the public duties of my profession, I hardly know, I seem to be urged on by some singular impulse. still hope and pray that I may be made better by the very duties before me, and do resolve firmly and humbly, that I will henceforth do all I can to advance the interests of true religion." On the 16th of Aug., 1826, he was ordained over the new Unitarian Society in Northampton, their first pastor; his ordination having been delayed some months, by his ill health. Here he preached for three years, during which his appearance is thus described by one who heard him often: "We recall with gratitude to-day the pleadings of his mild voice, and the pathos of his invalid appearance; for his face glowed with a half consumptive hectic, round which a halo of light and curling hair played in clusters; tall and thin, he seemed to us preaching over his own grave, and to bring a solemnity and directness to the work which one soon to pass within the veil might naturally use." On the 30th of Oct., 1826, he was married, by the Rev. Dr. Kirkland, to Harriet Ware, a worthy member of a family distinguished for intellect and goodness. His health failing again, he was compelled to resign his parish, to quit the warm friends he had made and leave his wife with her two young children to struggle bravely with many difficulties; he went to Cuba with his younger brother, the late Rev. Nathaniel Hall, of Dorchester, whose conscientious purpose to quit a business life for the ministry he had heartily encouraged. Benefitted in health he reached home just in time to look once more on the face of his first born, a beautiful boy, only two years old, already laid in his coffin. He then went with his wife to Cincinnati where he took charge of the Unitarian Society for nearly a year with great acceptance; there his son Edward Henry was born, now pastor of a Unitarian Society in Worcester, Mass. He was preaching for a time at Grafton, Mass., where he had formed a church, when he received a call from the First Congregational Society of Providence, R. I., with some misgivings as to his strength for such labor, he accepted it and was installed Nov. 4, 1832. From that time his indefatigable devotion to work was seldom interrupted by ill heath; although he had destroyed hundreds of his early sermons, he left many hundreds, a large portion of which he had preached only once, or, at most, twice, during his long ministry; with all his writing he kept up with the times in reading, and was a thorough pastor, visiting his people so familiarly and genially that he became the sharer of their joys and sorrows, and was always to be found beside the sick, the anxious and the bereaved; no fear of infection kept him from those suffering from terrible and contagious maladies. His own domestic trials were not few; not long after settling in Providence, he buried two young sons; and in June, 1838, his noble wife was taken from him by an illness of a few hours only, leaving as mourners all who knew her.

In Oct., 1840, he married Louisa Jane, the eldest dau. of Dr. John Park, of Boston, whose able labors had a decided and permanent influence on female education in that city, and who then had retired to Worcester; by her he had one dau. named, Harriet Ware, still living. In 1850, he was sent as delegate to the peace convention at Frankfort on the Maine, and returned to watch the decline of a most promising son just entering manhood; on the day of the funeral, the last day of Dec., he said quietly "To speak to my people will be my duty and my comfort;" and went from the cemetery into the pulpit to preach his customary occasional sermon, made more impressive by the tokens of his suppressed grief. The community in which he lived recognized his wisdom and fidelity, so that his advice was much sought, and his time often claimed by duties outside of his profession; he served for twenty years on the school committee, and was one of the trustees of the noble Brown University, though holding different religious opinions from his brother officers. He aided his first wife heartily in establishing the Employment Society, still thriving; he was almost the father of the Ministry at Large, still doing its blessed work; he was the warm friend of another Harriet Ware (bearing the same name, though not related to his wife), who from humble beginnings, founded what is now the admirable Home for Friendless Children, the Shelter of Colored Children, the Bethel, the Home for Aged Females, in short, almost every good work undertaken in the prosperous and generous community, had the benefit of his counsel and zealous aid. A clergyman who came a stranger to the city remarked "I cannot inquire into one of your many charities without finding Dr. Hall concerned in it."

He was once president of the American Unitarian Association, and while entirely free from sectarian bitterness, always just to antagonists, and cherishing personal friendships with members of other denominations, he wrote some doctrinal tracts-one "On the Atonement," "What is it to be a Unitarian?" which are still considered able and useful; he preached anti-slavery when it was unpopular; law and order when the State of Rhode Island was torn with popular discord; temperance, righteousness and judgment to come, at all times, boldly; and when the great rebellion broke out he cheerfully consented that his two remaining sons, both of whom had entered the ministry, should expose themselves in the good cause. Ware Hall, the youngest, took a fatal cold at Newbern, and fell a victim to hardships his constitution could not endure; although, after leaving the army, he taught faithfully at St. Helena, in spite of suffering; he came home in August, 1864, only to die; he was greatly beloved, and his father mourned as he had only once mourned before, yet he still set the example of that christian resignation he taught. Although of grave aspect, and always, in the pulpit and out, bearing with him much personal dignity, Dr. Hall was of a joyous temperament, sustained by a deep undercurrent of pious faith; he believed that christianity must make the heart glad; so his winning smile and cheerful words rendered him always welcome to young and old. Under his influence and encouraged by his enthusiasm for his profession, a number of young men were led, at different times, to enter the ministry; and of those eight went from his society in Providence. In theology he was emphatically a liberal conservative, resting his faith on the gospel, and looking to Jesus Christ as his master. He once remarked, "I believe that I hold the truth, at least I cannot see things differently, but I know that I am fallible, and that others may have got hold of the truth, which I have not." Therefore, although he sometimes grieved over what seemed to him errors, he never allowed himself to feel anger or contempt for those who honestly differed from him; of old orthodoxy or young radicalism he never spoke with harshness, only with regret and hope. In October, feeling the infirmities of age and ill health, he thought some younger man would serve the congregation better, and therefore announced that he should resign his pastorate at the end of April next (1866); he consequently made preparations for leaving the parsonage. had once remarked, "I should like to die in this house, and pastor of this people." It did not seem as if the wish would be granted; but his sight was now failing rapidly, and he had nocturnal attacks of faintness, but no palpitation of the heart. On returning from church on the last night of the year, it was Sunday, he thus wrote in his note book, "A solemn thought that this is probably the last time I shall ever hold this service as pastor; in two hours as eventful a a year as I ever have known, publicly or privately, will close its record; God forgive the sins, and accept the feeble services of this year, and my life. Farewell to 1865."

In January, 1866, his physician forbade him to use his eyes. None who heard him can forget the impressiveness of his service, when on two successive Sundays, having committed the hymns and chapters to memory, and preached extempore, he went through the whole without book or note. His last text was from his Master's words "Judge not" and most fervently did he enjoin upon his people to suspect no man's motives, and to judge charitably of words and actions. His distress for breath continued to increase, and the doctors on consultation decided that he had enlargment of the heart. He received this unexpected intelligence with perfect calmness, and although not expecting to die so soon he made preparation for that event. His last act was about three o'clock in the afternoon of March 3, 1866, when he dictated a letter giving the copy right of his memoir of Mary Ware, to the American Unitarian Association, signing blindly but legibly. He then insisted on his wife retiring to get some sleep, seeming much distressed about her broken nights, and she left him with his daughter. As he was sitting in an armed chair and had repeated two or three verses of favorite hymns with great difficulty, when his daughter saw a change pass over his face; he sprang up and before she could reach him, the life had gone out from his eyes and he fell senseless on the floor of that study, where he had so happily toiled for nearly thirty years; the laboring heart had stopped; he had left all pain and sorrow behind and gone to work for God and his Master in joy everlasting; his wish had been granted, for he had died in that house and pastor of that dear people. His children were:

1. Edward Ware, b. Dec. 8, 1827; d. May 29, 1830. 2. John Brooks, b. March 4, 1829; d. Dec. 8, 1835. 3. Edward Henry, b. April 16, 1831; graduating at Harvard 1851, and from the Divinity school 1855; and was the pastor of the church in Plymouth, from Jan., 1859 to July, 1867; he was chaplain of the 44th Massachusetts volunteers, 1862 and 1863; and was settled Feb. 10, 1869, over the First Unitarian Society of Worcester, Mass. 4. Frances Parkman, b. Aug. 25, 1833; d. Dec. 28, 1850. 5. William Ware, b. Oct. 27, 1834; d. Aug. 7, 1864; he was a student in Harvard College, went to the war for the Union, and after enduring hardship in the service, came home to die. 6. Robert, b. July 25, 1836; d. June 14, 1837. 7. Harriet Ware (by 2d wife) b. Sept. 15, 1841.

(Family 49.) NATHANIEL HALL6, pedigree as last given: b. in Medford, Aug. 13, 1805; d. Oct. 21, 1875; m., May 15, 1838, Mary E., dau. of Dr. John Gorham Coffin, of Boston; graduated at the Divinity school, Cambridge, 1834; received the honorary degree of A.M. from Harvard college, 1851; was ordained pastor of the first church in Dorchester, Mass., July 16, 1835, as colleague with Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris, D.D., and continued pastor of that church until his death in 1875. The following description of his early struggle between conscience and lucrative business, is given by his brother, Rev. Edward B. Hall: "He chose a calling which gave him early success and promised an ample fortune; but it enslaved him, and worse, it asked him, and employers expected him to let nothing stand in the way of sordid gain for them and him; no rest, no duty, no improvement of intellect or heart, scarcely the Sunday season-never the question of conscience-no, never the abstraction of right or wrong, against custom and against advantage; he would not brook it; he loathed and left it; men called him a fool; but he became a freeman; no longer a slave of the world, he became a servant of men and of God." During the last year or two of his life he furnished the compiler of this work with information about his near of kin; and he published a discourse in 1870, on the 240th anniversary of the first church gathering in Dorchester, 1630. Children were:

I. Henry Ware, b. March 21, 1839, and killed in the battle of Kenesaw Mountain, Ga., 1864.

2. Nathaniel, b. March 5, 1841.

3. Caroline, b. Dec. 13, 1843.

4. Mary Louisa, b. Oct. 16, 1847.

(Family 50.) PETER CHARDON HALL<sup>6</sup>, pedigree as above: b. Dec. 26, 1809; d. June, 1871; m., Jan. 10, 1850, Ann Rose Swan; he was a farmer of West Medford. Children were:

1. Jane Webb, b. Feb. 21, 1851. 2. Anna Rose, b. Jan. 14, 1853. 3. Fanny Maria, b. Nov. 20, 1854. 4. Louisa Park, b. Aug. 27, 1856. 5. Francis Parkman, b. March 28, 1858; d. 1872.

SIXTH GENERATION.

(Family 68.) DUDLEY HALL<sup>6</sup>, Benjamin<sup>5</sup>, Benjamin<sup>4</sup>, Andrew<sup>3</sup>: b. Oct. 14, 1780; d. Nov. 2, 1868; m., 1st; Mary H. Fitch (see Family 60); she d. May 20, 1820; m., 2d, Hepsie Jones Fitch, sister of his first wife, she was b. June 21, 1790, was living in Medford, 1876. Dudley Hall was a merehant of Medford, and accumulated a large fortune over $1,000,000. He commenced business as a dealer in West India goods and buying all sorts of produce of the farmers who made Medford their great market in those days, and exchanging such produce in Boston and Salem for sugar and molasses, etc. He was afterward largely engaged in building cotton mills at Lowell, Dover, Great Falls and other places. He was a director in the New England bank at Boston, for forty years, was justice of the peace, and representative of Medford in General Court from 1813 to 1815. He was a man of the most exemplary character, an honest man in every sense of the word, and without an enemy in the world; he was known extensively and loved and respected wherever he was known; his townsmen and old women placed money in his hands for safe keeping as people do now a days in saving banks. On the day of his funeral all the stores in the town were closed and all the bells were rung. I met him but once, it was at his door in 1846, as he was about stepping into his carriage for Boston; he impressed me as a man of great intelligence, but simple manners, a man of uprightness and friendly bearing, whom one might love and trust. Children were:

1. Dudley Cotton, b. Sept. 29, 1818 (Family 84). 2. Hepsie, b. 1822, by 2d wife (Family 85). 3. George D., b. 1826 (Family 86). 4. Horace D., b. Sept., 1831 (Family 87). And eight others who died in infancy.

HALLS OF MEDFORD.

(PART FOURTH.)

This part embraces the posterity of Hon. Stephen Hall of Medford.
THIRD GENERATION.

(Family 10.) STEPHEN HALL<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>: b. Jan. 19, 1704; d. Dec. 1, 1787, æ. 83; m. Mary —, d. Oct. 20, 1791, æ. 80 years; he was called Stephen Hall, Jr., because he had an uncle Stephen; he was associated with his cousin Stephen Hall, 3d, as administrator of the estate of his uncle Lt. Stephen Hall; he was representative of Medford from 1763 to 1770; in a deed given 1810, by his son Willis to his daughter Elizabeth Ingraham, he is designated as "Hon. Stephen Hall, gentleman." Mrs. Mary E. Stearns of College Hill, Medford, has in her possession articles of silver which formerly belonged to Stephen Hall, among which, I think, there is a tankard with a Hall coat of arms engraven upon its side. In his will Stephen Hall mentions sons Willis, Stephen, Aaron, Ezekiel, and daughters Mary, Elizabeth, and Jane. Children were:

1. Willis, b. Aug. 20, 1733 (Family 100). 2. Stephen, b. March 7, 1735; d. 1797, s p.; he bequeathed his property, to Rebecca, dau, of his brother Aaron, wife of Aaron Putnam; $100 to children of his sister Mary; George, $10; Mary, $70; to children of his brother Ezekiel: Ezekiel, $20, Samuel, $100, John, $150; to his servants, Lois Judkins, $60, Phebe Pratt, $10; James Green, $10; and of the remainder, one-third to his brother Willis, one-third to his sister Elizabeth, and one-third to his sister Jane; it is believed that he was a justice of the peace. 3. Aaron, b. April 27, 1737; d. March 19, 1797; m. Rebecca Pool, Jan. 3, 1760, and had one child, Rebecca, b. Nov. 9, 1760; m. Aaron Putnam, was a physician; Mr. Hall was representative from 1772 to 1775. 4 Mary, b. April 27, 1739; m. Benjamin M. Holmes, and had George and Mary. 5. Ezekiel, b. April 14, 1741 (Family 101). beth, b. May 15, 1743 (Family 102). 7. Jane, b. April 11, 1746, unmarried. 8. Edmund, b. July 15, 1749; d. 1782.

FOURTH GENERATION.

(Family 100.) WILLIS HALL4, Stephen3, John2, John2: b. Aug. 20, 1733; d. 1813; m. Sarah (probably) Holmes, of Keene, N. H.; d. Nov. 11, 1790; residence Medford, and was an intimate friend of Col. Isaac Royal, an English gentlemen of Medford, who fled to Canada after the battle of Bunker Hill, 1776, whose property Dr. Tufts and Col. Willis Hall, managed to save from confiscation College Hill is a part of it, where Col. Hall's posterity still own a beautiful mansion. Col. Hall through the influence of Col. Royal, was almost or quite a royalist at the time of the Revolution. The following is an extract from a letter from Col. Royal to Dr. Tufts, dated Kensington, April 12, 1779, "I doubt not that you and Mr. Hall and the rest of my friends, will do all in your power to procure me liberty from General Court to return home as soon as my health will admit of." Col. Willis Hall is represented to have been a large, courtly man, and possessed of an imperious will. He represented Medford for several years. His estate was administered upon by his daughter Mary and her husband Dr. Luther Stearns in her right; she paid to Ann and Sarah on account of board and care of their father Willis, $161.50; paid George H. Hall, balance of note due from estate $92 93; paid Elizabeth Ingraham, claim against the estate, $82.20. was a physican Children were:

1. George Holmes, b. Jan. 8, 1763; probably the graduate of 1781; he lived in Brattleboro, Vt.; it is believed that some of his mother's relations lived in that place. 2. Willis, b. Sept. 14, 1764; d. young. 3. Nathaniel, b. March 12, 1767; d. young. 4. A son, b. and d. Sept. 17, 1769. 5. Ann, b. Oct. 10, 1770. 6. Mary, b. Sept. 28, 1772 (Family 103). 7. Edward, b. Jan. 19, 1778. 8. Sarah, b. Oct. 12, 1780. 9. Elizabeth, b. Jan. 13, 1783; m. Mr. Ingraham. 10. Jane, m. McCluster; she may not have been the youngest.

(Family 101.) EZEKIEL HALL<sup>4</sup>, Stephen<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. April 14, 1741; d. Sept. 11, 1789; m., Oct. 24, 1765, Anna, dau. of Rev. Samuel and Anna (Cotton) Cooke; b. July 10, 1745; d. June 23, 1789. Mr. Cooke was minister of church of 2d Precinct, Cambridge, now Arlington. He married three times, Anna Cotton was his 2d wife; she was dau. of Rev. John Cotton, minister of Newton. Mr. Hall was an inn keeper of Watertown when his dau. Anna was born. He probably lived in Salem in 1774. The first Provincial Congress met at Salem, 1774, "Resolved that Mr. Ezekiel Hall, of this town be recommended to the generals of our colonial army, in order to have such aid as they can afford him, in going to Boston to save some of his valuable effects, which there is reason to fear were exposed by the late fire." Children were:

1. Ezekiel, b. July 15, 1766. 2. Elizabeth, b. July 15, 1766; d. Sept. 22, 1785, æ. 19. 3. Samuel, b. July 17, 1770; d. at Eastport, Sept. 22, 1817, æ. 48. 4. Anna, b. in Watertown, 1772. 5. John, b. 1774; d. 1796.

1. Zurell, b. 1770; d. June 9. 1842. 2. Cotton, b. 1772; d. Feb. 12, 1835. 3. Hall, b. 1775; d. at Surinam, July 19, 1801; graduated from Harvard, 1794. 4. Hepzibah, b. 1777. 5. Stephen, b. 1779.

FIFTH GENERATION.

(Family 103.) MARY HALL<sup>5</sup>, Willis<sup>4</sup>, Stephen<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. Sept, 28, 1772; m. Dr. Luther Stearns, of Medford. Dr. Stearns graduated at Harvard, 1791; d. 1821; studied medicine with Dr. Brooks, who became governor of Mass., and held his office for several years. Dr. Stearns was a distinguished physician, a man of fine culture, delicate sensibility and great liberality; his sudden death in the prime of life, left his family in straitened circumstances. Children were:

1. Elizabeth, d. æ. 26. 2. George Luther, b. Jan. 8, 1809 (Family 104). 3. Henry Laurens, d., æ. 47, feeble constitution.

SIXTH GENERATION.

(Family 104.) GEORGE LUTHER STEARNS, Mary Hall, Willis, Stephen, John, John: b. Jan. 8, 1809; d. April 9, 1869, in New York; m. 1st, about 1838, a dau. of Samuel Train, of Medford; d. in two or three years leaving no child; m. 2d, 1843, Mary E., dau. of Hon. Warren Preston, of Bangor, Me., who survives him and has kindly sent me many particulars of his life; much more than there is space to give in this book. He was only 12 years of age when the family were left in straitened circumstances by the death of his father. On this account he was obliged to give up his expectation of obtaining a liberal education, but was permitted to attend school for two years more, by spending his play hours at work. the age of 14 he was placed in a mercantile house in Boston as a clerk. Here he followed the dictates of conscience implicitly through self-denials and hardships, and was enabled to withstand the false allurements of city life and the tricks of trade. He served as clerk for 20 years, then he became a partner in the firm of Albert Fearing & Co. As a business man he was successful and became the head of a firm for the manufacture and sale of goods. His maxim was: "Material prosperity is the legitimate offspring of truth and honesty." He was probably a ship chandler. His success in business gave him the means of indulging his fine taste as well as benevolent desires, and never did any good cause turn away from him unassisted. His residence in Medford (College Hill), was a model of refinement, liberality and republican dignity; exiles for civil or religious freedom found a home under his hospitable roof; statesmen and scholars took counsel around his board; struggling genius found the helpful benefactor and friend; orphan boys and girls the education for useful life; the sick and suffering a never failing friend; the hunted fugitive slave and refugee a tower of strength. His sympathy was with all people or persons suffering from oppression. He gave liberally and labored still more efficiently in their behalf. Thus he aided the Italians, the Greeks, the Cretes; and it was while securing aid for this last cause among the merchants of New York, during a snow storm, that he took cold which caused his death. But his main effort was for the oppressed of our own country, for which he labored incessantly for the last 12 years of his life.

He threw his whole energies into the Kansas struggle and contributed many thousand dollars in support of the cause of freedom in that territory. It was in this struggle that he became acquainted with John Brown, in whom he had confidence and whom he aided both by his influence and by abundant pecuniary means; also he gave him some $7,000, just previous to his raid upon Harper's Ferry, but was ignorant of his plan, which he would not have approved. It was Mr. Stearns' nomination of his friend Charles Sumner, which brought that remarkable man before the people and his energy which made him the successful candidate for Webster's seat in the senate; and when Mr. Sumner was struck down in the senate chamber, May 24, 1856, and the village of Lawrence, Kansas, was sacked, the same week; Mr. Stearns put on his armor for the conflict, which he never laid aside until the victory was won. When the war began in 1861, he was persuaded that it would be a long and difficult struggle, and it would be necessary to call for the aid of colored soldiers, and he was almost alone in advocating it, which he did in his paper "The Common Wealth." Finally when the legislature gave Gov. Andrews permission to recruit colored troops, no man could be found to do it. Mr. Stearns received the commission to enlist a colored regiment, and in six weeks he brought two regiments into Boston, the famous 54th and 55th. Mr. Stearn's afterwards recruited colored soldiers in Philadelphia and in Tennessee, under a United States commission, with the rank of major, without pay. He never received a cent in any way for his services, but spent some $30,000 per year in the cause. In four months he had ten regiments in the field. He expected that the emancipation act would naturally follow giving the blacks the arms and the flag of the nation. He also established schools and asylums for them in Nashville, and the last time he went to his office in Boston, was to send $100 to aid establishing a negro orphan asylum in New Orleans. Such was his benevolence, his unselfish purpose, his intelligence, his zeal, his knowledge of men and business, and his magnetic power, that he became successful in his influence among all classes of people. Even Secretary Chase appreciated his financial ability and availed himself of his counsel in time of perplexity. So also Secretary McCullough. And it was said of him that his presence at any given point in the army was worth a 1000 men. But it is remarkable that his success did not in the least modify his bearing, or paff him with pride, his soul was in the cause and not in his own aggrandizement. And perhaps it is more remarkable that he should also enjoy his home so much and render its inmates so happy. At his funeral and afterwards, poets and orators eulogised him in the highest strains.

The following extract from a poem by Whittier, is a specimen.

He has done the work of a true man,— Crown him, honor him, love him. Weep over him, tears of woman, Stoop manliest brows above him!

O dusky mothers and daughters,
Vigils of mourning keep for him!
Up in the mountains, and down by the waters,
Lift up your voices and weep for him!

For the warmest of hearts is frozen,

The freest of hands is still;

And the gap in our picked and chosen

The long years may not fill.

No duty could overtask him, No need his will outrun; Or ever our lips could ask him, His hands the work had done.

He forgot his own soul for others, Himself to his neighbor lending;

So the bed was sweet to die on, Whence he saw the doors wide swung.

Shall he not hear the blessing, "Good and faithful, enter in!"

Children were:

1. Henry, when 17 years old enlisted 100 colored troops in St. Louis for the war, and sent them to his father in Buffalo, who was there on the same business. 2. Frances Preston. 3. Carl; they reside on College Hill, Medford, Mass.

HALLS OF MEDFORD.

(PART FIFTH.)

THIRD GENERATION.

Comprising the posterity of Hon. STEPHEN HALL, 3d, called Tertius, b. Aug. 10, 1721:

(Family 11.) STEPHEN HALL<sup>3</sup>, Stephen<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Medford, Aug. 10, 1721; d. 1796 (see family Bible); m. Mary Keisar, of Haverhill, she "d. July 12, 1807, æ. 95" (see family Bible), probably her age was 75 instead of 95. Mr. Hall was representative of Medford in the 2d and 3d provincial congress, and also a delegate to the convention in 1780, for making the constitution of Massachusetts, and a justice of the peace; he had some pecuniary difficulty with John Bishop, which resulted in having most or all of his lands taken away from him by execution; his widow obtained her dowry from it, May 29, 1800. This Stephen Hall was appointed administrator of his father's estate (Lt. Stephen Hall), with his cousin Stephen Hall, Jr.; many have supposed that this cousin was the son of Lt. Stephen Hall, probably from the fact that he was called Jr., but this simply indicated "the younger" and not "the son;" the son was younger than the Jr., and was called "Tertius, 3d," and in later years "old Tertius," and finally he was called Stephen Hall, Sen. Children were:

1. Sarah, b. Sept. 23, 1744 (Family 105). 2. Lucy, b. Sept. 23, 1744 (Family 106). 3. Stephen, b. Jan. 3, 1746 (Family 107). 4. Simon, b. April 9, 1747 (Family 108). 5. Jacob, b. Jan. 9, 1749 (Family 109). 6. Elizabeth, b. March 4, 1750; d. in 16 days. 7. Francis, b. May 18, 1751 (Family 110). 8. Elizabeth, b. May 10, 1753; m., Nov. 25, 1772, Samuel Harris, a baker of Charlestown, he d. 1784. 9. Mary, b. April 3, 1757; m., Dec. 26, 1775, Aaron Kinsman, of Bow, N. H.

FOURTH GENERATION.

1. Benjamin. 2. James. 3. William. 4. Converse. 5. Ebenezer. And by 2d wife, Sarah Hall: 6. Simon. 7. Nathaniel. 8. Stephen. 9. Sarah. 10. Lydia; her first child was a dau. b. Sept. 9, 1769.

1. Sarah, b, May 14, 1772. 2. Samuel, b. June 30, 1774. 3. Stephen, b. May 9, 1778.

(Family 107.) STEPHEN HALL<sup>4</sup>, Stephen<sup>3</sup>, Stephen<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>: b. according to the family Bible, as follows: "Medford, Jan. 3, 1745, this day was born Stephen Hall, 4th son of Stephen Hall, 3d;" d. at Revere, Sept. 7, 1817, æ. 72. Mrs. Eliza Tucker, of Andover, dau. of his son Zachariah, says: "I remember my grandfather we'l, he lived and died at my father's; and I can never forget his life and counsel; he was very exemplary in his daily life, and dearly did I love him; he was a large man and of very dignified appearance;" m., July 12, 1770, Mary, dau. of Zachariah and Rebecca (Cutter) Hill, of West Precinct, Cambridge, now Arlington, b. Jan. 7, 1752; d. Jan. 8th or 20th, 1821; Rebecca was dau. of Dea. John Cutter; John Hill, brother to Mary, was grandfather to Gov. Hill of N. H.; Zachariah Hill was son of Abraham, a great-grandson of Abraham, who came from England and settled in Charleston, 1636; Dea. John Cutter was a great-grandson of Widow Elizabeth Cutter, who came from England and settled in Cambridge, 1640 (see Hist. of Cutter Family). Stephen Hall Cutter, of Winchester, Mass., remembered (1876) visiting with his parents at his grandfather Hall's in Medford, at the old homestead in 1800. Children were:

Mr. Cutter, following suggestions which I proposed, has spent much time in searching original records, and has thus corrected some fundamental mistakes made by several of the best genealogists at and near Boston, in reference to his Hall pedigree. There were so many Hall's by the name of Stephen, that it required much time, and patient and interested research by a clever head, in order to clear up the almost certain confusion. The friends of history and genealogy, especially those of his own line, owe him many thanks; he has also sent me information of other families, for which I am greatly obliged. I am also indebted to the author of "The History of the Cutter Family" for much information in this line.

Comprising the posterity of Elizabeth Hall, daughter of Dea. Percival Hall, of Sutton, Mass.

Note. The following items of information are kindly furnished by Joseph McClellen of Woodstock, Conn. He says: "My grandfather, Gen. Samuel McClellen, was born in the town of Worcester, Mass., Jan. 4, 1730. His parents emigrated from Scotland, he was brought up with his father on a farm near what is now the city of Worcester. He was a lieutenant in the French and Indian war. And in 1757, he purchased a farm and moved on to it, in Woodstock, Conn. He occupied the farm only a short time, and then engaged in trade in another part of the parish. He married, Nov. 16, 1757, Jemima Chandler, by whom he had three sons, she died April 3, 1764, and he married, 2d, March 5, 1766, Rachel Abbe of Windham, Conn., by whom he had five sons and three daughters, one son and one daughter died young. The eldest son John, was my father, who lived and died here on the place which my brother and myself now occupy. The second son was James, the father of Dr. Geo. McClellen, of Philadelphia, Penn., who was the father of Maj. Gen. Geo. B. McClellen, commander of the army of the Potomac, candidate for the presidency of the United States, and late governor of New Jersey (1881). The third son was Nathaniel, who lived with his father until his death, when not long after he sold the homestead and removed to Albany, N. Y., afterwards to Northumberland, N. Y., thence to New York city. and finally to Norwich, Conn., where he died. The fourth son was Judah, who settled in Bloomfield, Me., where he died, leaving a large family. Two of his sons are in business in New York, one of his daughters married John Lovett, and settled in Albany, the other Lucretia, m. Gen. Ebenezer Huntington, of Norwich, Conn. I do not know the name of my grandfather's father; his mother died in his family at an advanced age, being a Scotch woman of excellent piety, whose maiden name was Jane Calhoon. The daughter of my Uncle James has visited Scotland and made a sketch of the old Mc-Clelien homestead, a copy of which I send to you. The main building seems to be a ruin, covered with ivy. The stone one at the right was a chapel, and used as a school house. It is located at Kercudbright, on the Galway. My grandfather was a minute-man during the revolutionary war, captain in 1775, and started with with his company for Lexington at the beginning of the war, but turned back on hearing of the retreat of the enemy. In 1775, he was major. In 1776, he was lieutenant colonel. In 1779, was colonel. In 1784, brigadier general. On the invasion of New London and masacre at Fort Groton, he was placed in command there and continued until the close of the war. When he resumed his mercantile business for a short time, and then giving it up, attended to his land, of which he owned a large amount. He died, Oct. 17, 1807. My father was a lawyer, and managed a large farm which he owned, and with his busy life seldom spake of his ancestors." Dea. James McClellen of Sutton claimed to be a cousin to these Connecticut McClellens.

1722, James McClellen, who was one of the selectmen of Worcester in 1725. It is claimed that he came to Worcester county in 1718, with a company of Scotch-Irish. After the death of Mr. McClellen, his widow Elizabeth, m. John Smith, by whom she had several daughters. He was Irish, probably Scotch-Irish. Her children were born either in Worcester or Sutton. We have the names of the McClellen children as follows:

1. John, b. Dec. 6, 1723. 2. Rebecca, b. April 23, 1725. 3. James, b June 22, 1727 (Family 181). 4. Mary, b. Jan. 17, 1730. 5. Moses, b. July 9, 1733 (Family 182). 6. David, b. Aug. 19, 1735 (Family 183).

FOURTH GENERATION.

(Family 181.) James McClellen<sup>4</sup>, (James McClellen) Elizabeth Hall<sup>3</sup>, Percival<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>4</sup>: m., Feb. 2, 1758, Sarah Axtell, of Grafton, Mass; he was a lieutenant; he settled on a farm in Sutton, which has been owned by his descendants until lately, and is now owned by Hon. Reuben R. Dodge, the compiler of the Rawson Genealogy, and who has furnished me with information which he gleaned from the Deacon Leland papers. Children of James and Sarah McClellen:

James, b. Aug. 8, 1759 (Family 184).
 Betsey, d. June 20, 1766, æ. 5 years.
 Sally, d. July 2, 1766, æ. 3 years.
 Ann, d. June 22, 1766, æ. 1 year.

(Family 182.) Moses McClellen<sup>4</sup>, pedigree as above: b. July 9, 1733; m., July 22, 1756, Mary, dau. of Jonathan Lillie; he settled on land in Sutton adjoining the farm of his brother James, all of which probably belonged formerly to Percival Hall, his grandfather; Moses sold out to his brother James and removed to Petersham. Children were:

1. Polly, d. unmarried. 2. Sally, m. Daniel Wilder, and removed to Watertown, N. Y., where they lived to a very old age.

(Family 183.) DAVID McCLELLEN<sup>4</sup>, pedigree as before: b. Aug. 19, 1735; m. — Harrington, of Worcester; settled in Petersham, Mass. Had two sons and two daughters, and perhaps more:

1. John, was a physician; settled in Vermont and had children.
2. Harrington, remained on the homestead in Petersham; m. ——
Washburn, by whom he had several children; she died in 1817 and he m., 2d, —— Town; three of his sons are settled in Peoria, Ill., and said to be doing well.

3. Betsey, m. Nathaniel Saunders, of Peter-sham, and had one son and two daughters; the son married and had children, who lived in Illinois; one of the daughters also married. I am indebted to the kindness of the venerable Cephus Willard, of Petersham, for most of the above information of Moses and David McClellen and their families.

FIFTH GENERATION.

1. Betsey, b. 1785 (Family 185). 2. Sarah (Family 186). 3. James, b. Sept. 18, 1789 (Family 187). 4. Martha (Family 188). 5. Nancy, b. Jan. 13, 1794 (Family 189). 6. Mary, b.  Joshua, b. Jan. 22, 1816 (Family 205).

Family 189.) NANCY McCLELLEN<sup>6</sup>, pedigree as before: b. Jan. 13, 1794; d. Oct. 26, 1864; m., April 2, 1818, Rev. Job Benden Boomer, a Baptist minister; he settled at South Sutton, East Brookfield, North Uxbridge and West Sutton; for several years before his death he resided at Worcester; he was b. Sept. 8, 1793, d. Aug. 16, 1864. Children were:

1. Nancy, b. at Northbridge, Sept. 22, 1819 (Family 206). 2. Mary Amelia, b. June 19, 1823 (Family 207). 3. Lucius Bolles, b. at Doulass, Mass., July 4, 1826 (Family 208). 4. George Boardman, b. in Sutton, July 26, 1832; he was living at St. Louis, Mo., when the war for the Union began, and enlisted in the U. S. army as colonel; was promoted to the rank of brigadier general under Gen. Grant; he fell at Vicksburgh, May 22, 1863.

(Family 190.) MARY McClellen6, pedigree as before; b. June 28, 1796; d. Nov. 30, 1836; m., May, 1823, Capt. Dana Gale, b. in Boylston, Mass., Jan. 14, 1789; Capt. Gale's No. in the Family Memorial is 383, that of his father Jonathan, is 213; his emigrant ancestor was Richard Gale, who purchased a nine acre home lot in Watertown, near Boston, in 1640; Capt. Gale worked the farm of his relation, Jonas Gale, to whom he was bound, until he was 21 years of age; he then worked for seven years finishing U. S. muskets in the armory at Millbury, at which he was very skillful; at the close of this period he lost all of his savings ($1,300) by loaning it to a cotton mill company; but instead of being discouraged by this great misfortune, Mr. Gale resolved to try again; he served the Waldron scythe factory for four or five years, by which he saved a few hundred dollars, and in 1819 joined a company going to the far west, consisting of Isaac Gale and family, George Cummings, of Douglass (afterwards Isaac Gale's son-in-law), and Rev. Joseph Fassett, of Boston; they all bought lands adjoining, on the east fork of the White river, in Indiana. This was then an almost unbroken wilderness; there was no mark of the white man's axe three miles to the south-east, where now stands the city of Columbus. In May, 1823, Mr. Gale returned to Sutton, and married the lady of his choice; he returned with his wife by way of Providence, R. I.; by sloop to Baltimore; by stage to Pittsburgh; by skiff to Madison, Ind.; here they stopped, and Mrs. Gale, like a true helpmeet as she was, taught school, while Mr. Gale also taught school near Vernon, but before winter set in, they proceeded to the end of their journey, and settled down at the home he had provided; here they lived and here they died. Mr. Gale enjoyed many offices of trust, and was honored by being chosen captain of the first military company formed in that place. Mrs. Gale died Nov. 30, 1836; her death was a sore bereavement to the family, her oldest child, Joseph, being only 12 years old; she was an intelligent, active, kind-hearted christian woman. Capt. Gale m., 2d, Sarah Lumbeck, of New Jersey, b. Jan. 9, 1813, d. Feb. 3, 1847. Mr. Gale's children by his first wife were:

1. Joseph Fassett, b. Sept. 21, 1824 (Family 209). 2. James McClellen, b. Dec. 20, 1825 (Family 210). 3. Jonathan D., b. June 19, 1827 (Family 211). Capt. Gale had three surviving sons by his 2d wife, viz: 4. John William, b. Dec. 3, 1838; was a soldier in the war for the Union; was taken prisoner at Atlanta, Geo. and sent to Andersonville prison, was exchanged when they thought he could not live. 5. George Washington, b. Feb. 22, 1840; d. in the service of his country of chronic diarrhea at Marietta, Geo., 1864. 6. Jarvis H., b. Dec. 3, 1843; has a family near the old homestead in Indiana; he went with Gen. Sherman through Georgia to the sea, and was at the grand parade at Washington, D. C., at the close of the war.

(Family 201.) MARY A. FORBUSH7, pedigree as before: b. 1825; m., 1845, Norman F. Wright, of Vermont, b. March 25, 1815; Mr. Wright and his twin brother Truman K. Wright, were students in Burr Seminary at Manchester, Vt., from the time it was opened for students, May, 1833, to the fall of 1835, when they entered Middlebury College, and graduated in 1839. Since that time they have been engaged in teaching schools and academies. Norman F. Wright, was superintendent of schools at Binghamton, N. Y., when he received the appointment of professor of Latin and Greek in the State Normal school at Cortland, New York. He was a Presbyterial commissioner in 1874 or 7, in the general assembly of the Presbyterian church. Truman K. Wright, has been the principal for nearly 30 years of the Monroe Collegiate Institute, at Eldridge, Onondaga Co., N. Y. The Wright brothers had for classmates at Burr Seminary, Rev. Anson H. Parmelee (see Middletown Halls), Rev. Lathrop Taylor of —, Ill. (see Medford Halls, 5th part). Rev John Du Bois, of Wurtsborough, N. Y. Rev. James Dubuar, of Northville, Mich. Rev. - Kidder of Michigan. Prof. Richard K. Todd of Illinois. Rev. Dr. Samuel J. White of Connecticut; and many others, who commenced study at mature age with limited means, and found a cheap and at the same time an efficient school in Burr Seminary, without which they could never have obtained their education. It was a manual labor institution, where they could keep up their active physical habits moderately, while becoming more accustomed to sedentary life and intellectual labors; some of the students nearly paid their way by their work There were no more sturdy workers in the seminary than the Wright brothers, who at the same time were thorough students. I remember well, what an active and efficient part they took among the students who constructed an observatory out of spruce trees, on the tip top of old Equenox on the 4th of July, 1835; we clambered up its steep sides then, but now there is a more easy way of access by a roundabout carriage road.

These same young men cut cord-wood at the foot of the mountain, for twenty-five cents per cord. And they have since cut their way in the world with equal ease and efficiency, making others noble like themselves, by training up thousands of the young in mental discipline, in intellectual attainments, moral culture and christian excellence and usefulness. Children of Norman F. and Mary A. Wright were:

1. Emma C., b. 1847; graduated at Hingham University, Le Roy, N. Y., 1875, and is (1876) principal of the academy at Rome, N. Y. 2. Edward Hall of Croydon, when she married (See Halls of Rehobath). Samuel R. Hall, probably came to Croyden, to see about some land owned by his father, and settled there as a farmer. He held the offices of constable, collector, tithingman, moderator etc., and was a soldier from that town in the revolutionary war. He had surveyed in 1794, some of the eastern townships of Canada, and purchased the half of one of them, of fraudulent parties, and on Jan. 20, 1796, he started from Croydon, with his family, to go to Canada and take possession of his purchase, and proceeded as far as Guildhall, Vt., before he knew of the fraud. The swindlers had been paid, and Mr. Hall found himself in Guildhall (which was nearly a wilderness at that time), without the means to make any more purchases. He lived in Guildhall several years, and was a great spiritual blessing to the town; the people were destitute of the preached gospel, and Mr. Hall gathered them together and conducted prayer meetings, with exhortations, and his gifts and usefulness, appeared to justify his becoming a preacher of the gospel, and he was accordingly ordained as a Congregational minister. In 1807, he removed to Rumford, Me., where he was the means of gathering a church, and became its pastor, and continued such until his death. Mrs. Hall was a feeble woman in the later years of her life. Children were:

1. Lydia Sears, b. March 14, 1817; m., April, 1872, Isaiah Graffaw or Graffam, a native of Maine; resided at New Bedford, Mass. Her maternal grandparents were among the earliest and most enterprizing inhabitants of Cape Cod Hill, Me.; the hill commands one of the most extensive and varied prospects in the state; in the vicinity of this charming spot Lydia spent her youth, and for several years engaged in her favorite employment of teaching school, subsequently she spent six years at Lowell, Mass., where she gained a favorable notoriety in connection with the "Lowell Offering"; in Sept., 1844 the A. B. C. F. M., sent her (with others) as a teacher to the Choctaw Indians; she was cared for and supported by the John street church, of Lowell, principally in this mission; she was one of the original members of this church; her health failing, she returned after five years of labor and retired for recuperation to the quiet life of former times in Maine and Massachusetts. One of the irritating causes of her ill health among the Indians, was their toleration of slavery, although but few practiced it. The repeal by congress of what was called the Missouri compromise (which forbade the extension of slavery to the north, peyond a specified line), aroused her patriotism and love of universal freedom; and she with many others of like mind, rushed to the west and established themselves at Lawrence, Kansas, where they fought a moral battle and to some extent a physical one, for five long years, in order to keep the virgin soil of that new territory from being cursed with the blight of slavery. The task of these patriots would have been an easy one, had not the general government at Washington lent its influence to the side of slavery extension and against the cause of freedom; here is where the war began which subsequently deluged the land in blood. After the battle of Antietam, Lydia was found nursing the sick and wounded soldiers in the hospitals at Washington, until her health failed, and she received an appointment as clerk in the Treasury department, until May, 1872, when she went to reside in New Bedford, Mass. (Family 250.) READ HALL5, pedigree as last given: b. in Croydon, N. H., Oct. 27, 1795; d. in Brownington, Vt., on Sunday, June 24, 1877, in his 82d year; m., 1st, June 17, 1823, Mary Dascomb, of Wilton, N. H.; the beauty of whose life equalled that of his own, she d. Nov., 1836; m., 2d, June 3, 1838, Mary, dau. of Deacon Solomon Holt, of Andover, Mass., who was the companion and solace of his old age, and who survived him; she lives with her youngest son in Brownington, who is the only one of Mr. Hall's eleven children now living. Read Hall assumed the name of Samuel after the death of a brother of that name, and is generally known as Samuel R. Hall; he went with his parents, when a child, from Croydon to Guildhall, Vt.; during his entire youth he suffered much from feeble health; owing to his father's loss of property he was unable to obtain a collegiate education, but pursued a full course of classical study at Kimball Union Academy at Meriden, N. H., in 1815, 6, 8, 9; he received the honorary degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College in 1839, and that of LL.D. from the University of Vermont in 1865. He began to teach school at the age of twenty. He said of himself, later in life, "One of the first convictions fastened on my mind, after I became a teacher, was that the whole system of education in the country was defective; and that the time of scholars in the common schools was, in a great measure, lost; I taught in Maine, New Hampshire and other states, and in each state observed the same facts; I determined, therefore, to do what I could, to reform abuses and correct evils; my efforts were appreciated and my services sought at my own prices." This encouraged him to persevere, and the result was that he became eminent as a teacher and trainer of teachers. "Great persistency and personal enthusiasm in whatever engaged his attention, breadth of generalization, and large capacity for labor, combined with warmth and earnestness of heart, were among Mr. Hall's prominent characteristics, and doubtless gave the key to his life's success. His views of both the importance and the methods of the education of youth, as based upon religious grounds, were at the beginning in advance of his time, and his contributions to educational reform will remain as the chief memorial of his service." But Mr. Hall was not content with merely teaching school; his religious conviction of duty led him to seek the ministry of the gospel. He studied theology with Rev. Walter Chapin, of Woodstock, Vt., and Rev. William Eaton, of Fitchburgh, Mass., and was licensed to preach by the Worcester North Association at Princeton, Mass., May, 1822 - at the same time receiving an appointment to labor as a missionary at Concord, Vt., where he commenced his labors June 2, 1822; and by an understanding with his people he established a seminary for training teachers, which was opened in March, 1823—here, in an obscure corner of New England, self prompted and alone in planning, he established the first normal school in America. The school was successful, and those who went out from it were greatly sought as teachers in Vermont, New Hampshire and Canada. A course of lectures was given each year to his students, and in 1829 a small volume of lectures on teaching, was committed to the press; it became so popular, that three editions were soon exhausted—the third, of 1,000 copies was taken by the State of New York. One method which he invented for teaching, was the blackboard; he introduced it for use in his school in Rumford, Me., in 1816; it had never been used before in America. Mr. Hall was dismissed from his charge in Concord, June, 1830, to take charge of the English Normal School of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., for which an elegant building has since been erected, at a cost of $8,000. success at Concord and Andover, together with lectures on the subject and written appeals, gradually awakened the public mind; his efforts, in connection with those of G. B. Emerson, — Morse, the author of the geography, E. A. Andrews, Benjamin Greanleaf, N. Cleveland and others, by memorial presented to the legislature, effected the establishment of the board of education in Massachusetts, 1837, and in 1838 the normal school, the first endowed by any state in the Union. The full course at Andover was three years, but so great was the demand for teachers, that few of the students completed it. After seven years at Andover, his health became so much impaired by overtasking and the unfavorable influence of the climate so near the sea, he was led to resign the charge of the seminary and to accept the appointment of principal of the Teachers' Seminary then being established at Plymouth, N. H. There he was assisted in the school by Miss Arethusa Hall, an accomplished teacher and author; they were both descended from Deacon Percival Hall, of Sutton, in the third degree, but knew not that they were cousins, to such a low degree of neglect had genealogical knowledge and interest fallen; owing to pecuniary embarrassment of the trustees, Mr. Hall left Plymouth at the end of the third year. After closing the seminary at Plymouth, he accepted a call from the church of Craftsbury, Vt., July 8, 1840, this pastorate continued for thirteen and a half years, during which he received nearly 100 persons to church membership; he was also for a portion of the time, principal of the Craftsbury Academy, and left a valuable cabinet of minerals, well arranged, to the institution; here his labors had become too much for his state of health and he was obliged to seek for a field less onerous; accordingly he was dismissed, Jan. 4, 1858, and immediately commenced labors at Brownington, Vt., on a salary of $400 per annum, and continued until Feb. 5, 1867, when he resigned on account of old age. Here he purchased a farm, upon which his son and widow find a comfortable home. While pastor of the church of Brownington he received upwards of sixty members to the church; he was also postmaster of Brownington from Aug. 1, 1863, to Feb. 1, 1865. Still his active nature could not rest, and he labored for three years from 1872 to 1875, at Granby, Vt., in a church which he had organized 50 years previous. This was accomplished with much acceptance and usefulness. At the close of his labors in Granby, he had a call to preach in another church, but the increasing infirmity of old age forbade his accepting it. He was well acquainted with astronomy, and gave lectures on the subject in other places, when laboring at Granby in extreme old age. In the science of geology he was also an enthusiast, and an acknowledged master; he sought to popularize and make practical the science, especially in its bearings upon the agricultural interest of the state; in the geological survey of Vermont, under Prof. Edward Hitchcock, commenced in 1857, he had the especial charge of the survey, and the collection of specimens, in the three most northerly sections of the thirteen, into which the state was divided. He said there was gold in that section, but not enough to pay for working. He frequently gave lectures on geology. The following are the most important of his published works: "The Child's Assistant to a Knowledge of the Geography and History of Vermont"—and as revised and enlarged, is now in use in the common schools of the state-" Lectures on Teaching," 1829; in 1832, "Lectures to Female School Teachers," "The Child's Instructor" and "Arithmetical Manuel;" in 1833, "Practical Lectures on Parental Responsibility and the Religious Education of Children," "The Grammatical Assistant" and "A School History of the United States," and in 1868, "The Alphabet of Geology." Aside from these, he was the author of numerous contributions to the Journal of Education and other periodicals. At the opening of Oberlin College, Rev. Dr. S. R. Hall was appointed its first president, and he sent on his brother-in-law, Prof. John Dascomb, to make a beginning who, I believe, is there yet; but Dr. Hall did not go on, for some reason, which I do not understand. Such was the public career of a remarkable man; but he was more remarkable for the simplicity of his life and manners, his unselfishness of heart and the amiability of his disposition. He manifested an interest in everybody, and was willing to do all he could to make them happy. None knew him but to love him as a dear friend or near kindred. Children were:

Mr. Hall was a man of light complexion, and very tall, over six feet in his stockings. They had one child:

George Trobridge, b. June 1, 1834; m., Oct. 11, 1859, Amanda L. Smith. George T. had to depend upon his own resources for support. In Dec. 14, 1855, he went to Michigan, and resides at Portage, Kalamazoo Co.; has acted as a newspaper reporter, and has taught school many years. When President Lincoln first called for soldiers to protect the property of the United States from the southern secession, George enlisted for three months, but before the regiment was full, orders came not to receive soldiers for three months, and therefore he was excused, not feeling it to be his duty to leave his wife and young child for a longer period. But he engaged in recruiting men for the service, and in raising money to pay bounties, and to assist poor families whose husbands and fathers had entered the service of their country and gone to assist in preserving its integrity and perhaps its very existence. But he afterward enlisted as private in the 3d Michigan Cavalry Regiment, and was two years in the service; he went up and down the Mississippi river four times, through eight states; his health was poor all the time; he served as chief clerk under Gen. West, chief of the Department of the South-west, for about six months, at Little Rock, Ark.; he was provost marshal at Brownsville Station, on the line of the railroad from Duvall's Bluffs to Little Rock, for four months, and his last service was for two months, as chief clerk at Benton Barracks' Hospital, where he was discharged by general order from the medical department. In 1876 he was living on his own farm of 160 acres, and teaching school, and for the two years previous had been superintendent of schools. He goes by the name of Prof. Hall. Children are: i. Harris; resided in Sutton, removed to Worcester. The following is his army record: He was engaged from April 16, 1861, in the organization of troops, and forwarding them and supplies to the front, until the following September, acting as aide on the staff of Gov. Andrews, of Massachusetts. In Sept., 1861, he went to the front as adjutant of the 21st Mass. regiment; he was also appointed provost marshal of Annapolis, Md., and served in that capacity until the departure of the Burnside expedition; he shared in the sufferings of that expedition at Cape Hatteras until the battle of Roanoak Island in which he participated; he was at that time appointed quartermaster on the staff of Gen. Reno, with whom he marched and fought, until Gen. Reno was killed in battle at South Mountain, Md. He was then appointed chief quartermaster of the 9th Army Corps, on the staff of Maj. Gen. Burnside, and was assigned to duty at Aquia Creek, where he engaged in building up that depot, and sending supplies to the whole army of the Potomac, until June, 1863, when he went with Gen. Burnside to the west, where he was assigned to duty as chief purchasing and disbursing officer in Kentucky, making his head-quarters at Camp Nelson, the depot of which he built, and which became the supply depot for all that section until the close of the war; at this camp he organized the first negro regiment of Kentucky. "Receiving and protecting" he says "all who came into my camp, and sending out more than 10,000 negro soldiers, receiving and caring for their wives and children as they flocked into camp for protection"; he also organized the first negro schools in the south-west, building the school houses and also dwelling houses for their use; these schools are said to be still in existence and indeed flourishing. Major Hall's immense and varied labors, produced at length, mental and physical prostration, from which he has not recovered; however his health was sufficient to enable him to represent in the Massachusetts legislature of 1866, the towns of Paxton, Holden and West Boylston. Nov., 1823; Dr. Philips settled in practice the same fall at Stevens Point, Wis., where he still resides, and is greatly esteemed as a man and as a physician. The following extract is taken from a notice of Mrs. Philips' death, by Gen. A. G. Ellis, and published in a newspaper at Stevens Point: "Ever since Mrs. Philips came among us, twenty-three years ago, she has been a constant and beloved member of our society; her education was carefully secured, and her mind cultivated in no ordinary degree; not rudiments alone, but the more solid attainments of physics and philosophy adorned and strengthened her understanding; yet her reticence and modest deportment was ever such, that nothing like display or pedantry appeared in her intercourse with society, and her learning, if it appeared at all, was only as an adornment of her eminent christian graces; it was only her most intimate friends and family, that knew of her attainments in the exact sciences and the languages. Her beautiful poems, "Under the Pines," though only fragments of her writings, are before the public, published, as we know, with much reluctance, and after repeated solicitations of her friends, and written, as they were, only to beguile leisure hours, may nevertheless challenge criticism, and do equal honor to her mind and heart. To recite her works of charity, her labors of love, would only be to give a history of most of the benevolent enterprises among our lady friends for the last twenty years. Among those of a literary cast it may not be inappropriate to cite that of our now excellent Library Association, as an institution to be credited very largely to her efforts. Her list of friends was only limited by the number of her acquaintances. The cheerfulness with which she endured a lingering illness, testified her unwavering faith and trust in her divine Lord, looking calmly to a brighter world, as she says in her own sweet song."

"Heaven is free from shadows, All is perfect, pure, etherial light, Where the Saviour reigneth, Shadows shall not dwell."

1. Charles Harris, b. Aug. 24, 1861, at Providence, R. I. Warren Austin, b. May 15, 1869; d. Oct. 9, 1869. Mr. Brown was a soldier in the war for the Union, in Battery E, 1st R. I. Artillery; was soon promoted from a private, by degrees, to the office of 1st lieutenant, and engaged in nearly all the battles of the army of the Potomac up to the time of his capture in the battle of the Wilderness; he was then taken to Richmond; then to Dansville; then to Macon, Ga., when he effected his escape; but after traveling twelve days, was retaken and traveled back again and placed in a dungeon and kept there for six weeks, then removed to Charleston, S. C.; while on the road, eighty of our men, prisoners, jumped from the cars and fled, but were all captured before night of the next day, and taken to Charleston, and placed under the fire of our own guns, which were then shelling the city, and kept there until about the fourteenth of October; they were then removed, to Columbus, S. C., and placed in an open field, without shelter and almost without food, and kept there until about the fourth of November, when, says Mr. Brown, four of us made our escape, and traveled to our lines at Knoxville, Tenn., 500 miles in 30 days; we lived mostly on parched corn, not daring to see anybody. On our arrival we were in a bad condition, one of us having frozen both of his feet, and had not eaten anything except snow for 100 hours. Lieut. Brown was in command of a cannon at the battle of Gettysburgh, the same which was made over to the State of Rhode Island, and received with appropriate ceremony at Providence, in May, 1874. Lieut. Brown resides in Vandewater street, and does business at No. 189 Church street, Providence, R. I.

(Family 366.) ALONZO ALLEN7, Hiram6, (William Allen) Betsey Swinnerton<sup>5</sup>, (Benjamin Swinnerton) Elizabeth Hall<sup>4</sup>, Stephen<sup>3</sup>, Percival2, John1: b. in Croydon, N. H., Feb. 1, 1838; not married; was educated at Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H.; was a school teacher; was a soldier in the war for the Union; he enlisted Aug. 20, 1861, in Co. E, Capt. Ira McL. Barton, 5th Reg., N. H., called the "Fighting Fifth," Col. Edward E. Cross. Alonzo Allen was a soldier of great efficiency as well as of noble bearing, being over six feet in height, straight and well proportioned, his weight was over 200 pounds; his captain offered him the office of 2d sergeant, which he nobly declined in favor of his brother Oscar, who had seen service. Private Allen took part with his regiment during the first half of 1862, in its drills, marches, fatigue duties, road making, bridge and tower building, in the siege of Yorktown, etc.; the bridge which they constructed over the Chickahominy river called Sumner's grape vine bridge, was said by the French Prince de Joinville to have been the means of saving the army of the Potomac at the battle of Fair Oaks. Private Allen took an active and honorable part in the battles of Rappahannock Station, Yorktown and Fair Oaks; in this last engagement June 1, 1862, near its close, he received a severe wound, which at first was thought to be mortal, and so disabled him that he is incapacitated for manual labor for life; he carries rebel lead yet in his body. He received an honorable discharge from the army, Sept. 11, 1862. His fellow townsmen have elected him town clerk at seventeen annual elections last past; in 1877, Gov. Cheney appointed him justice of the peace, which office he still holds; he is also the postmaster of Croydon. He takes great interest in genealogical and historical researches, and has sent me very valuable contributions from the records of Croydon and elsewhere; he also has been a contributor to the Press for these eight or ten years past.

(Family 368.) OSCAR D. ALLEN<sup>7</sup>, pedigree as above: b. Dec. 14, 1842; d. July 2, 1863, not married; he was a soldier in the war for the Union, and the first who enlisted from Croydon; he enlisted about April 22, 1861, in Co. D, Capt. McL. Barton, 5th Reg., N. H. Vols., Col. Mason W. Tappen; mustered into service, May 2, 1861, for three months. This regiment marched and countermarched in Maryland and Virginia, and had a dusty time of it; it should have participated in the first battle of Bull Run; and, if so, would probably have turned the scale in favor of the Union, in that nearly even balanced battle; then the war might have been shortened, and its results would have been quite different from what they finally were. Oscar D. Allen frequently received the highest praise from Capt. Barton, and the other officers of his regiment for his good conduct, soldierly bearing, faithfulness and reliability. His term of service expired, Aug. 9, 1861, and he spent ten delightful days among the hills of his native town, visiting the companions of his youth, and having a good time in the society of his dear kindred and loved ones; then, Aug. 20, 1861, he re-enlisted under the same captain in Co. E, as corporal, 5th Reg., N. H. Vols., Col. E. E. Cross. Their first battle was at Rappahannock Station, March 28, 1862, in which all the men acquitted themselves worthy of all praise. the 4th of April, 1862, the regiment embarked at Alexandria, Va., for the Peninsula; they reached Ship Point, April 11, and were obliged to wade ashore from the steamer, and camp on the cold. wet ground, with no shelter but their wet blankets; then began the building of corduroy roads and bridges, through the low swampy ground towards Yorktown. This regiment was often complimented by Gens. Howard and Sumner for its skill in its arduous duties. And in Gen. McClellen's seige of Yorktown it acted a conspicuous part; it was temporarily joined to the engineers' brigade under Gen. Woodbury; it also constructed an observatory at general headquarters, of heavy hewed timbers, 100 feet high and 40 feet base. On the 3d of May, Yorktown was evacuated by the enemy, and on the fifth the thunder of battle was heard from Williamsburgh by the "Fighting Fifth," and, eager for the fray, it started just at dark, in the midst of a terrific rain storm, and continued over the most terrible marching ground, with the mud nearly knee deep, in the midst of darkness, until nearly morning, coming up too late to share in the victory. By order of Gen. Sumner, the 5th New Hampshire began on the 25th of May, 1862, to build a bridge over the Chickahominy river and swamp, strong enough for artillery and loaded wagons to cross; the swamp was corduroyed on both sides of the river, and the bridge was constructed of heavy logs and immense trees seventyfive rods in length; it was finished on the 30th of May, at evening, just in time for Gen Sumner's corps to cross and save, on the next day, Gen. Casey's division from total destruction at the battle of Fair Oaks. A sudden rise of the river had carried away all the other bridges of the Chickahominy. In all these arduous toils of the regiment, Corporal Allen was in his place and engaged, with the marked approval of his superiors. At the battle of Fair Oaks, where was the hottest musketry firing during the war, the "Fighting Fifth" fired the first and the last shot. Company E was on the extreme left of the regiment, and Corporal Allen stood in its front rank, in the center, and his brother Alonzo on the right; the company went into the battle with fifty-seven fighting men, six of whom were killed and twenty-three wounded, including Alonzo Allen. During the "seven days battles" Corporal Allen was at his post, and with unflinching courage performed well his part in the bloody battles of Savage Station, Peach Orchard, White Oak Swamp, Charles City Cross Roads, and Malvern Hill; his superior officers spoke in the highest praise of his coolness, fidelity and reliability in these battles; he was next in the deadly contest at South Mountain battle; and two days after, Sept. 17, 1862, he was engaged in the great battle of Antietam, in which he received a severe bullet wound in the left shoulder, the bullet passing through his body just below his left shoulder; at the same time a descending shell of the enemy burst so close to him that a piece struck his head and stretched him senseless upon the ground; he was carried to the camp hospital near Frederick City, Md., to await the healing of his wounds; while here, he was promoted for his bravery to the office of 2d sergeant of Co. E; when his wounds were nearly healed he returned to his post in Co. E, arriving there in the midst of the terrible battle of Chancellorsville, May 2, 1863; from this time he acted as orderly sergeant in Co. E to the day of his death. At the battle of Gettysburgh, his twelfth great battle, our youthful hero bore himself bravely until near the close of the second day's contest, when the fatal missile, a grape shot, passed through his body, killing him instantly; his brave Col., E. E. Cross, was also mortally wounded in the same battle. The mortal remains of Sergeant Oscar D. Allen lie buried in the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa., No. 10, section 6, N. H. Lot. His memory is cherished for his manly conduct and martial bravery by his surviving comrades and friends generally, among the green hills of New Hampshire. And while we express our highest tribute of regard for the heroes of our terrible struggle for national existence, we hope and pray that we as a Nation, shall never again be called to the trial of another such a crisis, when brother wars with brother, and whichever gains the victory it must end in damage to both. And more than this, we pray with hope, that the blessed day shall come when men shall not need to learn the art of war any more.

THIRD GENERATION.

This part consists of the posterby of Thomas Hall<sup>3</sup>, of Cornish, N. H. (Family 15.) Thomas Hall<sup>3</sup>, Percival<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. in Medford, Mass., Aug. 12, 1712; d. in Cornish, N. H., July, 1797; m., 1st, June 30, 1737, Judith Chase, of Sutton, d. in Sutton; m., 2d, June 24, 1758, Huldah Park, of Millbury, Mass. Thomas Hall resided in Sutton from his eighth year of age until his 2d marriage, when he removed to Millbury, and subsequently to Cornish, where he was chosen a deacon of the Congregational church; he was admitted to the church of Sutton in 1735, and his first wife in 1741. Thomas Hall was a farmer and had a farm next to his father's in Sutton (probably his father gave a farm to each of his sons and sons-in-law); he may have lived for a short period in Grantly or Groton, probably the family left Sutton before the births of his last two children. Children were:

1. Percival, b. March 15, 1741 (Family 369). 2. Thomas, b. March 23, 1843; d. young. 3. Sarah, b. Aug. 28, 1745; went with the family to Cornish. 4. Thomas, b. Dec. 1, 1747 (Family 370). 5. Mary, b. June 10, 1750. 6. Betty, b. June 9, 1753; adopted by Daniel Chase, and m., Nov. 8, 1776, Jabez Lathe, of Note. The Chase pedigree. Judith Chase, wife of Dea. Thomas Hall, was born Sept. 7. 1720, she was the dau. of Daniel Chase and his wife, Sarah March, who were admitted to church Sutton from church Littleton, 1736 (Littleton was then a part of Groton), to which Daniel had removed in 1725 from Newbury, b. Sept. 20, 1685, son of Moses, who was b. Dec. 24, 1663, and m., Nov. 10, 1684, Ann Follansbee. Moses was the eleventh child of Aquila Chase and his wife Anna, dau. of John Wheeler, of Hampton and from Salisbury, Eng. Aquila Chase was a mariner from Cornwall, Eng.; he was at Hampton, in Mass., in 1640. His brother Thomas died there in 1653; and Aquila removed to Newbury in 1646, from which place he made frequent voyages as master of a vessel; he made his will in 1670 and died that same year. The father of Aquila Chase was Richard of Chesham, Eng., who m., April 10, 1564, Joan Bishop, and had ten children, of whom Aquila was the 6th; the father of Richard was Matthew; the father of Matthew was John who was bapt. in Chesham in 1540, and whose father was Thomas of Chesham, whose right to use a certain coat of arms was confirmed, the coat of arms had probably been used by his ancestors.

Charlton, Mass. 7. Moses, b. Aug. 27, 1755 (Family 371). 8. Judith, b. Sept. 16, 1757. And by 2d wife: 9. Moody, b. Feb. 21, 1760; bapt. in Sutton (Family 372). 10. Huldah, b. July 26, 1761; m. #### FOURTH GENERATION.

He was a house painter by trade, and the treasurer of School street church; was a man of broad sympathies and unswerving integrity. Mrs. Betsey Henderson retained her faculties very remarkably well, to the last. Her birthday was celebrated in the national centennial year 1876, when five generations were present; Mrs. Taylor her great-granddaughter coming from Philadelphia with her child for that purpose. One of the newspapers proposed that a special car be chartered to convey this company of five generations to the centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. At the celebration of her 99th birthday, she had not failed perceptibly, except being troubled with the rheumatism, on this account, as her niece Mrs. Talbot, was about to retire from a call on her, Mrs. Henderson begged to be excused for not rising, with the remark, "you see I do not belong to the rising generation." At the celebration of her 100th year there was considerable ceremony; her pastor, Rev. Dr. Miner, delivered an interesting discourse to his congregation, in Columbus avenue church, it being Sunday, commemorative of her life; he said "she is a remarkable specimen of well preserved old age, being in full possession of her faculties, with a clear mind and good health, and rejoicing in the hope of eternal blessedness;" at the close of the commemorative service, the deacons of the church, the standing committee, with the pastor and other friends, repaired to Mrs. Henderson's residence, bearing floral testimonials of the respect borne her by the church, parish and friends; and congratulating her upon her continued health and happiness on the centennial celebration of her natal day. Mrs. Henderson continued another year in her usual health, and preservation. On the 8th of March, 1881, her grandniece, Mrs. Foster, of Andover, went to see her, and found her sitting up straight in her chair, possessed of all her faculties well preserved, except being a little hard of hearing. About the middle of the same month, her niece, Mrs. Talbot, went to see her, Mrs. Henderson received her very cordially and said with tears, "O, I am so glad to see you, but I hope not to see another birthday;" soon after that she took cold, but was able to be dressed, and to sit in her chair each day; during her last night she was restless, and as soon as daylight, was dressed, by her request, and placed in her chair, when immediately she leaned her head back, smiled, closed her eyes, and was gone, March 29, 1881. Her remains were laid away in the family tomb in Mount Auburn cemetery, in hope of a blessed resurrection. Children were:

Note. Lydia, daughter of Capt. John Richardson, m. Leonard Stone, of Templeton, and their daughter Lydia R. Stone, of Medford, has very kindly sent me the names and dates on the gravestones of the early Halls of Medford; she also sent me the following pedigree of the Stone family: Rev. Samuel Stone came with Cotton Mather, in 1633, and went with a colony to Hartford, Conn. Simon Stone, aged 50, and his brother Gregory, aged 45, came in 1635 from Essex, by way of London. Gregory settled in Cambridge, and his descendants settled in Lexington, Sudbury and Newton. Simon settled in Watertown; son Simon, of Watertown, whose son Simon settled in Groton, and had Benjamin, who was the father of Leonard above named.

(Family 426.) Jonas Hall, pedigree as above. Children were:
1. Amariah C., lives at Fall River, Mass. 2. E. Mason, lives in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

(Family 427.) APHIA HALL<sup>5</sup>, Aaron<sup>4</sup>, Zacheus<sup>3</sup>, Percival<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>: b. in New Braintree, Oct. 30, 1786; d. in Northampton, Mass.; m., in Norwich, Mass., Jan. 16, 1811, Sylvester Judd, of Westhampton, Mass., b. in Westhampton, April 23, 1789, d. April 18, 1860; was a merchant, represented the town in legislature; removed to Northampton, 1822, and became editor and proprietor of the Hampshire Gazette, which he sold out Jan. 1, 1835, and devoted his time to literature; he was the compiler of "Thomas Judd and his descendants," published 1856, and author of the "History of Hadley, with a Genealogy" which was in press when he died. left large collections in manuscripts, pertaining to the early history and families of Northampton and the neighboring towns, besides extensive miscellaneous collections of valuable matter; he was an honorary member of the Connecticut and Massachusetts Historical Societies, and of the American Antiquarian Society; he was employed for three or four years in arranging and putting in volumes the public papers of Connecticut, in the State House at Hartford. The following is his pedigree: he was the son of Sylvester Judd, a merchant and farmer of Westhampton, and a delegate in 1779, to form the constitution of Massachusetts, who was the son of Jonathan Judd, the pastor of the church of Southampton, for sixty years, who was the son of Capt. William Judd, of Waterbury, Conn., who was the son of Thomas Judd, Esq., of Waterbury, who was the son of William Judd of Farmington, Conn., who was the son of Dea. Thomas Judd, the emigrant who settled at West Cambridge, Mass., freeman of 1636 and in May 31, set out with a company of about 100 men, women and children, on foot, through the wilderness to the Connecticut river where they began what is now the city of Hartford. In about 1644 he removed to Farmington, which he represented in General Court from May, 1647, seventeen sessions. The very complimentary letters from Mr. Sylvester Judd, of Northampton, to me in my early and successful searches for my ancestry among the records of Medford and Cambridge, have had much influence on my mind in patiently and perseveringly gathering up the materials, which have resulted in this genealogy of the Halls of New England. He was a man worthy of all praise. Children were:

HALLS OF MEDFORD.

PART TENTH.

Comprising the posterity of Deacon Willis Hall, of Sutton, Mass.

THIRD GENERATION.

(Family 17.) WILLIS HALL3, Percival2, John : born in Medford, Mass., March 8, 1720; d. in Sutton, Mass., April 10, 1800, æ. 80 years; m., 1st, May 15, 1746, Martha Gibbs, dau. of Jacob Gibbs, of Hopkinton, Mass., d. Feb. 1, 1756; m., 2d, Dec. 9, 1756, Anna, dau. of William and Anna Coye, she d. April 7, 1800, æ. 72; Mr. Coye was a respectable farmer in Western, Mass. He came with his wife from Scotland, and has a large family of children. His dau. Beulah, m. Capt. Caleb March Chase, the richest man in Sutton, and whose sister Judith, m. Thomas Hall, the brother of Willis. Mr. Coye's sons were very respectable men and there are about seventy names of their descendants in my possession. Willis Hall was a tall broad shouldered man, and a man of great influence in the town and county. He was a deacon in the church of which he became a member in 1742, held the office of selectman ten years and was a representative in the legisla-At one time he was chosen chairman of a convention held in Worcester, consisting of five hundred delegates, which met to consider some difficulties between the government and the people; influential parties were sent from Boston to break up the meeting, but the chairman preserved order, and the convention passed resolutions which were conciliatory, and the trouble ceased. He carried with him much weight of character, and while he was benevolent and conciliatory he could no doubt assume a commanding aspect and dignity equal to any emergency. It is said of him that "He was universally respected, and never had an enemy." Deacon Willis Hall succeeded in the ownership of the homestead and lived in the house where John P. Stockwell, the present owner, now lives; his father Dea. Percival Hall lived and died in the old house which stood near it. The following is a copy of a letter written in his old age to his son Nathaniel, dated Sutton, Sept. 20, 1798.

Beloved son, I received yours of Sept. 10, and rejoice that God hath given you any degree of health, and pray God to restore you to perfect health; through the divine goodness we are in as good a state of health as we have been in for several years. It is a general time of health in this town, although there are some deaths; spiritual death is great among us. The church of Christ in this town is but small as many are removed by death, and there are no additions; none stir themselves up to take hold on God, but on the contrary, a disregard to religion, wordly mindedness, and quarreling at the doctrines of the Gospel, especially that of God's absolute sovereignty, much prevails. And now my Dear Son, as God hath set you as a watchman on the walls of his spiritual Jerusalem, see to it that you be faithful to God, and to the souls committed to your charge, by giving warning to every one. I want to say more but my nerves are so weak and such a tremor in my hands that I can write but poorly. Give my kind love and regard to Mrs Hall your consort, your Mam remembers her love to both of you. I should be glad if you would write to me as often as you can.

From your aged and loving father,

WILLIS HALL.

At the time of his wife's death, he was as well as usual and was more than usually fervent in his ramily devotions in the evening, but in the morning he was found in a fit of apoplexy, of which he died on the third day. The funeral of his wife was delayed and both were buried in one grave. Children were:

1. Willis, b. May 29, 1747 (Family 450). 2. Jacob, b. Feb. 2, 1749 (Family 451). 3. Martha, b. Sept. 12, 1751 (Family 452). 4. Grace, b. Oct. 30, 1752 (Family 453). 5. Olive, b. Dec. 11, 1755 (Family 454). And by 2d wife: 6. Jonathan, b. Oct. 21, 1757 (Family 455). 7. Josiah, b. Oct. 5, 1759 (Family 456). 8. Israel, b. Jan. 21, 1762; d. Sept. 6, 1764. 9. Nathaniel, b. April 9, 1764 (Family 457). 10. Joseph, b. Jan. 26, 1767 (Family 458). 11. Anna, b. June 1, 1769 (Family 459). The children were all baptized by Rev. Dr. David Hall.

grant of 1635, and the grandfather of Dea. Percival Hall. Mr. Green was the principal of Leicester Academy-several years; he removed to Croydon, N. H., about 1786 and was the town clerk of that town and a selectman; he removed to Richmond, Vt., where he d. Jan. 10, 1824, æ 72, leaving his Widow Grace who lived with her daughter Sally. There is a small Latin Grammar in my possession on which is inscribed as follows: "Bought by Jesse Green, Feb. 10, 1772," and "Nathaniel Hall's book, 1780." Probably Nathaniel Hall prepared for college under the instruction, if not by the advice of Jesse Green. Four of the children were born in Leicester and four in Croydon:

1. Thence, b. July 11, 1778, at Lebanon, N. H. (Family 465).
2. Martin, b. Jan. 19, 1779. 3. Jacob, b. Dec. 6, 1780. 4. Sarah, b. Jan. 15, 1783 (Family 466). 5. Iddo, b. July 1, 1785 (Family 467). 6. Jesse, b. May 10, 1787 (Family 468). 7. Grace, b. (Family 455.) Jonathan Hall<sup>4</sup>, Willis<sup>3</sup>, Percival<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>: b. Oct. 21, 1757, bapt., 23; d. Sept. 24, 1845, æ. 88; m., about 1780, Mercy Cady, d. Dec. 19, 1860; she was a hard working and very kind woman. He came to Windsor in 1788, or before, and located on a farm nearly a mile west of the village, and although a farmer he was not a hard worker, but took the cares of life easily; he was a pleasant and social man; in a visit to him in the fall of 1842, he walked with me to the village and visited the state's prison, and other places of interest, and was quite well preserved for a man of his years; he gave me an interesting account of his near of kin, but could not go back of his grandfather, only to give the tradition that "three brothers came over," one settled in Medford, one on the cape and the other in Connecticut. He was, in personal appearance, of rather a spare form, and somewhat rounded shoulders, a pleasant countenance, his hair was brown, and his features moderately prominent; at the election some difficulty arose about making a choice, and he was detained until midnight, yet he did not seem to be much fatigued; he had been in the revolutionary war in company with his brother Willis, and on that account he received a pension; he was captain of the revolutionary veterans on the occasion of the visit to Windsor of Gen. La Fayette. Children were:

1. Lucy, b. — 18, 1786 (Family 477). 2. Lewis, b. Oct. 13, 1788; d. Oct. 29, 1793. 3. Israel, b. Oct. 30, 1792 (Family 478). 4. Maria, b. July 20, 1797; d. Jan. 20, 1809. 5. Sophia, b. June 6, 1859, dau. of Malachi and Abigail (Keyes) Marble, son of Freegrace and Mary Sibly Marble, the first marriage in the town of Sutton. Freegrace was a carpenter and helped build the State house in Boston, he came from Andover and was the son of Samuel and Rebecca Marble; Freegrace d. in 1799. Josiah Hall lived with Mr. Timothy Sibley and learned the watchmaker's trade; he bought his father's homestead of his brother Joseph, upon whom it had been settled, and built the present house and barn; he sold it and the mill April 6, 1813, the day on which his grandson, Gardner Hall, was born, to Capt. David Dudley; the house and farm was next owned by Capt. Asa Woodbury, and inherited by its present occupant J. P. Stockwell, through his wife; Capt. Josiah Hall removed to West Sutton and purchased a farm where he died; he was a soldier in the revolutionary war, first as aide to his brother Willis, he was in Washington's army for seven months 1778, at Fishkill, N. Y., he was afterwards stationed in Rhode Island, in Capt. Andrews' company, and he guarded a powder house in Brookfield; he is described as a man of much force of character, and his hooked nose is mentioned several times in the history of Children were all b. in the old homestead in East Sutton:

(Family 457.) NATHANIEL HALL4, Willis3, Percival2, John1: b. in Sutton, Mass., April 9, 1764; d. in Granville, N. Y., July 31, 1820; m., in Hollis, N. H., Jan. 22, 1798, by the bride's grandfather, Rev. Daniel Emerson, Hannah, daughter of Dea. Daniel Emerson, all of Hollis, she was b. Dec. 7, 1773, and d. May 22, 1832. He was brought up on his father's farm in the east part of Sutton, Worcester Co., Mass., and probably prepared for college in Leicester Academy, taught by his brother in law Jesse Green. was taxed in Croydon, N. H., in 1786, and his name is found on its records every year for the next ten years. He graduated at Dartmouth College, 1790, and studied divinity with the celebrated Dr. Nathaniel Emmons of Franklin, Mass., and adopted his views of theology and manner of sermonizing. His sermons were generally on the doctrine of a text, in his forenoon discourse, and on the practical inferences drawn from such doctrine in his afternoon discourse. After a useful itinerancy, he was settled as pastor of the Congregational church and society of Granville, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1797. Rev. Eli Smith, of Hollis, his brother-in-law, was present and took a prominent part in the installation. This church then embraced the whole town and a part at least of Pawlet, Vt. The people were mostly from New England and their descendants have chiefly removed to the west. Several churches of various denominations have since been established in the town. The church is now nearly extinct and is connected with the Presbyterians. The church building has been remodeled and repaired twice, so that it bears no resemblance to its former appearance. Rev. Dr. William Jackson of Dorset, about fifteen miles distant, was a classmate and lifelong friend of Mr. Hall and probably had something to do in introducing him to the people of Granville. They co-operated in conducting ministerial associations and various societies for the promotion of the cause of Christ. In these meetings Mr. Hall was often chosen scribe, being an excellent writer. Dr. Jackson wrote a biographical sketch of Mr. Hall which was published in the Boston Recorder, the following are a few extracts: "Mr. Hall established in college the reputation of being a regular studious youth, a good scholar and an investigating genius. His moral conduct was unexceptional although he did not make a profession of religion until after leaving college. Mr. Halls solid worth as a christian divine and minister, is well known in this region.

He had a weight of character which will not soon be forgotten. He was an able counseller. His discernment of moral truth and his ability to investigate and defend its principles, were distinguishing. Loose and unsystematic notions of divinity, and moral science, rarely escaped his observation. He saw with clearness the first leadings of error in principle or practice and opposed them with candor and firmness. His discernment of facts in the matter or method of a sermon, was singularly accute. This rendered him peculiarly useful in ministerial circles, and to theological students. But Mr. Hall was more than a mere metaphysician, for his discourses contained the sincere milk of the word; they were as practical as they were doctrinal. Practical improvement was both the moral and literal end of every sermon. In the practical part of his discourses he would sometimes speak with great power and eloquence. His ministry was blessed with several precious revivals of religion, and the church was built up and became large and prosperous; and its members were generally active and devout christians. His influence was extensive in that region. His praise was in all the churches." "Much study is a weariness to the flesh." Mr. Hall found it so in his experience, and poor health depressed his spirits, but he found consolation at such times by the doctrine of God's wise and merciful providence, and would exclaim: "The Lord reigns, let the earth rejoice!" In the summer of 1810, a swelling appeared on his thigh which continued to increase until it became enormously large, and caused his death. The doctors called it a femoral tumor, or blind cancer. The last sermon he preached, was on the first Sunday of January, 1820, from the text "Say ye to the righteous, it shall be well with him, say ve to the wicked, it shall be ill with him." He bore his last sickness with patience and resignation although he suffered much pain for several months. For the last few days of his life his debility was so great, that it was difficult to understand what he said. The night before he died, being sensible that his end was near, he said to his wife, put your trust in God, there is consolation in no other, take care of the children, they are devoted to God, bring them up for him. And he requested that when he came to die they should sing a hymn or Psalm in token of the christian's triumph in death. He died the next morning about ten o'clock, and the last word he tried to say was " sing.".

Mr. Hall had a very manly presence; he was tall, broad shouldered, erect, hair and eyes dark, eyebrows heavy, thin skin and blond complexion, with moderately prominent features, and a frank, open, manly countenance. He was generally grave and dignified, but was naturally social. The youth of Mrs. Hannah Hall was peculiarly happy, having good educational advantages, and the most favorable social and religious privileges. Her personal appearance was attractive, being nearly a blond, of medium size and rounded form, with brown hair and expressive hazel eyes. Her manners were a blending of dignity and grace; her intellect was of a superior order, having a clear perception, a good memory and a fine imagination. Her disposition was amiable in the highest degree. She wished well to every human being, and tried to make them happy, but her affection was quiet, deep and enduring, and guided by a large stock of good practical common sense. She was very sensitive and would sometimes grieve at the rudeness of others, but seldom complained. commanded the respect and affection of all who knew her, consequently she lived in peace with all the world, and never had an enemy. After her removal to Granville, she sustained the arduous duties of a pastor's wife with propriety and acceptance; in her household responsibilities she was prudent, cheerful and enduring, bearing herself with fortitude, and without repining amidst her life's work. She controlled her children by moral and intellectual force rather than by physical power, making them her friends and companions. She understood the rites of hospitality, and practiced them with ease and genuine good will, making people feel that they were at home.

The wife of Rev Joseph Emercon of Mender was with much doubt a daughter of Note. The pedigree of Mrs. Hannah Hall is as follows: Her father, Daniel Emerson was born in Hollis, N. H., Dec. 26, 1746, d. Oct. 20, 1820; his house was next to that of his father's in the village of Hollis; he was a farmer and a merchant; he held many offices of honor and responsibility; he was a captain in the revolutionary war, and served at Ticonderoga in 1776, and in Rhode Island, 1778, when there were five captains serving in his company in subordinate capacities; he was a justice of the peace and a representative of the town, and a deacon in the church, and assisted many people when in difficulty by lending them money; he was a man beloved generally. His father was Rev. Daniel Emerson, b. in South Reading, Mass., May 20, 1716, o. s., and d. 1801; he graduated at Harvard college, 1739, and was settled as the first pastor of Hollis, 1743; he was one of Whitefield's converts, and a zealous preacher; he also conducted an academy in his parish; he was chaplain in the French and Indian war in the expedition to Crown Point in 1755, and took precedence in rank of the other chaplains on account of his having a coat of arms of a superior order. In his personal appearance he is said to have resembled the famous Richard Baxter; he raised a large family. His father was Peter Emerson, of South Reading, a farmer, whose father was Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Mendon, Mass., who removed to Concord on account of Mendon being destroyed by Indians. His father was Thomas Emerson, the emigrant of Ipswich, Mass.; the names of his two sons, Joseph and John, are on the records of Ipswich, and his coat of arms is on his gravestone (see N. E. H. G. Reg., vol. 2, p. 52 and the appendix of the life of Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Wethersfield, Conn., by his brother, Rev. Dr. Ralph Emerson, late professor in

During her widowhood of twelve years, she managed her family and small farm very prudently with very limited means. She often asked advice, but always relied on her own judgment. It was her custom to read a portion of God's word in her family, morning and evening, and lead them in prayer, all standing; and also to ask God's blessing before eating while all were seated around the table, and of returning thanks before rising. Thus, steadfast in her acknowledgment of divine favors, and looking to God constantly for all blessings, she was peculiarly sustained, and her cares and burdens very much lightened. During her last and lingering illness (a kind of inward fever, to which she was always subject), her mind was calm and serene, trusting in God, and by no means complaining or exacting, or requiring any unnecessary service. And when the day of death came, she seemed to be sensible of the wonderous reality of bidding adieu to all she loved on earth, and of going to be with Christ, which is far better; and her eyes were bright and expressive until she passed away, without a struggle or a groan, like the clear shining of the setting sun, which biddeth good night and is gone to be a rising sun in the far off land.

The wife of Deacon Daniel Emerson, and mother of Mrs. Hannah Hall, was Ama Fletcher, who was a feeble woman, very sensitive and affectionate; she was the daughter of Deacon Joseph Fletcher, of Dunstable, the son of Captain Joseph and Sarah (Adams) Fletcher, of Westford, the son of Joshua and Sarah (Willy) Fletcher, of Chelmsford, the son of William and Lydia (Bates) Fletcher, of Concord, the son of Robert Fletcher, the emigrant from England, b. 1592. The wife of Deacon Joseph Fletcher, of Dunstable, was Elizabeth, the daughter of Captain Joseph and Susanna (Parker) Underwood, of Weston (see Fletcher Genealogy, 2d edition, which contains a likeness of Mrs. Hannah Hall and of her father Deacon Emerson and of her brother Ralph Emerson and the first edition of the Fletcher Family contains a coat of arms of the Emersons). The wife of Rev. Daniel Emerson was Hannah Emerson, daughter of Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Malden, the son of Edward Emerson of Chelmsford, the son of Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Mendon. The wife of the Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Malden, was Mary, daughter of Rev. Samuel Moody, of York, Me., the son of Caleb, the son of William Moody, who came from Wales to Ipswich, 1633, and to Newbury, 1635. The wife of Peter Emerson was Anna, daughter of Captain John Brown, called Esquire Brown, of South Reading, whose wife was Elizabeth, daughter of the distinguished Rev. John Fiske, the emigrant, and minister of Salem and Wenham, Mass., b. in England, 1601. The wife of Rev. Joseph Emerson, of Mendon and Concord, was Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Peter Bulkley, D. D., and his wife, Jane Allen, the emigrant from Odell, England, to New London, Conn. (see Hinman's first Puritans of Conn.), and minister of Concord, Mass., b. 1583; he was the son of Rev. He was the son of John and Susanna (Putnam) Whipple, and settled in Charlton soon after he was married.

The following is an extract from a letter which Mrs. Whipple wrote to her brother Nathaniel, Aug. 6, 1806. "When I visit Sutton and see the place where we once all lived together under the parental roof and find no father, no mother, and only one brother remaining, I feel as none knows, that has not been deprived of a father's house; though treated kindly by my brother, yet to visit that spot I feel little inclined; when I call to mind my tender parents I feel as compared to them I have no friends, not that I mean to complain of my present situation for I am comfortably provided for." Children were:

1. Almira, b. Nov. 17, 1795; d. April 19, 1821; m., June 12, 1820, Rev. Benjamin Rice, minister of South Deerfield, Mass.; she died with her first child and they were both buried in one grave. 2. Mr. Forbes came to Windsor when he was sixteen years old with his uncle Jonathan Hall, and was employed in the extensive store of Gen. Curtis until he set up business for himself; he had the confidence of the people, and became a successful business man, and his influence in society was extensive and commanding; he filled many offices with distinguished ability; he represented the town in the legislature, of which he was an able and efficient member; he served as judge of county court for six years and his decisions were generally considered just; he was the president of Windsor bank from its organization; he was a member of the council of the State of Vermont; and one of the trustees of Middlebury College; he possessed a good deal of natural reserve of manners, but his meekness and his goodness of heart, together with his great ability rendered him popular, and people trusted him, and conferred offices upon him; his christian character was one of interest; his conversion was very marked; he was first admitted to the Congregational church in 1800, but having changed his views of the mode of baptism, he united with the Baptist church in 1813, and became its chief supporter, and when the church was without a pastor he conducted the devotional exercises; he donated the parsonage and contributed liberally towards building the meeting house, and at his death left an annuity of 200 dollars for the support of the minister and the use of twenty pews. His liberality was also private to a considerable extent, for his substantial aid always accompanied his tender sympathy for the destitute and the afflicted and the friendless. In the later period of his life his gifts to benevolent objects exceeded his income, and yet at his death he left $60,000 to his widow and nine children, besides the inheritance of a good name; he was commonly called Gen. Forbes. Children were:

Mr. Dwinell was endowed with strong mental powers, and retained them in a remarkable degree to the last; he lived a christian life and enjoyed the christian's consolations; he was one of the pillars of the Christian church in Calais, and was active and edifying in conducting its prayer meetings, and was greatly respected for his consistent and righteous life. And when his end drew nigh he did not look upon it with fear and dread or doubt, or indifference, but with the confidence of hope, inspired by faith, which took hold of immortality. He was much in praise for God's goodness to him even down to old age, and his desire was to depart and be with Christ. The text used at his funeral was, Ps. 37:37, "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." He had, ten children, seven of whom survived him. In the midst of hardships incident to a new country, he wisely found means to give his children the advantages of a good education, thus preventing that degeneration to which the children of new settlers are so much exposed. They were:

(Family 479) SOPHIA HALL5, pedigree as before: b. in Windsor, June 18, 1799, and is living in St. Louis, Mo.; m., Aug. 14, 1823, Sullivan Blood, b. in Windsor, April 24, 1795; his parents came from Massachusetts to Vermont, in 1793. They lived on a farm, and d. about 1813; in about two years afterwards Sullivan worked his way by degrees west, until he arrived at St. Louis, in 1817, which he made his future home. He was appointed one of the first watchmen of that city, and soon became captain of police, and retained the office for ten years. He was deputy sheriff in 1833, and became alderman for one year, after which he would not accept of any office. About this time he became engaged in the St. Louis and New Orleans transportation business, which was profitable and he became extensively known; his uniform kindness and gentlemanly bearing towards passengers, made his boats very popular. At the incorporation of the Boatman's Savings Institution in 1847, he was one of its directors, and soon after its president, which office he held until 1870, when he resigned, but retained the office of director and took an active part in its affairs, making it daily visits. He was on his way in one these visits Nov. 27, 1875, when he stopped at the house of his son-in-law, Mr. Sloss, and feeling faint, reclined upon the sofa, when he soon expired. Capt. Blood had a noble presence, and was guided by principles of unswerving integrity in all of his intercourse with his fellow men and he possessed good judgment with great force of character. He was willing to work, and made his labors result in success. Rev. Dr. Nichols said of him in his funeral discourse: "A just and good man, honored and beloved by all, has been taken from us. One of the oldest of the surviving citizens, who helped to lay the foundations of this imperial city; his death is the removal of an ancient landmark. His life was all of a piece, the life of an honest man; men confided in him and were not betrayed. The wealth that he gained he honestly earned, let us honor his memory, for such men do not live in vain. He was a man of decided convictions, although quiet and unobstrusive in his manners, yet he was one of those resolute souls whom nothing could shake when once determined; such men are rock men, and instead of drifting with the current, they shape its course. He was a companionable man, possessing a sweet cheerful temper, a sincere heart, and patient soul, delighting in the company of little children as though a child's heart was his. He was a christian man, a man of prayer, he loved the prayer meeting, the sanctuary, and company of christians. he relied not on his own righteous life, he was remarkably humble. and rested only in the righteousness of his Redeemer. Old age, with him was like a mellow autumnal sunset, all aglow with golden light, and full of peace. For such a man death is gain, and the hope of heaven glorious. Then let us treasure up these traits of our brother for our profit, for there is nothing more worthy of our study than the lives of men; they are more instructive than books. How precious is the legacy of a good man's life, and memory "! The mortal remains of Capt. Blood were buried in Bellefontain cemetery. It is worthy of remark, that his wife was a fit companion for such a man, and he showed his good judgment and force of will and energy of character in returning from a far country, in those days of difficult travel, for the sake of obtaining a treasure which proved to him, more precious than diamonds and gold. His success in life and his great usefulness, as well as his happiness, greatly depended upon her influence. Children were:

theology with Rev. Dr. J. Bushnell, of Cornwall, Vt., and was ordained a Congregational minister, with a view to becoming a missionary to the Cherokee Indians; but circumstances forbidding his cherished desire in this respect, he became the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hampton, in the town of Westmoreland, Oneida Co., N. Y., about 1823, where he labored until 1833; his pastorate was very acceptable and uncommonly useful; he was untiring in his diligence, zeal and fidelity; his sermons and prayers were full of the spirit, direct and effectual. He sought to do his best, from day to day, to glorify the Gospel of the grace of God. He was a man of strong convictions, and showed a singular courage in maintaining Seeing the demoralizing tendency of the prevailing use of intoxicating drinks, he formed a temperance society in his parish, the second that was formed in the State of New York, west of Al-He was very benevolent, and gave freely according to his means to every good cause; and so far from being greedy of gain, he often suffered in his dealings, submitting, without controversy, to unrighteous charges. In 1833 he became an agent for the Home Missionary Society, in which service he visited annually the churches in seventeen counties in central and eastern New York; and his usefulness became as extensive as was his work. He was highly esteemed as far as known for his christian consistency, good judgment and fervent piety. His family were located for several years at Utica, N. Y., and then removed to Clinton, N. Y., that his children might enjoy better educational advantages. At the death of his first wife he was left desolate and afflicted, and really sick, with a family of children to be cared for. This led him to contract a second marriage, in a few months, with Julia, widow of Robert Wilson, and dau. of Rev. J. B. Preston, of Rupert, Vt., with whom he lived but one month, when he was called away by death, it being only about eleven months after the death of his first wife.

Hannah E. (Hall) Crane was educated at the female seminary of her uncle Rev. Joseph Emerson, in Byfield, Mass.; and after the death of her father she established a select school at home, where she was very successful, and especially useful to her younger brothers. She possessed much energy of purpose and decision of character, blended with great beauty of person and loveliness of disposition; none knew her but to love her, she was a kind hearted sister, a devoted wife, and loving mother; indeed her kind sympathy was not confined at home, although she made her home a happy one, and drew many to it who needed to share for a time in its comforts; her heart was with the poor and the needy, the downcast and suffering; she sympathized deeply with the oppressed and the enslaved, and opened her doors and her hospitality to those who labored for its extinction; her death was greatly lamented, not only by her family and near of kin, but by all of her acquaintances, both the high and the low, the rich and the poor, saint and sinner. Rev. Abijah and Hannah E. (Hall) Crane were both lovely in their lives, and not far separated in their deaths. Their bodies lie in Clinton graveyard; they sleep peacefully in Jesus, awaiting the quickening of a blessed resurrection, while their souls are gone to their exceeding great and rich reward in heaven. Children were:

1. Edwin Hall, b. in Westmoreland, N. Y., May 30, 1825; d. at Memiken, Persia, Aug. 27, 1854; m., Feb. 22, 1852, in Otisco, N. Y., Ann Eliza, dau. of Elisha and Cynthia (Dada) Cowles, b. Dec. 30, 1828; she m., 2d, Mr. Powell, a returned missionary, and died about 1866. She was a woman of uncommon force of character, of distinguished intellectual ability and amiability of disposition; she possessed an undoubted faith in the doctrines of christianity and was endowed with a fervent zeal for their promotion and advancement. Mr. Crane was trained to strict obedience, and exact truthfulness, and was admitted to the church of Clinton at an early age; he graduated at Hamilton College with the first honor of his class in 1841, after which he engaged in teaching the academy at Owego, N. Y.; also studied law with his Uncle Willis Hall, then of Albany, who was confident that Edwin would become eminent as a judge, however he decided to become a minister of the Gospel, and entered Auburn Theological Seminary in 1848, and graduated in 1851; while in the seminary he considered it to be his duty to devote himself to the cause of foreign missions, consequently he offered his services to the A. B. C. F. M., to be sent to any field of labor where they might consider his services most needed; he was sent to Oroomia, Persia, and was assigned to the mountain district of Garwar and stationed at Memiken, where he labored with much success for about two years, when constrained by a sense of duty he rode fifteen miles to see the sick governor of Dizza, of whom he took the typhus fever, and died in two or three weeks; thus this learned and conscientious and amiable young missionary was called to his rest, and his reward, in the early morning of his work; his classmates in the theological seminary were Prof. Eells and Prof. Morris of Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, and President Seelye of Amherst College; Prof. Eells was his classmate and roommate both in college and seminary. Children were, i

his parents removed to Jefferson county, N. Y., when he was a boy, and he went to Governeur at the age of eighteen years, and has been by his own good judgment and energy successful in business, and is highly respected; children were, i. Charles Herbert, b. Dec. 20, 1868; ii. Helen Emerson, b. Feb. 26, 1875. 6. George Whitefield, b. in Clinton, March 25, 1836; d. at the house of his uncle, David B. Hall, in Princetown, Schenectady Co., N. Y., March, 1863; he was at birth a very small child, and was always feeble.

(Family 486.) WILLIS HALLS, Nathaniel4, Willis3, Percival2, John 1: b. at Middle Granville, Washington Co., N. Y., April 1st, 1801; m., in New York, March 27th, 1847, Helen Boucher, wid. of Capt. Handly, he d. s. p. June 14th, 1868, in New York city. He enjoyed early advantages of education, graduated at Yale College in 1824, with the highest honors of his class. After leaving college he engaged as teacher of the academy in Norwich, Conn., for a short time, and then commenced the study of law with Judge Gould of Litchfield, Conn., which he completed with Judge Johnson, in New York. After being admitted to the bar in 1827, he commenced the practice of his profession at Mobile, Ala., but in 1832, he established himself in New York, where he rose to distinction in his profession and as a leader, orator and statesman. In 1836, he was elected by the Whig party to the legislative assembly at Albany, as one of the representatives of the city and county of New York. This assembly was noted for its large number of able men. As chairman of the committee on banks and banking, he introduced a bill which became a law, entirely changing the system of banking. It consisted of two main features; the first was to make the privilege of banking free, in order to stimulate enterprize and industry; the second was to guarantee the redemption of bank bills, by obliging banks of issue to deposit collateral securities with the comptroller of the state. Both of these provisions of the law were subsequently adopted by the Federal government, and have become the settled policy of the nation.

In the fall of 1838, Mr. Hall was appointed to the office of attorney general in Gov. Seward's cabinet, and in all the duties of the several departments connected with the office, he conducted himself with such suavity of manners and distinguished ability that he received the highest commendation. Hon. Thurlow Weed, whose judgment of men was very accurate, said that Willis Hall was a brilliant genius, and Gov. Seward said in making choice of Willis Hall as his attorney he made no mistake. There were two matters of great importance that required his attention, which had come down from the former administration, they were the anti-rent troubles in the manorage of Rensselaerwick and the Canada border Mr. Hall investigated the first and devised a plan of settlement, equitable in its nature and at the same time reducing the objectionable features of those ancient leases and bringing them into accordance with American principles. This plan was subsequently carried into effect by legislative and judicial action, and the troubles With regard to the Canada border difficulties, Mr. Hall gave his official opinion that Canadians committing depredations in the state might be tried in the state, in the proper courts, for their offences if they could be arrested within its borders. This opinion was approved by the authorities at Washington, but the next administration at Washington disapproved of it. When Alexander Mc Leod, a Canadian, had been arrested at Buffalo and indicted for the murder of Amos Durfee, a citizen of the state of New York, Lord Palmerston, Prime Minister of England, and Daniel Webster, Secretary of State at Washington, demanded Mc Leod on habeas corpus, the case was tried by the Supreme Court of New York and the correctness of Mr. Hall's opinion was sustained, and Mc Leod was tried at Utica, in 1841, and was cleared, having clearly proved an alibi. These trials involved national interests, and a perfect knowledge of international law, but they gave to Attorney General Hall a favorable and more than national reputation. After Mr. Hall's term of office had ended, he still continued to reside at Albany, and was elected a representative of that city and county to the legislature for the next year. The part which he took in that assembly may be found by reference to its documents.

His combined duties political and legislative, proved too exhausting for his strong and vigorous constitution. The path of more eminent success in political life seemed open to him, when in the autumn of 1843. he was struck down by an attack of apoplexy resulting in paralysis of his left side; from this he never fully recovered but his mind remained clear, and active. While temporarily absent in Cuba, he received the nomination for governor of the State of New York, which honor, however he was obliged to decline on account of his impaired health. In the presidential campaign of 1844, he was nominated by the Whig party for elector-at-large on the Clay ticket. He was not only a zealous political supporter of Henry Clay's, but his warm personal triend. In the same year he resumed his professional duties in the city of New York, and was elected counsellor to the board of aldermen. He was also professor in the law school at Ballston, New York. In March 1847, he married in New York, Mrs. Handly, widow of an English officer. She was an English lady of noble family, remarkably gifted and highly accomplished. After residing for several years in New York and Albany, he traveled with his family for three years in Europe.

After his return to New York he retired from public life, and devoted much time to reading, keeping pace with the rapid progress in various departments of knowledge; but he was most keenly interested in studying those forces whose results would effect the nation's prosperity, especially as great troubles grew more menancing, and culminated in civil war; that high toned patriotism, the inspiration of his younger years, never waned, and now, that the infirmities of age compelled him to retire from the field of action, his heart was still in the struggle; from the quiet of his library, he looked on, with the far seeing eye of a statesman, following the movements of the armies, and gave opinions as to results, which were prophetic. He usually passed his summer among those picturesque hills, overlooking Nyack-on-the-Hudson; he loved those "rocks and rills," those "woods and templed hills," and that noble river, not only because he gloried in being "an American citizen," but because his heart ever thrilled, responsive to all that was beautiful or grand in nature; his eminent social qualities, genial nature, courteous manners and noble bearing, his brilliant genius and lofty magnanimity made him leader and favorite in every circle in which he moved; yet, possessing to a large degree, that true modesty, ever the companion of true greatness; none came within the sway of his influence, without being impressed by its elevating power; his great heart had sympathy for all his kind, even the dumb animals found a friend in him. His death occurred at the house of his younger brother Dr. Edwards Hall, after an illness of a few days, not considered by himself as very serious, being overcome by the severe heat of the season, but its suddenness was according to his desire which he had often expressed, for he dreaded to be long sick, and he looked for a brighter and a better state of existence in the world to come through faith in Jesus Christ; his body was laid in Woodlawn cemetery, dust to dust, ashes to ashes, until the morning of a glorious resurrection.

(Family 487.) NATHANIEL EMMONS HALL<sup>5</sup>, pedigree as before: b. Dec. 12, 1803; lived on the homestead at Middle Granville, N. Y., where he d. Nov. 22, 1881; m., Oct. 2, 1841, Mary, dau. of Jesse Fell of Bloomington, Ill., who was from Pennsylvania and of the Quaker persuasion. Mr. Hall was then living at Hudson, a few miles from Bloomington, where he located a quarter-section and spent several years getting it into cultivation, and left it a little before a railroad was constructed through it, consequently failed of realizing the benefit of the rise in the price of real estate; he returned to the homestead in Granville, N. Y., in 1848, and slate quarries on it becoming valuable, rendered his pecuniary condition quite comfortable. When he was young he learned the art of dentistry, which he practiced for many years; he was a very tall, broad shouldered man, large frame and of a spare form, dark brown and massive hair which held its color without much change to the last, dark grey and partially hazel eyes, and prominent features; he was a man of much intelligence and a great reader, was an elder in the Presbyterian church, the same which had been Congregational, and of which his father had been pastor; he was a very kind man, and a good neighbor. Children b. in Hudson were:

1. and 2. Twins, son and daughter, d. at birth. 3. Ralph Emerson, b. Jan. 11, 1844; d. Jan. 13, 1863, at Harper's Ferry, Va., of inflammatory rheumatism, in the service of the United States, in Capt. Baker's company formed in Granville; his body was interred at Middle Granville, N. Y., and his name is on the soldier's monument erected at that village. 4. A son, d. at birth. 5. A son d. at birth. 6. Lucretia Mott, d. at the age of six months, April, 1848. 7. Daniel Edwin, b. at Middle Granville, May 5, 1850; he has spent several years at school and lives on the homestead, with his mother. 8. Sarah Jane, b. at Middle Granville, May 3, 1853; m., Dec., 1875, W. S. Wing, of Indianapolis, Ind.; a railroad clerk; removed to Omaha, Neb.; she is a very amiable and intelligent lady, a proficient in the art of fine painting, and possesses many other accomplishments.

(Family 488.) Daniel Emerson Hall<sup>5</sup>, pedigree as before: b. May 9, 1810; d. at Mobile, Ala., April 14, 1852; from an abscess in the liver, the effects of yellow fever, which he had the fall previous; m., Jan. 13, 1840, Delphine E. Kennedy, of Mobile, Ala.; she m., 2d, Gen. Ledbury, of Mobile, who was an officer in the confederate army; she died on her way to North Carolina during the war; her grandfather Dr. William Stair Kennedy, was born in Scotland, and lived for some years in France where he studied medicine, and then emigrated to South Carolina, where his son William Erskine was born, who became a physician and removed to Mobile, Ala., and engaged in the practice of his profession, he m.

Delphine E. DeOlin, who was born in Bordeaux, France, and was a niece of Louis DeOlin, an officer in the French army stationed at Mobile, their fourth child was Delphine E., who became the wife of Daniel E. Hall, she was a woman of superior intellect, ardent affection and graceful manners. Mr. Hall was a man of great energy and self reliance, and endurance; he lived with his uncle Jonathan Hall when he was eight years old, and at ten he lived with his maternal grandfather in Hollis for whom he was named; on one occasion he did not do just as his grandfather desired or expected, and soon after by way of punishment he brought from Boston a new hat for Daniel; this subdued the boy much more effectually than a severe flogging would have done, and it illustrates the disposition of both grandfather and grandson; in his teens he was not afraid of hard work, evidently determined to do something and to become something in the world; he succeeded by his own efforts in preparing for college and then obtained a loan from his uncle Rev. Dr. Ralph Emerson, Prof. in Andover Theological Seminary (as his brother Willis had previously done), which enabled him to study four years in Yale College and to graduate in 1834; he studied law with his brother Willis in New York, and settled at Mobile, where he soon had a practice of $10,000 a year; in 1844 he visited the north with his family, the thought of the coming war seemed to be uppermost in his mind, and he used his influence in private conversation and to some extent in public speeches, in favor of the election of Henry Clay to the office of president of the United States, hoping thereby, if successful, to avert the dreadful conflict; but we at the north did not suppose such a calamity possible, and had it not been for such a general sentiment of security, Clay probably would have been elected and the conflict might have been avoided; he could not bear the thought of the fratricidal strife which his keen foresight plainly saw in the not distant future. He did all he could to prevent it, but it came, yet he did not see it; he was mercifully taken away from the evil to come. He was an earnest matter of fact man, and took things as they were, not as he would like to have them; he was brave, even bold in defence, and would not brook wrong; there was no duplicity in his nature, nor was his mind unbalanced in the least by any very large degree of imagination or fancy. The bent of his mind was realistic and yet he had a kind heart, and a tender sympathy and very ardent affections; he wished well to his kindred, and was willing to demonstrate it by deeds of substantial value. His children were baptized in the Presbyterian church; the surviving children were:

David B. Hall

(Family 489.) DAVID B. HALL5, pedigree as before: b. March 16, 1812; residence Duanesburgh, Schenectady Co., N. Y.; m., April 14, 1856, Jane Eliza, daughter of Mulford and Roxana (Hitchcock) Dayton, of Middle Granville, Washington Co., N. Y., b. Feb. 14, 1824, d. May 29, 1878; she graduated at Castleton Seminary, Vermont, and was engaged in teaching in district schools and higher schools in the states of New York, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Virginia, many years; she was a good scholar and a kind-hearted teacher, ruling her scholars by the influence of her kindness, more than by physical coercion. Mr. Hall spent two years in study at Burr Seminary, in Manchester, Vt., and four years at Union College, in Schenectady, where he graduated in 1839; studied theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, N. J., and was licensed and ordained to preach the gospel, by the Association of Pawlet, Vt.; has labored with considerable success in several churches in connection with the "Reformed (Dutch) Church in America," and has now retired upon a farm in Duanesburgh, Schenectady Co., N. Y.; he has labored occasionally for many years in collecting materials, and compiling this genealogy of the Halls of New England. children were born in the parsonage of the Reformed (Dutch) church in Princetown, near Schenectady, N. Y .:

I. Mary Jane, b. Aug. 31, 1857; m., April 14, 1881, Alonzo

Note. Mulford Dayton<sup>6</sup> was the son of Abram<sup>5</sup>, the son of Nathan<sup>4</sup>, the son of Samuel<sup>3</sup>, the son of Robert<sup>2</sup>, the son of Ralph<sup>1</sup> the emigrant, who came first to Boston, and was in New Haven, Conn., where he signed the compact of association in 1639, as Ralph Dayghton, and removed to East Hampton, Long Island, in 1649, where he died in 1658. The name of the mother of his children is not ascertained, but his 2d wife was the widow of a Mr. Haines; he was a Puritan, and his children and posterity were generally of that faith. Abram<sup>5</sup> was baptised at East Hampton in 1766, and died at Middle Granville, N. Y., Nov., 1825, æ. 58; m. Desire Vail, who died in 1841, at the age of 72 years; he was called captain and also boss Dayton; he carried on a large business as tanner, currier and shoemaker at Middle Granville, N. Y.; he was also a drover and butcher; he was a large man, with prominent features, and possessed a generous soul; he employed a great many men, and they were satisfied with his treatment of them. His son Mulford followed his father's business, but to much less extent; he was an excellent man, and died Feb. 14, 1836, æ. 40; his wife was Roxana, daughter of Merick and Abigail (Strickland) Hitchcock, of Middle Granville, and formerly of Greenfield, Mass.

Van Patten, of Schenectady, a carpenter and house builder. 2. Sarah Eliza Dayton, b. Oct. 11, 1862. 3. Harriet Emilie Matilda, b. April 5, 1868.

(Family 490.) EDWARDS HALL5, pedigree as before: b. Oct. 16, 1818; m., May 12, 1852, Margaret Matilda, dau. of Judge Chambers, of Trenton, N. J.; who was probably descended from the Chambers family of Pensylvania, who were Scotch, and settled in the counties of Lancaster and Cumberland, previous to 1750; they are a people of intelligence, energy and of great moral worth, and steadfast in their principles. Mrs. Hall combines in herself the best qualities of her ancestors. Edwards Hall prepared for college under the instruction of Judge John Hall, of Ellington, Conn., and spent four years at Hamilton College, where he graduated in 1840, and studied medicine in the colleges of Albany and New York, and located in practice permanently in New York, with the exception of two years, which he spent with his brother Richard in the gold mines of California, sailing round the cape in 1849 and returning in 1851; he is a physician of excellent standing, and a worthy member of Dr. John Hall's church on 5th Avenue; he has taken a prominent part in getting up a revised and enlarged edition of the Fletcher genealogy. Children were:

1. Charlotte Chambers, b. Dec. 26, 1854. 2. Sarah Frances, b. Aug. 18, 1861. They are both graduates of Rutgers Female College, New York, and young ladies of rare accomplishments.

Note. Alonzo Van Patten was born in Duanesburgh, Feb. 27, 1848; was a soldier in the war for the Union, Co. E, 64th N. Y. Vols., from Aug. 16, 1864, to July, 1865; he removed to Kansas City, Mo., Dec., 1881; he was son of Nicholas and Rebecca Ann (Kaly) Van Patten, who was b. on the old homestead in Rotterdam, near Schenectady, Oct. 10, 1816, son of Nicholas and (Van Valkenburgh), son of Frederick and Jacomyntje (Van Dyck), son of Richard and Rebecca (Van Antwerp), son of Aaron and Jamitje Conyn), m., in Albany, 1703; settled on the Normanskill, in Rotterdam, son of Nicholas Frederic one of the trustees of Schenectady, and Affie, daughter of Aaron and Catalyntje Devos; Nicholas F. Van Patten came to Schenectady in 1664, he was b. 1641, and was probably descended from Ring Van Putten, who received a coat of arms in 1510 (see History of Schenectady by Prof. J. Pierson).

The following is the Van Dyck pedigree:

Hendrick Van Dyck came from Utrecht to New York in 1645, and had served, in 1652, as ensign and as shout fiscal thirteen years under Gov. Stuyvesant and the West India Co.; his wife was Duventje Cornelis. In 1652 he had four children; one son settled in New Jersey, one of whose descendants became the wife of Judge Chambers, of Trenton; another son settled in Albany and was a physician, whose son, Jacobus, was also a physician, and settled in Schenectady, and whose descendants have intermarried with the Van Pattens.

HALLS OF ## CONCORD AND STOW, MASS.

Consisting of the posterity of Stephen Hall, the son of Widow Mary Hall, of Cambridge, Mass.

(Family 1.) STEPHEN HALLI, probably came from Coventry, Warwickshire, Eng., and was brother of John Hall, of Medford, Mass (see Halls of Medford), and a nephew of John Hall, of Yarmouth, Mass. (see Halls of Yarmouth). The names of Stephen Hall and William Hall are found on a petition in 1653, asking the court to set off a portion of Concord to be incorporated as the town of Chelmsford; but it is known that they did not belong to that part of the town. Stephen m., Dec. 3, 1663, Ruth, dau. of Capt. Dolar and Margary (Willard) Davis, of Barnstable, and afterwards of Concord; Margary was a sister of the famous Maj. Simon Willard, of Concord (see Williard and Davis Genealogies). Stephen Hall removed to Stow, Mass., after 1685, and was the representative of that town on the overthrow of Gov. Andros in 1689. It is possible that he was the Stephen Hall who lived in Quinnebaug or Plainfield, Conn., who is supposed to have been the father of John Hall who d. there in 1725. Children were:

1. Samuel, b. in Concord, Dec. 8, 1665; he had a son Stephen, of Groton, Mass., who had a wife Hepzibah. 2. Stephen, b. in Concord, 1667 (Family 2). 3. Mary, b. June 1, 1677. 4. Elizabeth, b. April 7, 1685; and probably others who d. in infancy.

(Family 2.) STEPHEN HALL<sup>2</sup>, Stephen<sup>1</sup>: b. 1667; d. in Charlestown, Nov. 7, 1749, æ. 82; m., 1st, Grace, dau. of Thomas and Grace Willis, of Woburn and Medford (for pedigree see Medford Halls); she was b. in Billerica, 1670, and d. of small pox, in Charlestown, Nov. 12, 1721, æ. 51; m., 2d, Martha Hill; m., 3d, Feb. 5, 1739, Anna, widow of Joseph Newell. Stephen Hall, "Stow Hall," so called, was taxed in Medford in 1691; he was admitted to church of Cambridge, 1705, and was one of the founders of the church of Medford, in 1713, and was dismissed from the church of Woburn; on the list of subscribers for Prince Chronological History is the name of Stephen Hall, Esq.; there are only a few of the subscribers who have the honorable title of Esq. appended to their names. Children were:

1. Stephen, b. Nov. 5, 1693 (Family 3). 2. Grace, b. June 17, 1697 (Family 4). 3. Esther, b. Dec. 27, 1700 (Family 5). 4. Willard, b. March II, 1703 (Family 6). 5. Josiah, b. May 12, 1705; bapt., 1705; d. May 20, 1706 (see gravestone, Medford). 6. Ruth, b. 1706; d. Jan. 17, 1753; m., 1st, July 8, 1725, John Webber; m., 2d, Dec. II, 1735, Dea. Thomas Symmes, father of Zechariah, who m. the dau. of her sister Grace; she was admitted to the church, Oct. 9, 1726, and her children, by Dea. Symmes, were, i. Elizabeth, bapt. Dec. 24, 1738; ii. Ruth, bapt. Dec. 6, 1741 (see Symmes' Memorial).

THIRD GENERATION.

1. Stephen, b. 1728. 2. Stephen, b. 1732. And by 2d wife: 3. Elizabeth, b. 1737, and perhaps others; she m., 1759, William Gray; and had, i. Martha Hall; ii. Stephen Hall; iii. William; iv. Note. The Parker pedigree is Isaac4, Daniel3, John2, John1.

John Parker, the emigrant ancestor, was of Biddlefield, Devonshire, Eng., and was one of the company of Richard Oines, who came to New England and took possession of land at the mouth of the Saco river. Afterwards, in 1650, Mr. Parker was the owner of Parker's Island, at the mouth of the Kennebeck river, which he bought of the Indian, Sagamon Robert Hood. He d. about 1660, his wife Mary d. 1660, leaving children, Thomas, John and Moses. The son John was b. 1634; m., Aug. 20, 1660, Margaret, dau. of Daniel and Elizabeth Fairfield, b. July 7, 1643; he bought in 1659 a large tract of land of the Indians situated on the west side of the Kennebeck river and included what is now Phipsburgh; children were, Daniel, James, and four daughters; the parents and James were killed by the Indians at Falmouth in 1690.

Daniel m. Ann Errington, b. 1669; d. Aug. 26, 1731, she was the dau. of Abraham and Rebecca (Cutter) Errington, of Cambridge. Abraham was the son of Widow Ann Errington, of Newcastle upon Tyne, b. 1576; d. 1653 in Cambridge (see gravestone and Cutter History).

8). 10. Mary, m. John Welch, and had, i. Jacob; ii. John; iii. Mary; iv. Grace; v. Elizabeth; vi. Elizabeth; vii. Anna; viii. Sarah; ix. Thomas; x. Abigail; xi. Stephen.

(Family 5.) ESTHER HALL<sup>3</sup>, Stephen<sup>2</sup>, Stephen<sup>2</sup>: b. Dec. 27, 1700; m., Dec. 18, 1729, Peter Edes, of Walpole, N. H. (see N. E. H. G. Reg., vol. 16, p. 16). Children were:

1. Benjamin, was a noted patriotic writer and printer in revolutionary times (see Drake's Historical Dictionary); the Journal which his son Peter kept while imprisoned by the British, has been printed. 2. Isaiah (Family 9). 3. Eliza Agnes, d. young. 4. Mary Elizabeth, d. young. 5. Harriet Eliza, lived in Cambridge, in 1880. 6. Agnes Bancroft, lived in Cambridge, in 1880. 7. Lucy Ann, d. May, 1867. 8. Charles, d. young. 9. David, d. young.

The record of the above family was furnished by Miss L. M. R. Abbott, of Groton, Mass., who is a descendant of Rev. Willard Hall<sup>3</sup>; her father's family is found on page 115 of the genealogy of the Abbotts. She is the daughter of Rev. Ephraim Abbott, one of the compilers of that work.

(Family 6.) WILLARD HALL3, Stephen2, Stephen1: b. March 11, 1703; d. March 14, 1779, æ. 76; m., Sept., 1729, Abigail Cotton, of Portsmouth, N. H., d. Oct. 20, 1789, a descendant of Rev. Mr. Cotton, the first minister of Boston. Mr. Hall graduated at Harvard College, in 1722, and was ordained pastor of the church of Westford, Nov. 15, 1727; the church was organized a little before on the same day, and the town was incorporated Sept., 1729, and taken off from the west part of Chelmsford. Mr. Hall has been represented as a pious and useful minister. Dr. Payson, the pastor of Chelsea, spoke in strong terms of the gratification of having been acquainted with him, and mentioned the clearness and strength of his mind as remarkable; he not only acted as a minister but as a physician, the necessity of the times requiring it, this greatly extended his usefulness as well as his labors; he looked well to the general welfare of the people of the town, and consequently was a strenuous advocate for common schools and general education; when the town on one occasion considered it expedient on a special emergency not to lay the required school tax, he complained to the general court of the neglect, and arraigned the people of his charge (the town) for their delinquincy; his action in the matter offended many, as he knew it would, but he would not allow the law in favor of supporting schools to be set aside on any emergency, and would make no compromise with delinquincy in this matter. Mr. Hall, like ministers in his day, owned a good farm; he had a fine taste in agriculture, and cultivated fruit trees, plums, apricots, peaches, pears, apples, currants, black, white and red; his garden, his orchard, and his fields bore witness to his skill and industry years after his death. His pastorate was a long one, ending only with his death, including a period of fifty-one years. Children were:

1. Willard, b. June 12, 1730 (Family 10). 2. Elizabeth, b. Oct. 24, 1732; m., 1st, Capt. Caleb, son of Dea. Thomas Symmes; m., 2d, Capt. Benjamin Fletcher. 3. Abigail, b. July 19, 1734; m. — Abbott, of Billerica. 4. Ann, b. April 22, 1736 (Family 11). 5. Mary, b. July 30, 1738; m. Josiah Minot, of Concord. 6. Martha, b. June 8, 1741; d. young. 7. Stephen, b. William Cotton and widow of Moses Holt, who was a graduate of Harvard college, 1767, and was master of a grammar school in Portland, Me. Mr. Holt m. Mary Cotton, 1771. Dea. Cotton went from Portsmouth, N. H., to Portland, Me., about 1733, when he was 30 years old, and became a wealthy tanner; his tan-yard was on the ground now covered with buildings within the city; he served as deacon from 1768 until his death. Stephen Hall graduated at Harvard college, 1765, and was tutor from 1771 to 1778; he then removed to Portland; he studied theology but was never settled as a pastor; he was ardent and zealous in his temperament, and was a warm politician; he was a strenuous advocate for the separation of Maine from Massachusetts, and was one of the delegates to a convention called for that purpose in 1785; and to obviate the objection of expense in maintaining a separate government, he offered to serve in any suitable capacity without compensation, for he was very wealthy, he served once as a selectman, and was a representative to General Court in 1780 and 1781; his wife d. July 27, 1808. Children were:

1. John, b. Jan. 21, 1778; he was the inventor of the valuable improvement of the rifle, known as "Halls carbine," and was employed by government many years at Harper's Ferry, Va; one of his children was Hon. Willard P. Hall, member of congress and governor of Missouri; another was William A. Hall, a judge of the same state, both eminent lawyers. 2. Martha, b. Oct. 10, 1779.

"She was a woman of much force of character and fervent piety, trained in early life under the ministry and personal influence of Rev. Daniel Emerson, who was eminent for eloquence, learning, and for a certain indefinable moral elevation and purity; which blended with a sympathetic spirit, Note. "The Pooles were an ancient and honorable English family who derived their name from the lordship or manor of Poole in county of Chester, where the family were seated as early as the reign of Henry III. The first in the pedigree was Robert De Pull, afterwards the name became de la Pole and then de Poole and finally Poole. One branch settled in Ireland, where they are still lords of the manor, the eldest branch in England'is represented by the present Sir Francis Poole, Baronet of Poole in county Chester, another branch was represented by Admiral Sir Charles Morice Poole K. C. B., of the county of Devon, and another by Sir Peter Van Nolten Poole, Baronet, of Fodenham, county of Gloucester. Of the American branches, Elizabeth Poole, b. 1589, came to Taunton, Mass., 1637, and bought land; was a woman of culture and great influence, she d. 1654. But the ancestor of Mrs. Hall was John Poole, he came from England in 1632, and settled at Cambridge; he held 200 acres in Lynn, and finally lived in Reading. His only son was Capt. Jona Poole who was a distinguished officer in the war of King Philip; he was president of the council 1675, 6, and representative in general assembly of 1677. His dau. Mary, m. Dea. Thomas Bancroft, and was the great-grandmother of George Bancroft the historian; Capt. Jona. Poole had a son John, who had a son Dea. William, the father of Mrs. Mehitable Hall.

bringing it into a close and warm contact with the hearts of men, was by its assimilating influence more effective than his eloquence or logic in moulding the religious life of his people at Hollis.' It was the spirit of such teaching and example that Mrs. Hall received and imparted to her own family life. It was based on such principles as these, reverence for the divine, faith in the unseen, obedience to just authority, subjection of inclination to duty, love of truth, unwearied effort for self-improvement, living not for one's self alone." There is not much known about Mr. Hall, but it is presumed that he was worthy both of his distinguished father, and more eminent son. Children were:

1. Willard, b. Dec. 24, 1780 (Family 18). 2. William C., b. 1783; d. 1863, unmarried; he spent most of his life in London and Paris, but came to the United States annually on business. 3. (Family 18.) WILLARD HALL5, Willis4, Willard3, Stephen2, Stephen1: b. in Westford, Mass., Dec. 24, 1780; d. at Wilmington, Del., May 10, 1875, in the 95th year of his age; m., 1st, soon after his settlement in Delaware, Junia, dau. of Chancellor Killen, a lady of beauty and accomplishments, she died in 1824, leaving an only child Lucinda, a striking representation of the mother, she m. Dr. Robert H. Porter, of Wilmington. Her father was much attached to her and made daily calls at her house, and her children succesively received their rudimentary education in his study, one of whom, Willard Hall Porter, succeeds him in the practice of law at Wilmington. Mrs. Porter died in 1869, and Dr. Porter died in 1876. Mr Hall m., 2d, in 1826, Harriet Hilliard. a most excellent woman who survived him. Of the early life of Mr. Hall but little is known except that he had to walk two miles to school, and that he attended the Academy and was thoroughly prepared for college; entered Harvard College in 1795, and graduated in 1799, a thorough scholar, and possessing the best of morals. He began the study of law in the office of Judge Dana at Groton, in 1800, and continued three years, when in 1803, he was admitted to the bar of Hillsboro Co., N. H. had now a good foundation in every respect for a career of future usefulness and success. As New England had more lawyers than were needed, he sought a more open field in the state of Delaware, where he was admitted to the bar, and in the month of May, 1803, settled in practice at Dover. His success, though slow, was progressive and enduring. His manner, was in argument to grasp firmly the governing principles of the case in hand, and to present them lucidly and forcibly, compelling conviction, and neglected the common arts of oratory. He sought not the applause of his hearers, but their assent. He was singularly painstaking in preparation, and always prompt in his engagements. In 1812, Mr. Hall was appointed by the governor, secretary of state. In 1816 and 1818 he was elected representative to congress. But congressional life was not congenial to his taste and he declined a third nomination. In 1821, he was again appointed secretary of state. In 1822, he was elected a member of the state senate. And on the 6th day of May, 1823, he was appointed by president Monroe, district judge for Delaware which office he held with distinction for 48 years, giving in his resignation in Dec., 1871. In 1824, he was requested by the legislature to revise and digest the statutes of the state. The work required great legal discrimination and good judgment. The laws then extended through six large volumes and were greatly confused by various acts of legislature. Mr. Hall reduced the whole to one octavo volume, which he submitted in 1829, and gave great satisfaction, no farther revision was found necessary until 1852. In 1830, he was unanimously elected as a delegate to the state constitutional convention, in which he was a very efficient member. Mr. Hall may be considered the father of the present public school system of the state of Delaware. It was his duty while secretary of state in 1822. to take into consideration the school laws, and he remodeled the whole system, and watched over it, and amended it, and nourished and strengthened it, and made it efficient and of incalculable advantage to the people, and to the state. He was engaged in the interest of education for 48 years. He also took an interest in the state Bible society and was its president thirty years, resigning in 1870, and was connected with it and gave service to it for 18 years previous. Its efficiency and usefulness is largely due to his labors, counsels, and example. Judge Hall was also president of the Wilmington Savings-Fund Society, from its organization in 1832, until a very advanced age. It is a noble charity, solely for the benefit of persons of small savings and without profit to those who conduct He was president for many years of the state colonization society. Also he gave an ardent support from the first to the temperance society. He was a ruling elder and a sabbath school teacher in the Presbyterian church, and was prompt and faithful in all the duties implied in being a Christian, and an office bearer in the church of Christ. In the wide and comprehensive range of his philanthropy, he missed no opportunity to do good in his public relations or in a private way. He was always accessible and proved to be a judicious counselor and a warm friend. His powers were well preserved until his 90th birthday, and he kept abreast of the times, and was always fresh, and able to perform the duties of any occasion, but during the succeeding winter he began to fail, and the ensuing period of four or five years was one of passive endurance rather than In personal appearance he was rather below the average active life. stature and slightly built, with a naturally quick movement, significant of purpose; his countenance was strongly expressive of both intelligence and benignity, and his whole aspect for a generation, in his old age, was exceptionally venerable. His was a character of beautiful symmetry, a full, and harmonious development of all his faculties. The above sketch is principally taken from the Memorial Address on the life and character of Judge Hall, delivered in 1879, by Hon. Daniel M. Bates before the Historical society of Delaware; of which Judge Hall was the first president.

HALLS OF REHOBOTH, MASS.

The emigrant ancestor was:

(Family 1.) EDWARD HALL1: probably the freeman of 1636, at Salisbury. He was at Duxboro, Mass., in 1636, 7, 8; at Braintree, Mass., 1640; at Taunton, Mass., 1641; at Duxboro again 1642 and 3; at Bridgwater, Mass., perhaps 1644, where allotment was made to him 1645, March 28. It is believed that he owned 1-54 part of the town from 1645 to 1650, when he withdrew; had land apportioned to him in Rehoboth, 1645; mention is made o goodman Hall of Duxboro, by John Gove of Charlestown, Mass., in his will made in 1647 (see N. E. G. H. Reg., vol. 7, p. 170). The administrators of the will of John Gove, viz.: Samuel Scarborough, John Gove of Roxbury, and Richard Hall, gave bond, Oct. 26, 1693 (see vol. 31, p. 104, Gen. Reg.). Edward Hall had a family in Braintree, Mass., from 1650 to 1655. He removed to Rehoboth, 1655, where he was No. 41 out of 49 persons who drew in order of the settlers estates, for meadow lands which lie on the north side of the town, at town meeting of Rehoboth, held June 22, 1658. Lots were also drawn May 26, 1668, for meadow lands in the north purchase, now Attleboro, Cumberland, R. I., and parts. of Norton and Mansfield. The name of John Woodcock, was next to that of Edward Hall in both drawings. (A daughter of Andrew Hall of Newton, married Mr. Woodcock, of Bridgwater.) Edward Hall made his will Nov. 23, 1670, died Nov. 27, 1670. His estate was valued at £84. The name of his wife was Esther or Hester, who survived him. The proprietory records of Rehoboth credits Edward Hall with a 50 pound right of commonage in 1658. And the widow, Hester Hall with the same right in 1671; and John Hall with the same in 1685, and with only one-half from 1697 to 1715. "Married in Rehoboth, Dec. 24, 1674, Thomas Jordan and Esther Hall." It is possible this was the widow of Edward Hall, but probably his daughter, yet there are no births of Thomas Jordan's children recorded in Rehoboth. The children of Edward and Hester Hall were born in Rehoboth, except the first two who were born in Braintree:

1. John, b. Jan. 28, 1651 (Family 2). 2. Esther, b. Oct. 23, 1654; m., Dec. 24, 1674, Thomas Jordan. 3. Samuel, b. Oct. 24, 1656, m., April 14, 1686, Elizabeth Brown, and had a family in Taunton. 4. Jeremiah, b. July 24, 1658. 5. Thomas, b. March 31, 1661. 6. Preserved, b. March 20 or 30, 1663, perhaps that was the Preserved Hall of Hingham, who with his wife Lydia, in 1709, gave a good character to a woman accused of being a witch (see N. E. H. G. Reg. vol. 5, p. 263). 7. Andrew, b. May 10, 1665 (Family 3). 8. Benjamin, b. Aug. 7, 1668 (Family 4).

SECOND GENERATION.

(Family 2.) JOHN HALL<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: b. Jan. 18, 1651; d. 1721; m. in Rehoboth, Nov. 18, 1684, Mary Newell, of Roxbury, Mass.; he was a soldier in King Phillip's war, and was in the swamp fight in 1675, and in the Narragansett expedition in 1689, he also advanced £16 to sustain the war. Children were b. in Rehoboth:

1. John, b. Oct. 13, 1685; d. 1686. 2. Jeremiah, b. March 11, 1687. 3. Perhaps John, d. March 11, 1691. 4. Mary. 5. Martha. 6. Edward, b. March 10, 1694; d. 1760; he gave his property to his widow Rebecca, to John, son of his brother John, and to Ephraim, son of his brother Ephraim; he also gave a deed to some land in Rehoboth, with his sisters Mary, Esther, Hannah, and Martha, spinsters, of Rehoboth, in 1721, to his brother John, of Taunton, where the deed was recorded. 7. Esther, b. Feb. 28, 1696. 8. John, b. March 27, 1698, there was an agreement in probate that John should have his sisters' shares at £60, perhaps he was that Lt. John, of Taunton, who m., Feb. 23, 1730, Lydia Kendrick, but the name of his widow was Hannah. 9. Priscilla, b. March 27, 1700; d. May 28, 1703. 10. Hannah, probably m., Nov. 7, 1727, Samuel Sabin of Rehoboth. 11. Ephraim, b. July 26, 1704 (Family 5). John Hall2 Sen, mentions in his will, his wife Martha, and his children Edward, Mary, Esther, and Hannah.

(Family 3.) Andrew Hall<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: b. in Rehoboth, May 10, 1665; d. in Newton, Mass., 1756. His will was dated Sept. 30, 1748, and is on file in the probate office at Cambridge. His son Edward, was executor, and had the homestead which had been conveyed to him Dec. 8, 1731, and confirmed by the will. He bought his step-mother's right. Andrew Hall was a weaver and farmer, and went to Newton in 1695, and Dr. Savage says he was m. there 1691. He m. Susanna, dau. of John and Susanna (Baesham) Capen, of Dorchester, b. Sept. 16, 1664, great-granddaughter of Barnard and Jane (Purchase) Capen, of Dorchester, in 1636.

Andrew Hall purchased in 1705, for £22, 43 acres of land between Oak Hill and Charles river, and which has been owned and occupied by his descendants of the Hall name ever since. His wife Susanna, d. Aug. 18, 1736; m., 2d, Oct. 12, 1737, Mary Bennett, who survived him. Children were:

1. John, b. Jan. 11, 1695 (Family 6). 2. Susanna, b. Jan. 1, 1697; m., 1719, Elizur Stoddard. 3. Sarah, b. Dec. 11, 1699; m. Samuel Gay, of Dedham. 4. Dorothy, m., 1732, Eliphalet Gay, of Dedham. 5. Edward (Family 7). 6. Andrew (Family 8). 7. Hannah, m. — Woodcock, of Bridgewater.

(Family 4.) BENJAMIN HALL2, Edward1: b. in Rehoboth, Aug. 7, 1668; d. in Wrentham, Aug. 26, 1726; m., in Wrentham, Jan. 9, 1691-2, Sarah Fisher, d. Nov. 2, 1756 or 1751 (see N. E. G. H. Reg., vol. 7, p. 183); he was absent from Wrentham a year or two before 1699, and a year or two next after 1710. Children were:

I. Josiah, b. in Rehoboth in what is now Attleboro, Jan. 15, 1694. 2. Sarah, b. in Wrentham, Feb. 20, 1696; d. May 6, 1697. 3. Edward, b. in Wrentham, March, 1698 (Family 9). Dorothy, b. May 20, 1700; m., Sept. 14, 1720, Samuel Ellis. Jeremiah, b. May 8, 1703; m. Dorothy. 6. Benjamin, twin to Jeremiah, m., March 15, 1727, Betty Blake (Family 10). Preserved, b. Nov. 28, 1706 (Family 11). 8. Sarah, b. March or Nov. 15, 1709, or May 15, 1708; m., Aug. 22, or Nov. 15, 1734, Peter Lynn, of Walpole. There may have been two other children not born in Wrentham.

THIRD GENERATION.

(Family 5.) EPHRAIM HALL<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: b. July 26, 1704; intention of marriage with Deborah Thompson, of Mendon, published in Attleboro, Mass., Dec. 1, 1739, and had Ephraim (Family 12); also intention of marriage with Elizabeth Hutchens, published in Attleboro, Feb. 10, 1753, probably 1743, or before. Children of Ephraim and Elizabeth (Hutchens) Hall, were:

1. Mary, b. Aug. 8, 1743. 2. Dorothy, b. Feb. 1, 1745. Hannah, b. March 9, 1747. 4. Sarah, b. Feb. 4, 1749. 5. Dorcas, b. April 18, 1756. 6. Lydia, b. Nov. 30, 1758. 7. Elisha, b. Oct. 11, 1761 (Family 13).

(Family 6.) JOHN HALL3, Andrew2, Edward1: b. in Newton, Mass., Jan. 11, 1695; d. 1791, æ. 96; m., at Dorchester, Oct. 17, 1722, Hopestill Ockington, of Dedham, d. 1738; m., 2d, Dec. 27, 1739, Abigail Hall. He sat under the ministry of Rev. Nehemiah Hobert, in the First Congregational church of Cambridge, until his 17th year of age; Mr. Hobert d. 1716, æ. 64; he was a Fellow in Harvard College, and in a memorial sermon for him, notice is made of a remark of Dea. Hall concerning his preaching; it appears evident that John Hall lived in or near Cambridge all of his life and that he held the office of a deacon. Children were:

1. Josiah, b. Aug. 26, 1723 (Family 14). 2. Nehemiah, b. March 29, 1725 (Family 15). 3. Thomas, b. Nov. 22, 1727. 4. David, b. Dec. 24, 1732; m., Feb. 24, 1757, Dorothy Goodnough. 5 John, b. May 31, 1736 (Family 16). 6. Rebecca, b. Aug. 1, 1729.

(Family 7.) EDWARD HALL<sup>3</sup>, Andrew<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: d. Jan. 15, 1794; m., May 21, 1730, Mary, dau. of Samuel Miller. Children were:

1. Elizabeth, b. July 23, 1732; m., 1755, John Beale, of Newton.
2. Mary, b. March 7, 1734; m., 1755, David Richardson, of Newton, and removed to Maine.
3. Ephraim, b. July 31, 1736 (Family 17).
4. Elisha, b. Sept. 14, 1738.
5. Dorcas, b. Feb. 28, 1741; m., 1761, Jeremiah Richardson.
6. Lydia, m., 1763, Moses Richardson, and removed to Dorchester.
7. Esther, b. July 24, 1746; m., 1770, Ebenezer Richardson, and removed to western New York.
8. Edward, b. Jan. 10, 1749 (Family 18).
9. Rebecca, b. Sept. 10, 1753.

(Family 8.) Andrew Hall<sup>3</sup>, Andrew<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: d. 1768; m., Dec. 5, 1723, Dorcas Courtney, of Boston; m., 2d, Aug. 12, 1766, Mary Brooks. Widow Mary Hall was appointed administratrix of his estate, July 29, 1768, and Edward and Andrew, cabinetmakers of Boston, were on her bond for £52 14s. 1d. He was a cordwainer of Boston. Children were:

1. Andrew, b. Oct. 13, 1724 (Family 19). 2. Dorcas, b. Jan. 9, 1727. 3. Susanna, b. April 18, 1730. 4. Hannah, b. April 8, 1732. 5. Edward (Family 20), and perhaps 6. John (Family 21); and perhaps others.

(Family 9.) EDWARD HALL3, Benjamin2, Edward1: b. in Wren-

Note. John Ward, of Newton, Mass., m., 1700, Abigail Hall, of Cambridge, and had a daughter Remember, who m., 1726, David Richardson, and had four sons, David, Jeremiah, Moses and Ebenezer, who m. four daughters of Edward Hall (Family 7); and Capt. Thomas Richardson, the son of one of the four, m. his cousin Elizabeth Hall, dau. of Edward Hall, Jr.

tham, and was a proprietor of that town in 1734 and 1742; d. between Nov., 1764 and 1765; m., Feb. 7, 1721, Hannah, dau. of Eleazer Fisher, of Wrentham, residence Wrentham; he was a sergeant, ensign and lieutenant, commissioned by the crown, and was in the colonial service; removed to Uxbridge in 1740, and bought 200 acres for £2,000. Alonzo Allen, Esq., town clerk of Croydon, N. H., has very kindly furnished nearly the entire record of the posterity of Edward Hall<sup>3</sup>, as herein contained. Children were:

1. Ezekiel, b. March 20, 1723. 2. Edward, b. July 18, 1727 (Family 22). 3. James, b. April 22, 1729. 4. Hezekiah, b. Aug. 9, 1730 (Family 23). 5. Hannah, b. June 30, 1732. 6. Mary, b. Feb. 25, 1734. 7. Seth, b. Aug. 26, 1736 (Family 24).

(Family 10.) BENJAMIN HALL3, Benjamin2, Edward1: b. in Wrentham, May 8, 1703; m., Nov. 15, 1727, Betty Blake. Perhaps he was that Benjamin Hall who settled in Keene, N. H. (In 1734, Jeremiah Hall and Edward Hall were among the original proprietors of Keene; 1740 Jeremiah Hall, Jr., was among the proprietors.) Benjamin Hall was commissioned lieutenant by the crown; his son Benjamin was probably also a lieutenant; on a list of a company of foot 1773, were Lt. Benjamin Hall, Samuel Hall, Jesse Hall and Ziba Hall; on the alarm list 1773, were Benjamin Hall, Jr., and Nathan Hall; among the signers of the Association Test of 1776, were Jesse Hall and Samuel Hall, but Lt. Benjamin Hall refused to sign it; Lt. Benjamin preserved a coat of arms. 1785, among the purchasers of pews in the new meeting-house in Keene, were Benjamin Hall, Esq., Benjamin Hall and Hananiah Hall. In 1800, Dr. Ziba Hall protested against being taxed for the support of the minister, being a Universalist (he lived at one time in Lebanon). In 1789 Benjamin Hall, Esq., was on a committee in Winchenden to obtain materials for building a meeting-house, and Dr. Ziba Hall was on a committee to select the place or site for its location. Children of Benjamin Hall were, Benjamin, Ziba, Hananiah, Nathaniel (Family 25), James, Josiah, Bela (Family 26), and a dau, who m. Maj. Ames, of the Rising Sun Hotel, Boston. Lt. Benjamin Hall, with his sons James, Hananiah and Josiah, being tories, removed to Canada and settled near Toronto. He was a large man weighing some 400 lbs.

(Family 11.) PRESERVED HALL<sup>3</sup>, Benjamin<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: b. in Wrentham, Mass., Nov. 28, 1706; m., in Wrentham, Sept. 20, 1729, Abigail Whiting, dau. of Josiah and Abigail Whiting; she was under the guardianship of her uncle Benjamin Whiting, of Sherborn, April 10, 1718, when she was at the age of nine years. Children were:

1. Abijah, b. July 18, 1730. 2. Timothy, b. April 29, 1732 (Family 27). 3. Jonathan, b. Feb. 7, 1735. 4. Jeremiah, b. June 16, 1738. 5. Nathan, b. Sept. 4, 1740. 6. Josiah, b. May 16, 1743. 7. Abigail, b. Nov. 8, 1745. 8. Esther, d. Aug. 5, 1758.

FOURTH GENERATION.

April 9, 1802; residence St. Dennis near Baltimore, Md.; his wife d. in the autumn of 1829, leaving a son and a daughter, the son m. and his wife d. at Nassau, W. I., 1874, leaving two sons of eleven and nine years old. After the death of his parents, James went to live with his sister Mrs. Blake; and at her death went to Peter Brown's, of Stafford, a tanner and shoemaker, where his brother Benjamin was an apprentice; and in 1810, at the marriage of his brother Jonathan C., he went to live with him, and remained four years, after which he studied at several schools to prepare for college, and then went to live with his uncle Dr. Nathan Smith, whose first wife was Elizabeth, the dau. of Gen. Jonathan and Thankful (Sherman) Chase. Dr. Smith was professor of surgery at Yale College, and James Hall lived with him three years and studied medicine, while assisting him as steward at his house. Dr. Smith also gave lectures at Bowdoin College, Me., in which James Hall was his assistant and dissector, and graduated there in 1822, and settled in the practice of medicine at Claremont, N. H., where he m. a Miss Sumner; he afterwards removed to Windsor, Vt., and boarded in the family of Jonathan Hall, whose son Israel, m. two of his nieces. He had a good practice in Windsor for two years, when in 1829, his left knee became affected with rheumatism and he has been under the necessity of using a crutch and a cane ever since; the following winter he spent in Cuba, W. I., and having seen enough of slavery in Cuba, he spent the next two winters (those of 1830 and 31), in Hayti; from the next June to November, he was laid up in the Infirmary at Baltimore, Md., when hearing that a vessel was about to sail for Liberia, Africa, with emigrants, he applied for a passage, and was taken on a mattrass in a carriage to the vessel; he then weighed on lbs., with boots and overcoat, etc; his three medical attendants gave their opinion of him as follows: Dr. Wright said, "Mr. Hall will never reach the Cape of Chesapeake;" Dr. Baker said, "he will not reach the coast of Africa;" but Dr. Smith who better understood Dr. Hall's will power, said "he will arrive safely, but will fall with the coast fever." He arrived at Monroyia after a passage of thirty days and had gained a little over a pound a day; and during his stay of two years was able to do efficient professional work in the colony; soon after his return to America, June, 1833, he was commissioned by the Maryland Colonization Society under the state patronage to found a new colony at Cape Palmas, having visited the cape the year previous and brought it to the notice of the public as a place favorable for such an enterprize: In Nov., 1833, he set sail from Baltimore in the Brig Ann, and was successful in purchasing the territory desired and in planting the colony or state, of which he remained in charge as governor until June, 1836; he then chartered a vessel and traded on the coast for the next four years; in 1840, he accepted a general agency of the Maryland Colonization Society, having the main direction of its affairs both in Africa and in this country, under a board of managers. The duties of this position together with that of commercial agent of the American Colonization Society he continued to discharge for over twenty years, and until the breaking out of the war in 1861, since which Maryland emigration has ceased, and Dr. Hall has rendered only occasional service to the American Colonization Society. While in Africa Dr. Hall built a ship for a merchant citizen of Liberia, which bore his name (James Hall), and on the stern of which was carved a crutch and a hooked cane as his coat of arms. He devoted nearly forty years of his life to the cause of African Colonization; not however as an advocate of any general deportation of the colored people of this country, but for the relief it afforded to the manumitted in the days of slavery, and the colonization of Africa.

(Family 100.) DAVID N. HALL7, Luther6, Nathan5, Nehemiah4, John3, Andrew2, Edward1: b. in Sutton, July 5, 1818. In very early life he exhibited a rare love of books and study, and was generally at the head of his classes in school; his father was greatly pleased and determined to give him a liberal education in hope that he would become a minister of the Gospel, and fervently prayed many years that such might be the case. He graduated at Yale College in 1839, with the first honors of his class, one member of which was United States senator Dawes, of Massachusetts, another is the Rev. I. N. Tarbox, of Boston. In December, 1839, he embarked on shipboard at Boston, for Mobile, Ala., and when at sea but a few hours a violent storm arose, and he was shipwrecked, but finally escaped alive and was at home again in a few days; yet not content, he re-shiped and arrived safely at Mobile; from there he went up the Tombigbee river to Columbus, Miss., where he engaged in teaching school for a year; at the same time he studied law, and was admitted to the bar, but as his health failed he was constrained to go farther north, and in 1841 he settled at St. Louis, Mo., where, after a hard struggle with adverse circumstances, he succeeded in establishing himself in a lucrative business. In the spring of 1847, he was appointed by Gov. Edwards, circuit attorney for the county, and afterwards was strongly recommended as a fit appointment to succeed Judge Blair, of the court of common pleas, and in the summer of 1850, he received the nomination for the state senate, but being absent from the state, and unable to attend personally to the canvass, he lost his election. After an absence of more than eight years, he returned to his native place and married, Aug. 29, 1847, Sarah Chase Smith, dau. of Dr. David H. S. C. Smith (see Halls of Yarmouth). They had long been engaged, and had constantly corresponded, and the interest of the meeting can better be imagined than described. It is said that there never was such a meeting in Sutton. They met to part no more till death should separate them for a little while; and they left their native place and friends together, never to return. She died at her home in St. Louis, Jan. 13, 1849, at the age of 27, and her child, born and died the day before, was laid upon her bosom and buried with her. This was the severest trial of his life, even so great, that he longed to depart and be with his beloved dead; continual sickness followed, and his desire was granted, he died March 29, 1851, æ. 33 years, and was buried in Christ cemetery, St. Louis.

(Family 101.) FRANKLIN HALL<sup>7</sup>, pedigree as above: b. in Sutton, May 2, 1820; he worked on his father's farm until after his brother David had graduated, then at the age of twenty years he began a course of preparation for a profession, he studied at Millbury Academy and afterwards at Westminster Academy and at graduation took the valedictory; he studied law in 1843 with Judge Ira M. Barton and Hon. P. C. Baron, of Worcester, Mass., and was admitted to the bar in 1846 and settled in a good practice at Worcester; in August, 1862, he enlisted in Co. E., 42d Regt., Mass. Vols., Capt. Fred. I. Stiles, which joined Gen. Bank's expedition for New Orleans; after the expiration of the time for which he was to serve, he returned with his regiment to Boston and was honorably discharged; but while in the service he contracted a physical disability which has caused him much sickness and suffering ever since; he was appointed magistrate by Gov. Briggs in 1864; for the sake of a more congenial climate he went to Philadelphia, and engaged in business, where he remained four years; and then went to New Orleans and engaged in the General Newspaper Advertisement Agency alone on a small capital, which he has continued with varied success until the present time; residence Philadelphia, Pa., office 713 Sanson street; he has kindly furnished the record of his near of kin and pedigree to Nehemiah Hall, of Uxbridge, Mass. Franklin Hall, Esq., m. in Worcester, June 17, 1856. Children were:

1. Ada Julia, b. March 7, 1857; she was educated at Worcester, Philadelphia and Vineland where she united with the Baptist church at the age of 12 years; at the age of 18 years she went to Iowa alone where she taught school, she also taught school in New Jersey and Massachusetts; m., June, 1879, Fayette C. Lamb, of Boston. 2. Robert Luther, b. May 29, 1859; was educated at Worcester, Philadelphia and Vineland where he united with the Presbyterian church and at the age of 18 years accepted of a situation as teacher in a public school of Walnut city, Iowa, after a while he engaged in other business. 3. David Willis, b. April 4, 1861, was educated in Worcester, Philadelphia and Vineland where he united with the Presbyterian church with his brother, 1876; he early manifested an aptitude for mechanical employment and invention, and accepted of a situation a little before he was to graduate at the high school of Vineland, and went east, and has become a very highly skilled mechanic, and his services much sought in New England. 4. Frank Herbert, b. in Worcester, July 16, 1864; d. there, Feb. 8, 1866.

Benjamin<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: Bezaleel Barton was the son of Peter Barton, who, with his brothers Benjamin and Bezaleel, came to Croydon from Sutton, Mass.; and Ezekiel Powers, Sen., came from Grafton, formerly a part of Sutton, and was the son of Lemuel and Thankful (Leland) Powers, of Grafton, Mass. (See History of Sutton, and The Granite Monthly, vol. 2d, No. 8, published at Concord.) Levi Winter Barton, was b. in Croydon, March 1, 1818; m., 1st, 1839, Mary A. Pike, of Newport, a lady of great worth, who d. in 1840, leaving one son five days old; m., 2d., 1852, Lizzie F. Jewett, of Hollis, N. H., a young lady of culture, learning and good sense; Mr. Barton early learned the lesson of self-reliance, and the necessity of economy, and a proper use of time, which was the foundation of his future success in life; before his first marriage he attended Unity Academy long enough to fit him for teaching school, which he afterwards found occasion to do for many terms; and after his great bereavement by her death, he formed the resolution to obtain a thorough education; he had a capital to begin with of only 100 dollars; he spent three years at Kimball Union Academy, teaching winters, and doing manual labor in vacations; he entered Dartmouth College in 1844; his father d. when he was quite young and his mother was poor, but was able by unusual tact and energy to bring up her children, and Levi had to depend upon his own resources; he spent four years in college, teaching in winters and doing manual labor in vacation, and graduated with honorable mention in the public journals; during his senior year he studied law with Hon. Daniel Blaisdell, of Hanover; he then taught the Canaan Academy five terms and at the same time studied law with Judge Kittredge; in 1851 he began to study in the office of Metcalf & Corbin, of Newport, and was admitted to the bar in July of that year, and settled in practice in that place; the energy, perseverance and ability which had borne him through his course of study, demonstrated what his future success would be; the hardest part of life's battle was fought and the future conquest was assured. When he began practice in Newport there were five able lawyers already occupying the field, and while waiting for business he taught school and was not afraid of being starved out; he knew what industry and economy meant. The people soon had reason to have confidence in his ability as a lawyer as well as schoolteacher and as a man; he was taken by Gov. Metcalf as a law partner, and soon arose to a level with the best. As a counselor he is cautious and careful, dissuading his clients, rather than encouraging them to engage in litigation; as an advocate he is eloquent, zealous, bold and persistent; in his preparation of trial cases he has no superiors in the county. In 1863 he was elected to the legislature and almost immediately became the acknowledged leader of the majority; he was re-elected in 1864 and still held the same position, and also in 1875, '76 and '77, and was a member of the senate in 1867 and 68. During his entire term of service in both branches, he was a member of the judiciary committee, and for five years its chairman. In 1875 and 1876 he was chairman of the republican legislative caucus, the labors of which were both extremely difficult and important; in 1876 he was a member of the convention to revise the constitution of the state, and one of the republican electors of the president and vice-president of the United States; and has held other offices of great responsibility. He is an experienced legislator and is considered well able and deserving of a place in the congress of the United States. "Mr. Barton is a ready debator, quick to see a point and take it, suave and considerate at all times and ready to take a hand in any discussion affecting the public weal; his cheerful voice, striking in upon a dull or an acrimonious debate has a pleasing and mollifying effect. Although careful and cautious, he has positive ideas, and is aggressive in their maintenance, and although sometimes sharp in his personal sallies they are singularly free from bitterness or malice, and no one could hold resentment against him; on all moral questions he is foremost with voice and influence and vote." It was said of him in 1877, that he was the best preserved man in the house and judging from his looks and appearance one would say that he was at least ten years the junior of men of his age; he has no bad habits, and never has indulged in the use of intoxicating liquors or tobacco in any form; he is a kind neighbor, and strongly attached to his friends, generous to his opponents and social with all; in religion he is a worthy member of the Methodist church and has always taken a strong interest in whatever affects the moral, social, or material prosperity of those around him, and is always ready to lend a helping hand in every good work. Children were:

1. Ira McL. (Family 111). 2. Herbert J., b. Sept. 27, 1853; graduated at Dartmouth College 1876, among the first of a class of 69, and has had the charge of the Union school in Newport for two years, and now has charge of a school in Waukegan, Ill.; his labors as a teacher have been attended with marked success. 3. Charles Fremont, b. Oct. 19, 1856. 4. Ralph Winter, b. July 22, 1859; d. Sept. 13, 1863. 5. Leander Meagher, b. March 28, 1862; d. Sept. 26, 1863. 6. Frances Florence, b. April 8, 1865. 7. (Family 109.) WILLIAMS BARTON<sup>8</sup>, pedigree as above: b. in Croydon, Aug. 6, 1820; m., 1st, Sabrina Allen (see Halls of Medford, Part 7); m., 2d, Mrs. Helen Commett; he prepared for college at Kimball Union Academy, in Meriden, N. H., and graduated at Dartmouth College, 1845; studied medicine with Drs. Nelson Coburn, Albina Hall and Joseph Nichols, and stands high in his profession. He has also taken a deep interest in educational affairs, and has been the chairman of the school committee of Croydon many years; and was commissioner of Sullivan County for three years. Children by his 1st wife were:

1. Edgar Van Ness, b. about 1846. 2. Lizzie, b. 1851; d. July 30, 1853. 3. Dennis Powers; he and his brother Edgar have done well in Boston, as clerks in a railroad office.

(Family 110.) ALANSON COOPER BARTON<sup>8</sup>, pedigree as before: b. in Croydon, Jan. 10, 1825; m., 1st, Elvira Burke; m., 2d, Lora E. Brown. Children were b. in Croydon:

(Family 111.) IRA McL. BARTON9, Levi W.8, (Bezaleel) Hannah Powers7, Ezekiel6, (Ezekiel) Hannah Hall5, Edward4, Edward3, Benjamin<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: b. in Croydon, March 11, 1840; m., 1st, 1861, Helen M. Wilcox, of Newport; m., 2d, Addie L. Barton, of Ludlow, Vt. Ira McL. Barton being deprived of a mother by her death, was cared for in infancy and brought up by his father's sister, Mrs. Lucinda J. Kidder. At the age of 17 years he commenced teaching school; prepared for college at Kimball Union Academy, and entered Dartmouth College in 1858, and at the same time began the study of law with his father, and was admitted to the bar in 1863. While a member of college in 1861, at the first call for men in the opening of the rebellion, when he was not yet 21 years of age, he was the first man in Sullivan County to enlist, and was appointed recruiting officer, and immediately enlisted 40 men in Newport, and was commissioned captain of Co. D., 1st Reg. N. H. Vols., under Col. M. W. Tappan. After this company returned, Capt. Barton raised another company, and was commissioned captain of Co. E., under Col. Edward E. Cross, of the 5th Reg. N. H. Vols., called the "Fighting Fifth," Capt. Barton led his company in the battles of Rappahannock Station, siege of Yorktown, Fair Oaks, Savages Station, Peach Orchard, White Oak Swamp, Charles City Cross Roads, and Malvern Hill. He was afterwards appointed United States recruiting officer and raised a battalion of heavy artillery in 1863, and was commissioned lieutenant colonel of the same, and was stationed in the defences about Washington, D. C., where he remained on duty until the war closed. He was then appointed a captain in the regular army, and was stationed at Pine Bluffs, Arkansas. He was afterwards appointed provost marshal of Arkansas, and soon after attorney general of the Tenth District of that state, and soon after, judge of the criminal court of Jefferson County of the same state. He became part owner and chief editor of the Jefferson Weekly Republican, published at Pine Bluffs. In the contest between Brooks and Baxter for the governorship of Arkansas, Col. Barton was appointed general and commander of Baxter's forces, and when Baxter was declared governor, Gen. Barton returned home and entered into partnership with his father in the practice of law at Newport. He died and was buried Jan. 21, 1876; at his funeral his Masonic brethren passed the following merited resolution: "Resolved, that in the death of Col. Ira McL. Barton, this lodge has lost an earnest member, the Boys in Blue a brave, faithful and true friend, and the community a generous and whole-hearted man."

Cumberland, R. I., was a part of Attleboro, Mass., until 1746, and Attleboro, and parts of Norton and Mansfield were taken from the town of Rehoboth. The following items are found on the records, and not incorporated in the other records of this book.

THE HALLS OF TAUNTON, MASS.

GEORGE HALL and his wife Mary (Family 1), were the ancestors of the Halls of Taunton. They emigrated, it is said, from Devonshire County, England, in 1636-7. George Hall is recorded as proprietor of land in Duxbury, Mass., in 1637, about the date of his settlement in "Cohannet," - Taunton; he was one of the forty-six original proprietors of the first territorial "purchase" of the Indian Sachem Massasoit, including a tract of eight miles, (an oblong, square, being the present territory of Taunton, Berkley, Raynham, extending to Mansfield); he had a twelve acre share, in connection with Richard Williams, John and Walter Dean and others, who had similar shares, spanning Taunton river, on the banks of which they erected their first humble dwellings and were neighbors and friends for lifetime. The selection of their homesteads included the most eligible land of the purchase, on what is now Dean street; the land skirting the banks of the river had been cultivated by the Indians for years; and these homesteads have been successively transmitted from ancestors to descendants nearly two hundred years, of whom the sixth, seventh and eighth generations are now owners and residents. George Hall was one of the founders of the town of Taunton in 1639, was propounded as a freeman in 1643; and enrolled to bear arms that year; admitted as a freeman in 1645, and was constable of the town the same year; he was a member of the board of the supervising council, of which William Pole was chairman, in 1657, and was chairman of the board of selectmen (established by the colonial court in 1662), from 1666 to 1669, the time of his decease; he was one of the founders of the Pilgrim Congregational church and society of Taunton, and contributed liberally to its support; also one of the stock proprietors of the first iron "bloomery" established in this region by the Leonards and other citizens of Taunton, upon the site of the present "old forge" now in Raynham; he was its first clerk in 1656, continuing several years in that capacity, and was succeeded after his death by his son John. In October, 1669, he was taken seriously ill; he called his friends, Deacons Richard Williams and Walter Dean, and made his will on the 16th, witnessed by them, and died on the 30th of that month, aged about 69 years; his widow Mary was appointed executrix; the will was probated in March, 1670. After his death, his widow and sons John, Joseph and Samuel were shareholders in the iron works; these works have been continued until recently, over two hundred years. Soon after they were started, bar iron manufactured there from native ore dug in the vicinity, was made a "circulating medium" in business transactions and on account of the scarcity of specie; orders to that effect drawn by Rev. Samuel Danforth, the fourth minister of Taunton, for a portion of his salary, a few years later, and by others for business purposes, are now in careful preservation. George Hall was one of the largest landholders in Taunton, and divided it among his sons. They were also among the proprietors of the large tract, called "Taunton North Purchase," which included the territory of the present towns of Norton, Easton and portions of Mansfield and Raynham, upon which, many of their descendants settled as farmers and business men; more than a thousand descendants now bear the ancestral name. The children mentioned in the will of George Hall were:

1. John, b. in 1640 (Family 2). 2. Joseph, b. in 1642 (Family 3). 3. Samuel, b. in 1644 (Family 4). 4. Charity. 5. Sarah. 6. Mary The town records were burned in 1838, hence the loss of many valuable clues.

SECOND GENERATION.

July 1, 1656, son of Thomas, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Taunton. John Caswell purchased land in Norton, in 1714, of his brothers-in-law, Samuel Hall, John Hall and Samuel Briggs. The descendants of John and Elizabeth (Hall) Caswell, have been respectable farmers and good business men, one of whom, Alvaris Caswell, is now (1883) living, at the age of 84, on a portion of the estate in Norton, owned by his ancestor. His twin brother Alexis Caswell, deceased, was a professor and president of Brown University, in 1868-72, was a distinguished scholar and scientist, and christian gentleman. He was born in Taunton, January 29, 1799. His son, Dr. E. T. Caswell, of Providence, R. I., has furnished the record of this family.

The children of John and Elizabeth (Hall) Caswell were:

John, b. July 17, 1690.
 Elizabeth, b. June 16, 1691.

3. Samuel, b. Oct. 6, 1695.

- 1. Thomas.
- 2. Elida.
- 3. Hannah.
- 4. Elizabeth
- 5. Mary. She had also five children by Benjamin Caswell.

(Family 17.) EBENEZER HALL<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, George<sup>2</sup>: b. March 19, 1677; m., June 2, 1714, Jane Bumpas, was a farmer, and resided in Mansfield, Mass., and removed to Falmouth, Me., where he resided in 1735.

(Family 18.) GEORGE HALL3, Samuel2, George1: b. in Taunton, Jan. 25, 1681; m. Lydia Dean, dau. of Thomas and Katharine (Stephens) Dean; b. in Taunton, 1679; d. in Easton, Aug. 22, 1726. Mr. Hall resided in that section of Taunton, North Purchase, which became Norton in 1711, and Easton in 1725. He owned land and portion of a sawmill which he sold in 1724, and also sold other land in 1828; after the death of his wife in 1826, he was appointed guardian of his children, who were minors, having inherited large tracts of land (being a portion of the Taunton North purchase), lying in Norton, then Easton, from their grandmother, Katharine Dean, and aunt, Hannah Dean. Records show the sale of that inheritance from time to time, after the heirs became of age. In 1738, Isaac Hall, then in Dedham, Mass., with his sister Lydia, wife of Thomas Morey, of Norton, sold their shares for £150. The same year George, Jr., late of Groton, then resident of Taunton, sold his interest to his brother-in-law, Seth Leonard, for £130. In 1741, Deborah, dau. of George, and her husband, Seth Leonard, sold their interest, with dwelling house, etc., in Easton, for £400 - "reserving the right only of our honored father, George Hall, the improvement during his life." They removed to Lyme, Conn., with their brothers, where Seth died, as Deborah was a widow in 1751. In 1743. Abial, "refiner," then of Walpole, Mass., sold his share for £50. In 1744, Thomas, of Lyme, Conn., sold his share for £60. Abijah, then resident of Middletown, sold, in 1751, a small share to his brothers and sister for £15. There are indications that George, senior, may have resided several years with his sons in Lyme. Records state that in 1760 (at the age of 70), he acknowledged his deed of sale in 1724, before a magistrate in Norton. In a deed of his first sale of land, in 1702 (inherited from his father), for £60, he is recorded as "a carpenter."

The children of George and Lydia Hall were:

1. Lydia, b. Feb. 4, 1706; m. Thomas Morey, of Norton, who was a large landholder, justice of the peace in 1762, and held other offices.

- 2. Deborah, b. Feb. 15, 1708; m. Seth Leonard, son of James, the iron worker, and brother of Elizabeth, wife of Capt. Joseph Hall; he was a large landholder; they sold their estate in Easton in 1741, and removed to Lyme, Conn., where Seth lived but a few years.
  - George, b. Oct. 22, 1710 (Family 32).
     Thomas, b. Oct. 8, 1712 (Family 33).

(Family 118.) John Hall<sup>6</sup>, John<sup>5</sup>, Thomas<sup>4</sup>, George<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, George<sup>1</sup>: b. in Ellington, Conn., Feb. 26, 1783; d. Oct. 1, 1847; graduated at Yale, 1802; tutor 1804 to 1807; was in business at Ellington with Mr. Wells; purchased a farm near the village of Ellington, which he transformed to a home of beauty and rich production; was judge of the County Court as early as 1812; was a candidate for Congress in 1817; in 1825 he established an academy which in 1829 gave way to the high school, of which he was the principal until 1839, when ill health prevented him from engaging in active employment; during this period he prepared a series of reading books for schools, and a treatise on the "Resurrection of the Dead," also in complete an English Grammar, and a work on Mental Philosophy.

His life was an active and useful one, although he labored under impaired health and weak eyes occasioned by a course of typhus fever in 1808.

From his senior year in college to the end of his life he maintained an eminent Christian character; he made the Bible his daily study, and derived from it wisdom, strength and consolation; he was for many years president of the Tolland County Bible Society; he was an upright man in body, soul and spirit; he was devotedly attached to his family, the society of his children was his delight and their moral and mental improvement his constant care; his opinion was highly prized and sought for by the people, and it was a pleasure to him to confer benefits upon all by every means in his power.

His pastor Rev. Mr. Eggleston preached two memorial sermons on the Sabbath after his decease, which were printed.

He m., 1st, June 5, 1808, Sophia, dau. of Dr. Joseph Kingsbury, of Ellington; m., 2d, Sept. 5, 1830, Harriet S., dau. of Dr. Elijah F. Read, of East Windsor. Children:

5. Eliza, b. Feb. 16, 1817; m., June, 1859, Rev. John G. Baird, who was a pastor of a church several years; when his voice failed and he became assistant secretary of Board of Education of New Haven, Conn.; has since removed to Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Baird has taken a lively interest in this genealogy and has sent me much information on the subject.

6. Levi Wells, b. Dec. 25, 1818; he received his early education, and was fitted for college in the Ellington school, which was founded by his father; he entered Yale College in the class of 1839, but ill health necessitated his leaving college after a brief connection with it.

A few years later he commenced business as bookseller and publisher in Syracuse, N. Y., but his taste was for the profession of law, and having prepared himself for it commenced practice in 1858.

Twenty years later, finding the unremitting labor attendant upon successful legal practice, again impairing his health, he became interested with others in the establishment of an extensive plow manufactory, and gradually withdrew from practice in the courts; while pursuing this latter business, with his usual ardor, his disease (an affection of the heart) continued to remind him, at times, of his precarious hold upon life, until April 19th, 1881, when his active energy succumbed, and a warm loving heart ceased to beat; those about him realized no immediate danger until the last moments of his life.

The many tributes paid to his memory by the Bar of Syracuse, by his late associates in his business enterprises, and by the various civic and charitable organizations with which he was connected, gave ample testimony of the value and esteem in which his busy and upright life was regarded.

Mr. Hall married first in 1843, Miss Anjoinette Bangs, of Springfield, Mass; she d. January, 1848; m., 2d, in January, 1851, Miss M. E. Clark, of Syracuse; they had one son, Arthur Clark, (Family 119.) John Hall<sup>6</sup>, Thomas<sup>5</sup>, Thomas<sup>4</sup>, George<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, George: resides in Lyme, N. H.; m. Mary Culver. Children:

1. Miranda, m. — Bartholomew, of Lyme, and had two ch.

2. Mary, m. Jeffries, of Lyme, had seven children.

3. Thomas. m. — Burch, of Lyme, had one daughter.

4. John, d. at the age of 2 years. 5. John, d. at the age of 17 years.

6. Nancy, m. — Mowry, of Lyme, and had two daughters.

7. Sarah, m. Robert Speare, had two daughters.

8. Lucy, m. Samuel Johnson, and had two daughters and one son; reside in New Haven, Conn.

9. David C., m. Miss Brown, and had two daughters and one son, the son is dead, and the daughters have received a thorough musical education in Europe.

Mr. David C. Hall is the agent and leader of Hall's band and orchestra, organized in 1835, and an importer and manufacturer and dealer in musical instruments, at 126 Court street, Boston, Mass. Mr. Hall spent the season of 1879 with his band at Saratoga Springs, where their musical entertainments were noticed with the highest degree of praise.

10. Rodolph, b. July 22, 1824; m. Miss Morris, of Philadelphia, Pa., and resided in Boston; d. and his funeral ceremonies were held in Lyme, N. H., Dec. 14, 1878. The memorial sermon was pub. lished. It represents him as possessed of the highest musical talents. He began to appear in public musical entertainments at the age of twelve years, nearly all instruments of music were at his command, but his chosen ones were the clarionet and cornet, of those he was a perfect master; for many years he was associated with Hall's band, of Boston, led by his brother David C. ---. No one who had heard these two brothers play together, David with his gold bugle, and Rodolph with his gold cornet, can ever forget the exquisite music of their choice duets. Being of the most genial nature, and an agreeable companion, he made many friends in all our New England and inland cities, on the far Pacific coast, and also in the mother land beyond the sea. Foreign courts and cities lavished their praises upon him. At home and abroad he achieved the highest success.

The following is an extract from the testimony of the London Court Circular, March 20, 1862: "Mr. Rodolph Hall has by his inimitable performances, achieved for himself a European reputation. The echo bugle, on which he displays his unsurpassed talent, he is a perfect master of, and all who have heard his skillful performances must admit that for beauty and accuracy none have ever equalled him in bugle instrumentation. We are confident that the talent which Mr. Hall has displayed in all his pieces, however difficult of execution they may be, that he stands unsurpassed, and is truly deserving of his well earned triumphs."

J.; she d. at the house of her son, Edward T., at Titusville, Pa., Aug. 8, 1874, and was buried at the side of her husband, in Woodland cemetery, Cleveland, Ohio; Among her ancestors were the family names of Thomas, Terrill, Drummond and Dayton.

Mr. Hall did not inherit a rugged physical constitution, yet by an intelligent care of himself, he filled up a long life with a large amount of activity and usefulness. He went to New York in 1799, and became a clerk of N. L. & G. Griswold, commission and shipping merchants, whose niece became his first wife. In 1804 or 5, he entered into partnership with William Hull, and subsequently with John Griswold, and engaged in the shipping business, but their losses by the depredations of the French, and again by the British in 1812, the death of Mr, Hull and endorsements for other houses, obliged them to close business.

Mr. Hall afterwards engaged in business in partnership with Ephraim Robbins, but again failed by the injudicious transactions of an agent in Cincinnati. The shipping business of those days was very heavy and attended with great risks.

Mr. Hall became connected with the Brick church soon after he removed to New York, and was one of the original members who organized the Cedar street church, which still survives in one of its branches under the pastoral care of Rev. Dr. John Hall.

Mr. Hall removed in 1818 to East Bloomfield, Ontario Co., N. Y.; in 1824 to Rochester, N. Y.; in 1827 to their old home in New York; in 1840 to Saybrook, Conn., and in 1852 to Cleveland, Ohio. He was an elder in the West Presbyterian church, New York, many years, and always an active and consistent chris-He was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him, and his children have honored his memory by publishing his biography in a pamphlet form.

WILL OF GEORGE HALL.

Annexed is a copy of the will of George Hall, ancestor of the foregoing descendants. He was the first clerk and business manager of the ancient Taunton Iron Works, "commenced Anno 1656," and continued so (with the exception of one year) until the time of his death in 1669. [From record of Capt. Thomas Leonard<sup>2</sup>, afterwards clerk, son of James<sup>1</sup>, now in possession of the compiler:]

"Oct. 16, 1669—The Last Will and Testament of George Hall, of Taunton, deceased, exhibited to the Court held at New Plymouth, the first day of March, 1669, on the Oath of Richard Williams:

In the name of God, amen—I George Hall, of Taunton, in the jurisdiction of New Plymouth, being in health and memory, blessed be the Lord, do here make my last will and testament in manner and form as followeth: I commit my spirit into the hands of the Lord and do dispose of my goods as followeth:

Item—I give to my wife during widowhood, the part of my dwelling house, that part which I built last, and the garden joining to it, and half my new barn and half the stall against the barn:

Item—I give her that I bought of Benjamin Wilson, lying between Richard Williams and that which was Nicholas White's which is eight acres which lyeth on the North side of the great River:

Item—I give unto my Wife the land that is called by the name of Cobb's neck, and the land that I broke up in the neck that John Hall hath and one acre more if she want it:

Item—I give her more at Broad cove, a carriage of hay, half in Samuel's and half in Joseph's, if she doth want it for herself, this is my wife's during her widowhood, after to be disposed of as followeth, and make her my executrix:

Item—I give unto my son Joseph half the neck of land called by the name of Jane Wyatt's bed, and the land the house stands upon, and the four acres that reaches against John Cobb's land, and the neck called by the name of Cobb's neck, and seventy-six acres by the great River at the further side of Thomas Deane's land on the east side, to him and his heirs forever:

Item—I give unto my son Samuel Hall my great lot viz: all my land lying from the great river to James Leonard's land, the one side is against Hezekiah Hoar's land the other side against Mr. Pool's land, and twenty-two acres against the Great River on the north side of Thomas Deane's:

Item—I give unto my son Samuel my twenty acres and the meadow belonging to it at the three mile River, called Rumford, and half my meadow at Broad cove:

Item-I give to my daughter Charity six pounds:

Item—I give unto my son Joseph Hall my home lot, which is eight acres, two acres where I bought of William Harvey, and six acres over the great river, and I give unto him that which I bought of Benjamin Wilson which is eight acres upon the north side of the great River, the east side against Richard Williams:

Item—I give him half my meadow at Broad cove—Samuel is to parcel it equally and Joseph is to choose the half he will have, and I give him my purchase and ten acres from the town of my division:

Item-I give to each of my grand-children forty shillings:

Item—I give to my daughter Sarah twenty pounds, and if she do not match to her mother's mind sne is to have but fifteen pounds:

Item—I give to the church in Taunton, forty shillings to buy cups:

Item-I give to William Evans, twenty shillings:

Item-I give to my son John, my new purchase:

Item-I give to my daughter Mary, forty shillings:

Item—I give to my son Samuel, six acres of land that is due me from the town and three acres of swamp:

(Signed)

GEORGE HALL.

HALLS OF COHASSET.

CAPT. JAMES HALL AND DESCENDANTS.

CAPT. JAMES HALL, James, Richard: was b. in Hingham (afterwards Cohasset), Feb. 22, 1750; he learned the trade of a mason; having an inclination and aptitude for military life, and manifesting an interest in the patriotic cause of his country, he enlisted in Paddock's company and joined Col. Knox's regiment in 1775; he was promoted from sergeant to 2d lieutenant in 1776; to 1st lieutenant in 1777, and to commandant in 1780. Capt. Hall served through the Revolutionary war under General Knox; was with him at Monmouth, Valley Forge and Yorktown, at the time of the surrender of Cornwallis; serving a portion of the time as one of Washington's aids; he was a favorite officer of Maj. Gen. Knox, and for his skill, intrepidity and patriotism, after the close of the war, was made a member of the "Society of Cincinnati of Massachusett's," composed of the prominent surviving officers of the Revolution and originated by Washington; his grandson, Henry Knox, has in his possession the parchment "Roll of Honor," awarded to Capt. James Hall for patriotic services, at the close of the war and signed by Washington.

We have no data in reference to the ancestry of Capt. Hall, other than his father James, and grandfather Richard; he probably descended from one of the brothers who came over with George of Taunton and the early settlers in 1636-7; he had a brother Richard, and sisters Susannah and Mary; of these we have no dates; he d. Hall, and afterwards conducted similar business for another party in Bloomfield; he was elected county clerk of Ontario County in 1837 for the term of three years, and re-elected to same position for a similar term in 1840; afterward he again engaged in trade in Canandaigua, N. Y., where he resided nearly ten years; he then removed to Rochester city, and later to Syracuse, N. Y., being engaged in the employ of the N. Y. Central R. R. Co., in positions of prominence and important trusts. He afterwards resided in Fairport, N. Y., and later with his nephew Myron S. Hall, of Bloomfield, where he died; he m., in Bloomfield, July 15, 1830, Eliza Curtiss, who died in Syracuse, June 9, 1859. By this marriage there were seven children, four of which died in infancy or quite young. The others were as follows:

1. Amelia Sophia, b. June 29, 1833. 2. Edwin Augustine, b. April 23, 1842; d. unmarried in New York city, July 20, 1868; he was engaged as a telegraph operator in different cities, in which business he was also engaged for the government in the army during the war of the rebellion; a young man of promise of much skill in his business, his sudden death was a severe blow to his father and sisters. 3. Frances Elvira, b. Jan. 20, 1845; she has been for years a teacher of music, privately and in connection with some institutions of learning; she and her older sister are now residing in Garden City on Long Island, N. Y.

Heman Hall, son of Gen. Amos Hall, of Bloomfield, was b. Feb. 20, 1810; d. in Pennsylvania, March 5, 1852; he was engaged during the period of his business life as a clerk or book-keeper in different places; he m., in Bloomfield, Sept. 5, 1831, Elvira Caroline Taft, who d. there April 8, 1861, æ. 49 years; want of congeniality caused them to live separately in later life; they had one child Josiah Taft, b. 1833, in Bloomfield, and d. there, Dec. 8, 1862, unmarried, he was for some years and until his health failed, clerk or teller in the Quinsigimund bank, Mass.

HALLS OF FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

[By Rev. E. F. Rockwell, Cool Spring, Iredell Co., N. C.]

John Hall came from Middletown, Conn., to Fayetteville, N. C., before 1835, and died there since the war, quite aged; he had married four or five times, and had a good many children. Several of his sons attended the academy in Fayetteville in 1835-1840; his sons Egbert and Alvin settled in —, N. C.; his son Charles became a Methodist minister and went to the state of New York, but may have returned. A grandson, Rev. B. R. Hall, is a Methodist minister at Statensville, and a daughter married —— Stacy, she now lives with her nephew Rev. B. R. Hall.

REBECCA HALL OF WEST BLOOMFIELD, N. Y.

Miss Rebecca Hall, of West Bloomfield, N. Y., married Rev. James Hervey Hotchkin, the minister of that place. Mr. Hotchkin was the son of Rev. Beriah Hotchkin, of Guilford, Conn., and b. in 1781; his first settlement was in West Bloomfield, N. Y., from 1801 to 1809; he also preached in Pittsford and Lima, and in 1809 he settled in Prattsburgh, Steuben Co., N. Y. Mr. Hotchkin was the bishop of most of the churches within the range of thirty miles; in his old age he wrote and published a book entitled "A History of the Purchase and Settlement of Western New York, and the Rise and Progress and Present State of the Presbyterian Church in that Section." He died Feb. 23, 1851.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE HALLS OF WALLINGFORD, CONN.

Jonathan Hall<sup>2</sup>, son of John Hall<sup>1</sup>, lived in New London, Conn., and had children: 1. Jonathan, bapt. Oct. 8, 1677. 2. Peter, bapt. Oct. 17, 1680. 3. Hannah, bapt. June 17, 1683, and probably others.

HALLS OF NEW HAVEN, CONN.

The following is from Savage's Genealogical Dictionary: Daniel Hall, of New Haven, Conn., merchant, m., Nov. 16, 1670, Mary, dau. of Henry Rutherford, and had Daniel, b. Aug. 9, 1672, d. in a few days; Daniel again, b. June 4, 1674, and Rutherford, b. April 21, 1675; he d. at Barbadoes in 1675, his widow m. again Aug. 23, 1681. John Prout.

The following is from the History of Wallingford, Conn., p. 752: David Hall, son of John and Jane Hall, m. Mary Rutherford, of New Haven, Nov. 11, 1670. Children: 1. Daniel, b. Aug. 9, 1672. 2. Rutherford, b. April 20, 1675.

This is evidently a mistake, for David the son of John, was b. in March, 1652, and m., Dec., 1676, Sarah Rockwell. Seeing this I concluded that Dr. Savage had given the name correctly as Daniel, and naturally supposing that he was a son of John I gave it so in the Halls of Wallingford, pp. 87, 83; but am not certain about its being correct. Indeed I am inclined to believe that Dr. Savage was mistaken in giving the name Daniel to either the father or his first two sons; I have seen an extract from the original records where all three were given as David.

And besides, the only Halls among the original proprietors of Wallingford, were John Hall, Doctor Hall and David Hall. David the son of John Hall, was too young at that time to be a proprietor.

Doctor Hall must have been Isaac Hall, the son of Francis, who settled in Fairfield; and David the merchant, might also have been the son of Francis.

HALLS OF WINDSOR, CONN.

George Hall, a young man, was one of the company on board the Mary and John, Capt. Squid, from Plymouth, Eng., to Dorchester, Mass., 1630.

In 1633 he went to trade with the Indians and finding them dying with the small pox, returned to Dorchester in 1634.

He made a large purchase of the Indians of land, which took the name of Windsor.

His name is printed plainly on the deed, but there is a suspicion of a mistake, and that the emigrant and purchaser of Windsor was George Hull and not George Hall. Humphrey Penny whose name is next to George Hall, is known to have m., 1635, Mary, the dau. of George Hull.

George Hall, of the south side of Hartford, Conn., was propounded for freeman, May 21, 1668, and he and Timothy Hall, of Windsor, were made freeman Oct., 1669. The name of Timothy Hall is on the land record of Windsor in 1664, and the wife of Timothy Hall was presented for baptism July 5, 1668, he was admitted to the church April, 1672; had six children b. in Windsor before Aug. 17, 1677.

FREEMEN IN CONNECTICUT.

John Hall, Sen., and John Hall, Jr., New Haven.

John Hall, of Guilford, was propounded for freeman, May 12, 1670.

Isaac Hall and Samuel Hall, of Fairfield, propounded for freemen May 12, 1670.

Jeremiah Hall, propounded for freeman at Hartford Court, May 13, 1670.

Francis Hall, of Stratford, was deputy to general court, held May 11, 1676.

Lieut. Joseph Hall, was deputy to general court, held at Hartford, May 13, 1669.

Samuel Hall was deputy for general session, held at Hartford, May 11, 1665.

The court appointed May 10, 1666, Mr. Hamlin and John Hall to assist in laying out twelve miles northward from the boundary of Seabrook.

The court appoints May 14, 1694, Dea. John Hall to lay out the line between Seabrook and Kenilworth.

This court desires Oct. 14, 1675, Major Gold to send up Josiah

Harvey or John Hall to be chirurgions of the army.

Stephen Hall lived in Plainfield, Conn., or Quinnebaug, Conn., Dec. 24, 1702; the John Hall who d. there about 1725, was probably his son (see N. E. G. H. Reg., vol. 15, p. 53).

Joseph Hall, Daniel Hall and Daniel Hall, Jr., took the oath of fidelity in Durham, Sept. 16, 1777; John Hall took the oath of fidelity in Durham, Jan. 16, 1787.

The following were admitted freemen of Durham: Timothy Hall, April 10, 1780; John Hall, April 9, 1787; Luther Hall, Sept. 13, 1789; Samuel Hall, Sept. 9, 1811.

Timothy Hall and Deborah his wife, were admitted to the church

Capt. John Hall was of New London, 1720.

Thomas Hall probably from Woburn, Mass., was admitted freeman of Norwich, Conn., 1701, and his son Thomas in 1712.

Capt. Daniel Hall was vestryman of Christ's church, Norwich, 1749.

Gideon Hall, son of Samuel and Abigail Hall, of Windsor, from Litchfield, m., 1797, Mary Hayden, and had several children, among whom was Gideon, b. May 1, 1808, was a lawyer in 1829, representative 1838, 46, 54, and state senator 1847, judge of probate and judge of superior court 1866; d. 1867.

Sylvester Hall, of Winchester, Conn., m., May 12, 1797, Lucy Hurlburt, and had a family; removed in 1803 to Burke, Vt.; his son David, lived in Virginia, and his son Harris B., had sons Elbridge and Sylvester.

Silas Hill Hall, b. in Westchester Co., N. Y., about 1791; d. at his married daughter's in Missouri, Aug., 1865; his father Othniel? Hall, at one time lived in Coventry, Conn., and perhaps belonged to the Halls of R. I., he had a dau. Irene who m. — Hamilton, of Westchester Co., N. Y.; the mother of Silas H. Hall was Sarah

Williams, a devout Episcopalian; she trained her son in religious matters very thoroughly, and he was no doubt greatly attached to her; she died while he was a youth, and at his father's 2d marriage he left home; his father was believed to have been a ship carpenter. Silas had a relative by the name of Solomon Hall to whom he was greatly attached. Silas H. Hall m., in Richmond, Va., Sept. 11, 1811, Keturah La Force Dillard, b. in Richmond, Jan. 8, 1795; d. ## SCOTCH OR SCOTCH-IRISH HALLS.

The following are of the Scotch or Scotch-Irish Halls in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Virginia and New York:

They were probably of Norse origin. Mrs. Mary E. Hall, of Brookline, Mass., says: "I find in Ferguson's English Surnames, the old Norse hallr, hals, and the Anglo-Saxon haela, haletta, all signify hero; and Hallr, Halli, and Hals appear as old Norse names in the Sandnamabok, the first as common as the corresponding Hall is with us,"

The following is an extract from a letter of Rev. Dr. John Hall, of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York; he is from Narrow Water Castle, Ireland:

He says: "The Halls were on both sides of the border between England and Scotland; were a rugged and sturdy set; did not always nicely distinguish between their own and their neighbors' cattle across the border.

My ancestor was from the Scottish side of the border, and I am heir to the place in Ireland to which the family came; I am the sixth generation in Ireland, and my name has been the name of the eldest son of the family throughout; my grandfather had a strong Scotch accent, and his look and thought were all Scotch. But in my county, Armagh, there settled English Halls of great respectability and worth, and the owners of much landed property around the family place of Narrow Water Castle."

A. Wilford Hall, of New York, editor of the Literary Microcosm, and author of Problem of Human Life, is of the old Pennsylvania stock from Lycoming County; his father was Samuel, who had ten brothers, of whom were William, John, Jonathan, Alexander, Richard and Joseph; the father of Samuel was Richard, who was the son of John. Richard was recommended to the same was a presbyterian church at

Rev. Dr. John Hall, pastor of a Presbyterian church at Trenton, N. J., was b. in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 11, 1806; he graduated at the University of Pennsylvania; was admitted at the bar of Philadelphia; installed pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Trenton, Aug. 11, 1841; his father was Thomas Miffin Hall, who was an intimate friend of Rev. Dr. Archibald Alexander, and an elder in his church in Philadelphia, when he was pastor of a Presbyterian church there, before he was chosen professor in Princeton Theological Seminary; Thomas M. Hall's father was John

Hall, who was b. in Ireland, Nov. 3, 1717; d. in Philadelphia, Feb. 27, 1791; his first wife, Esther Robison, d. before he emigrated; his second wife was Margaret Nesbeth, an American; three of his sixteen children were named John; Thomas M. was by his 2d wife.

Ruth Hall, of Neshaminy, Bucks Co., Pa., a near relative of the mother of the celebrated Dr. Benjamin Rush, of Philadelphia, m. Rev. James Hunt, of Maryland, in whose family and under whose sole instruction the celebrated William Wirt passed his early years; one of their children was William Pitt Hunt; he graduated at Princeton College and was for a time a tutor in the institution; he became a lawyer, with whom William Wirt pursued his legal studies; he married Miss Susanna Watkins, dau. of Col. Joel Watkins, of Charlotte, Va. They had four children, one of whom was Rev. Thomas Poage Hunt, b. in 1794, was sickly in his youth, and much in company with his mother, and was instructed, and greatly influenced by her; he graduated at Hampden Sidney College, in 1813, and studied theology with Dr. Moses Hoge and Dr. John H. Rice; he preached in Petersburgh and Richmond, Va., for a time, and then was agent for the Domestic Missionary Society, and in 1828 was settled in Raleigh, N. C. His ancestors had been most prominent in contending for religious liberty in Virginia, and resisted the intolerance of the established church and suffered much from a despotic power, because loyal to their convictions of right; Mr. Hunt following the same convictions of right, liberated in 1827 the slaves he had inherited. While under the instruction of Dr. Rice, he had promised him that in his ministry he would use all his influence against that vice which was making such fearful ravages in the land; in his preaching therefore he made the subject of temperance prominent. Having served the church in Raleigh two years, he entered upon what proved largely his life's work, that of lecturing on temperance; in it he experienced much rough usage, but he was brave as any hero, and any emergency. His lectures were exceedingly useful.

The following is the pedigree of the late W. W. Hall, of 40 Broadway, New York, the editor and proprietor of the Journal of Health and author of several popular works on medicine and health; he studied for the ministry and began to preach, and when he mingled with the people in the pursuit of his pastoral duties he found that they suffered much for want of knowledge and care of themselves and want of knowledge and skill in the application of simple remedies; this ignorance on the part of the people Dr. Hall considered as a prolific source of great misery, he therefore turned his attention to writing books to enlighten them and ameliorate their condition; he was b. on the Monongahela river in 1808, and was the eldest child of Stephen Hall, who was b. on the Monongahela river, Pa., in 1787, his mother was an English woman from Devonshire; the father of Stephen Hall was Adam, who d. in 1814; the father of Adam was Stephen, whose father was Adam, b. in Ireland about 1728, and d. near Philadelphia; he was a staunch Scotch precentor and disinherited his son Stephen at the age of twenty years because he became a member of the Baptist church and m. a Baptist wife; Dr. W. W., believed that his ancestors came originally from near the border in Scotland and said they were of a billious temperament, high cheek bones and sour mouths, etc.

JAMES HALL OF SCOTCH-IRISH DESCENT.

[By Dr. William H. Egle, of Harrisburgh, Pa.]

James Hall, was the son of Hugh Hall, b. in Ireland in 1705; m., in 1730, his cousin Prudence, dau. of James Roddy, b. in Ireland in 1710. The names of Hugh Hall and James Roddy appear on the first assessment list of Donegal township, Lancaster now Dauphin Co., Penn., in 1723.

They settled on the Conawaga Creek, James and Prudence Hall located in Derry, now Londonderry township, Dauphin Co., where their children were born. They were in full communion with the church at Conewago. They removed in 1751 to Iredell County, N. C., settling on Fifth creek near Rethony church; there they died and were buried. Among their descendants were twenty-four or five ministers of the Gospel and more than that number of the females married ministers. Their children were:

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO THE HALLS OF WALLINGFORD.

By Henry A. Chaney, Esq., of Detroit, Mich.

Benjamin Hall (Family 36, p. 96) was for many years a delegate from Wallingford to the Connecticut Colonial Assembly; he held all judicial offices from justice of the peace to a judgeship in the court of last resort, then known as the Superior Court of the Colony; and he rose in military rank from being lieutenant in a trainband to becoming colonel of the Tenth Regiment; he was also "assistant" for several years during the administration of Gov. Fitch, and in 1765, he, with Chief Justice Ebenezer Silliman, was among the four conservative members of the council of assistants who sustained the Governor in submitting to the Stamp Act, while the rest, led by Jonathan Trumbull, refused to do so.

CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS TO THE HALLS OF REHOBOTH.

There is no positive evidence that Edward Hall, of Braintree and Rehoboth, was the same Edward who was at Salisbury in 1636, or the Edward of Bridgewater, or the Edward of Duxboro, or of Taunton. The Edward Hall of "Duxborrow," had a farm contiguous to that of George Hall, afterwards of Taunton, "he built a house upon it," and "had a garden plot." He appears to have been a headstrong man, had law suits and difficulty with the authorities.

A quit claim deed dated in 1715, is found, in which the names of Edward Hall's children are given. Samuel, of Taunton, Thomas of Dedham, Andrew of Newton and Benjamin of Wrentham, relinquished their claim to the estate of their father Edward Hall, and mother Esther Hall, in Rehoboth and Attleboro, in favor of their brothers John Hall of Rehoboth and Preserved Hall of Hingham.

(Family 2.) JOHN HALL<sup>2</sup>, Edward<sup>1</sup>: The number of his children is not certain, or the order of their births. Mary, Esther and Hannah gave their portions of their father's estate to their brother Edward for £60, to take care of their mother and invalid sister Martha. And in 1721, Edward Hall and sisters Mary, Esther, Hannah and Martha, spinster, gave deed of property in Rehoboth to brother John of Taunton. The word spinsters in the record should be in the singular number and has reference only to Martha. John Hall<sup>3</sup> of Taunton was not the Lt. John Hall who m. Hannah Penniman. He sold a house in Rehoboth partly finished in 1722, and was in Braintree in 1763.

(See page 528.) Samuel Hall, Edward: b. in Rehoboth, Oct. 24, 1656, probably was that Samuel Hall, Jr., who was recorded in Yarmouth as freeman in 1679; m., April 7, 1686, Elizabeth Bourn, from a family of some distinction in the southern part of Bristol Co., he settled in Taunton, where he was recorded as Samuel Hall, Jr., removed to Middleboro where he sold several lots of land in Taunton, the deed for the last of which was signed by him and wife Abigail, probably his 2d wife, he did not write his name but simply made his mark. They had seven children born in Taunton and probably others b. in Middleboro. He was probably buried in Taunton.

1. Elizabeth, b. March 20, 1687. 2. Remember, b. Feb. 15, 1689. 3. Nicholas, b. Jan. 23, 1690, settled at Cool Meadow, Enfield (See Hinman's Puritan Settlers, page 179), had two sons; i. #### FOURTH GENERATION.

1827, Sarah Webster, dau. of Col. Joseph William and Sybell (Heath) Lawrence, b. in Geneseo, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1800. Col. Lawrence was the youngest son of Amos and Sarah Webster Lawrence, of Milton, who was one of three brothers, sons of Joseph Lawrence of Milton, Conn., and an emigrant from Wales. Col. Lawrence was a man of resolute character and stern principles, and his daughter Mrs. Hall inherited from him a love of fixed principles, bringing with it great steadiness of purpose and direction of conviction. Hence all her life through, her religious character was marked rather by a settled calm faith than by impulse, by fidelity to duty in all its details than by fitful enthusiasm; she took great interest in helping with her influence the weaker churches of the city of New York as well as sympathy with her husband in his more extended work of home missions; she was more capable of self sacrifice than of self assertion; her strength and nobleness of character was tempered by unassuming grace and persistent affection and fidelity. Mr. Charles Hall's father, Jacob, was a man of strong, well balanced mind, retiring manners and intelligent piety; his mother possessed in a high degree that clearness of discrimination, and independence of judgment which was so fully developed in her son; Charles Hall spent his boyhood and youth in Geneva, N. Y.; he was modest and correct in his deportment, and early exhibited a decided taste and aptness for study, and with a view to engage in the Gospel ministry he entered the sophomore class in Hamilton College in 1821 and graduated in 1824, with the highest honors of his class; studied theology at Princeton Seminary, and in 1827 accepted the office of assistant secretary of the American Home Missionary Society and in 1837 the office of co-ordinate secretary for correspondence, in which he continued until his death; he was eminently fitted for his life's work by his special interest in missions, his great clearness of judgment and ready manner of expression, his discernment of character, his christian cheerfulness, his hearty sympathy, his exact business habits, his fervent piety, and his self denying industry; his work was in laying the foundations of churches in all parts of the land, and the thousands of churches fostered by the agency of the Home Missionary Society, from the lakes to the gulf, and from the highlands of Maine to the land of gold, constitute his memorial. In private life he was all that intelligence, piety, a sense of justice, refined manners, and tender sympathy could make him; he delighted in congenial society, to him home was a charmed word, and he was very happy in his family. He resided in New York many years and finally removed to Newark, N. J., where he died in middle life, although he had always enjoyed the best of health. Children were:

- 1. Charles Stuart, d. in 1853. 2. Cornelia Halstead, d. in infancy. 3. James Bliss, m. Pelombet, and had, i. Charles; ii. Fanny; iii. Harriet; iv. Eve; v. Elizabeth; vi. Sophia A.; vii. Frank; viii. James. 4. Sarah Cornelia, m. Rev. D. O. Kellogg, of Philadelphia, Pa., and had, i. Charles B.; ii. Edith C., d. Oct., 1873; iii. Lawrence. 5. Mary Emma, lives with her sister Anna L. Bird. 6. Anna Louisa, m. Gustavus C. Bird, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Linwood, Pa., and had, i. Annie Russel; ii. Grace Ethelwyn; iii. Gustavus Claggett.
- (Family 1.) RICHARD HALL<sup>1</sup>, of Basking Ridge, N. J., was a brother of John Hall, of the same place, whose posterity is given above. They were of Saxon lineage as were probably the Halls of New England; they came from England and might have been the sons or brothers of Theodore Hall, of Salem, N. J., 1725. Children of Richard Hall were:
- 1. John (Family 2). 2. Joseph (Family 3). 3. Samuel, m. Hannah Webster. 4. Jonathan (Family 4). 5. Richard (Family 5). 6. Nathaniel. 7. Margaret (Family 6). 8. Polly, m. ——Parker, and had James; m., 2d., George Chapin.
- (Family 2.) JOHN HALL<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>2</sup>: b. at Basking Ridge, Dec. 6, 1750; d. at Geneva, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1821; m. Sarah, dau. of Moses Austin, she d. at Geneva, N. Y., Aug., 1824; he removed to Sunbury, Pa., and began farming before the revolutionary war; after the war began they were driven away by the Indians and took refuge in Augusta, Pa.; he served as sergeant during the war, and when peace was restored he returned with his family to his farm; after 1810 he removed to the vicinity of Geneva, N. Y., and was an elder in the Presbyterian church. Children were;
  - 1. Moses, b. Aug. 15, 1776 (Family 7). 2. Rachel, b. at Sunbury, Pa., Sept. 5, 1778; m. Jacob Hall<sup>3</sup>, the son of Jacob<sup>2</sup>, the son of John<sup>1</sup>, the emigrant of Basking Ridge. 3. John, b. Feb. 20, 1780 (Family 8). 4. Joseph, b. Jan. 11, 1784 (Family 9). 5. Mr. E. S. Hall, Mrs. H. P. Hicks and Mrs. Richard Cronk; he studied at Exeter Academy two years, at Dartmouth College four years, and three years at Andover Theological Seminary; he graduated at college in 1828; and immediately after leaving Andover Seminary he went west through the great lakes as a missionary of the A. B. C. F. M., to the Indians at La Point, Wis., where he translated the Bible into the Chippewa language, and it is still in use; after 1854 he was the beloved pastor of the Congregational Church at Sauk Rapids, until his death. Mr. Hall was diligent, faithful, conscientious, eminent for good sense and practical wisdom; he could act as a missionary among the Indians, pastor of a church or a judge of probate, Rev. Wm. T. Boutwell, of Stillwater, Minn., who was with him nine years at school and associated with him as a missionary, and as a pastor of a neighboring church, says of him, he was a noble man, a faithful servant of Jesus Christ, and a beloved christian brother. It is said of him that while at college he was president of a club for the study and practice of music and that he could read music with great facility."

HALLS OF LYNN, SALEM AND SAUGUS, MASS.

John Hall was of Lynn in 1630, perhaps the same "Mr. John Hall who was admitted an inhabitant of Salem, June 28, 1637, being first approved by authority to be in ye jurisdiction."

There was also a John Hall from Saugus, who appeared at court in Salem, Aug. 3, 1637, to answer a complaint by Anthony Colbye of Ipswich. And there was an Edward Hall of Salem, who was fined by the Court of Salem, Jan. 27, 1638, for being drunk, the fine was to be paid by Mr. Friend, whose hired man Edward Hall was. Mr. Friend was admitted an inhabitant of Salem, July 25, 1637 (see 7th and 8th vols. of Essex Institutes).

Edward Hall, of Lynn, perhaps son of John, died in Lynn in 1669, he had wife Sarah, children were: 1. Joseph, b. July 3, 1646 (see below). 2. Ephraim, b. Sept. 8, 1648 (see below). 3. Sarah, b. Aug. 1, 1651. 4. Elizabeth, b. April 30, 1654. 5. Rebecca, b. April 3, 1657.

HALLS OF SALISBURY, MASS.

Thomas Hall, Edward Hall, Samuel Hall and John Hall. were in Salisbury. The list of freemen gives as follows: "Thomas of John, Edward, Samuel, made freemen 1634, 1635, 1638," and John probably became freeman in 1640 (see Savage's Dictionary). These all may have been the sons of John Hall, of Lynn, 1630.

- 1. Thomas Hall, he might have been the Thomas Hall who was in Hartford, Conn., before 1640, or the one who settled in New York city.
- 2. Edward Hall, he probably settled in Rehoboth, Mass., or possibly in Lynn.
- 3. and 4. Samuel and John Hall were proprietors of Salisbury in 1640, and both were accorded the honorable prefix of Mr. of whom there were only eight out of a list of sixty-six inhabitants. John was from Lynn, he married April 3, 1641, Rebecca, widow of Henry Bailey, of Salisbury, and had a son John, b. Jan. 18, 1642, and perhaps others. After his death his widow petitioned for liberty to sell land; and married, 3d, Aug. 22, 1647, Mr. William Worcester, the minister of Salisbury.

Samuel Hall it is supposed, was in this country in 1633, and went into the wilderness late in the fall to explore and to trade with the Indians, and returned in January, 1634, and afterwards returned to England; came to this country again from Canterbury, Eng., in ship Hercules, of Sandwich, passengers certified June 9, 1637, wife Joan, and three servants He may have been that Samuel Hall who was a member of the ancient and honorable artillery company of Boston, in 1638. Samuel Hall paid the largest tax of any man in town for Mr. Worcester's salary. Mr. Hall had an appointment in 1651 to lay out the northernmost line of Hampton towards Piscataqua river, and several other similar appointments. There is honorable mention made of him on twelve pages of the 4th vol. of Rec. Mass. Col. He was the representative of Salisbury in general court in 1655, and was appointed a committee to fix workmens' wages. He finally returned to England, and died at Langford near Malden, in Essex, in 1680.

James Hall, of Salisbury, had wife Mary, and children: 1. John, b. July, 1693. 2. Joseph, b. Dec. 12, 1695. 3. Edward, b. June 2, 1698 (see Gen. Reg., vol. 8, p. 157).

Lieut. John Hall admitted freeman of Newbury in 1690.

HALLS OF CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

Edward Hall lived in Cambridge, Mass., in 1636, and was admitted freeman in 1638, and had land assigned him the same year; he and his wife were in full communion when the building and the records of the church were burned in 1658; his wife Margaret died in 1676, and he m., 2d, June 18, 1677, Mary, dau. of Samuel Reynor; he made his will in 1678, giving his wife Mary a life use of his property, and a right to sell land with the advice of the deacons of the church and three special friends whose names he mentions, and also a right to give to the poor; he died Oct. 20, 1680, æ. 78 years, and his widow probably m. Thomas Brown, in 1681, during which year Thomas Hall of Cambridge, claimed his property as his sole heir, being his brother.

For the family of Thomas Hall of Cambridge, 1645, and brother of Edward Hall, see Halls of Medford, page 301.

HALLS OF DOVER, N. H.

There were three by the name of John Hall, taxed in Dover, from 1650 to 1657; an account of one them is given in this book, (see page 152); in 1649 two were taxed as follows: John Hall £0 145 10d; John Hall £1 65 4d; but in 1650 three were taxed as follows: John Hall, £1 45 6d; John Hall, Jr., £0 125 6d; John Hall, £0 105 10d. The first name appears to be with the Dover Neck names, the second with the Bloody Point names, and the third with those of Oyster Bay, but neither particular is certain. The tax for 1657 they were taxed as follows:

Dea. John Hall, £3 14s od; Sergeant John Hall, £2 os 9d; John Hall, £1 os 9d. Another tax for the same year was as follows: Dea. John Hall, £0 19s od; John Hall, of Greenland £0 13s 5d; and John Hall, £0 7s 8d.

These tax lists are all the information we have been able to obtain concerning the third John Hall, the one probably at Oyster Bay.

But with regard to the second John Hall, the sergeant, we have the following account,, viz:

John Hall of Dover, N. H., at first lived on Dover Neck, and his name appears on the combination list Oct. 22, 1640, and on the protest against Underhill, April 4, 1641, on which he made his mark, evidently not being able to write; his name was on the tax list for 1648. Probably about this time he exchanged premises with Elder Hatevil Nutter, for land on Great Bay called Bloody Point and Greenland, to which he made additions; in the tax list of 1657 he is called Sergeant John Hall; his farm was partly in the town of Portsmouth and he was taxed there also. He made his will Aug. 29, 1677, and it was probated Oct. 31, 1677; in it he gives to his wife Elizabeth, son Joseph, dau. Sarah, and granddaughter Abigail, dau. of John Dam or Dame, b. April 5, 1663; Mr. Dam, m, 2d, before 1665.

Joseph Hall, son of Sergeant John Hall, inherited a handsome estate from his father; he m. Elizabeth Smith, a niece of the famous Maj. Richard Waldron, and died of the small pox Dec. 19, 1685, leaving his widow, who married Aug. 7, 1687, Thomas Packer, of Portsmouth, and d. Aug. 14, 1717, æ. 62; Joseph Hall left three daughters, Elizabeth, Sarah and ——.

Elizabeth, m., January 24, 1694, Joshua Pierce, b 1670. He came to Portsmouth in about 1700; his mother was Dorothy, a sister of Parson Pike. Mrs. Elizabeth Pierce d. Jan. 13, 1718; Mr. Pierce m. again, and d. in 1743, he had nine children by his first wife, the fourth of whom was Daniel, b. 1709; graduated at Harvard College 1728; m. Ann, dau. of John Rindge, and d. Dec. 5, 1773; he had four children, the youngest of whom was Joseph, who became a member of congress in 1801, and d. at Alto., Sept. 12, 1812; the third child of Daniel Pierce was John, b. Aug 19, 1746, who was the father of Col. Joshua W. Pierce, b. May 14, 1791, d. April 10, 1874, who had a good share of the Hall farm in Dover.

Sarah, dau. of Joseph Hall, m., Oct. 17, 1700, Clement Jackson, and their son, Hall Jackson, was in his day probably the most able physician and surgeon in the state; he m., Dec. 1, 1765, Molly, dau. of Capt. Samuel and Mary Darling, and widow of Daniel Wentworth, lieutenant of the British Army; Dr. Hall Jackson was killed by being thrown from his carriage Sept. 28, 1797, æ. 58; his widow d. March 30, 1805, æ. 62.

The other dau. of Joseph Hall m. Israel March, who came from perhaps Newbury, Mass., and if so, was of the same family as were those of Sutton, Mass. They had a son Clement, b. 1707, who inherited a portion of the Hall estate in Dover; he was captain of the Horse Guards, and became a judge, and was a representative for many years. His son Clement March, Jr., succeeded as heir to the estate, he graduated at Harvard College, and became a physician; m. Lucy Dudley Wainwright, and had six sons, of whom Joseph W. March, had the homestead, and it descended to his son. I am indebted to Rev. Dr. Alonzo Hall Quint, of Dover, for the most of my knowledge of the Halls of Dover.

MR. JAMES HALL, OF ALBANY, N. Y.

James Hall was born in Hingham, Mass., Sept. 12, 1811, of English parentage; his grandfather and predecessors were connected with the British army, and lived in the little village of Chadderton, Lancashire, Eng., where his father was born, 1790, and died in Hingham, in 1835, having emigrated to Boston in 1809. The grandfather was connected with the Horse Guards in the time of George III. His wife's maiden name was Taylor, and his son, who came to this country in 1809, married a Miss Dourdain, an Englishwoman. Another son came to this county many years ago, and died in Delaware Co., N. Y., in 1882, æ. 88.

Mr. James Hall, as above, born in 1811, graduated at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, of Troy, N. Y., in 1832, and was a teacher in the same school four years, when, in 1836, he settled in Albany, where he has since resided. He is an eminent geologist, and is at present, and has been for many years, State Geologist of New York, and Director of the State Museum of Natural History.—(See Appleton's Cyclopedia.)

Mr. Hall married, in 1838, Sarah Aikin, of Troy, born in 1811, daughter of John Aikin, a lawyer. They had four children. The eldest daughter married Thomas B. Bishop, a lawyer, and is living in San Francisco. The eldest son is married, and is an assistant in the State Museum. The second daughter is with her father. The second son is a geologist by profession; has been connected with the geological survey of Pennsylvania, for many years, and is now in Virginia.
